Red Mountain

The prompt recovery of Red Mountain shares from the low level of 45c to yesterday's close of 62c has partially fulfilled the prediction we made.

We are advised by the Boundary Red Mountain management of a second bullion production record amounting to $3,958. in seven days. This was at the rate of $565. per day and showed a material improvement over the preceding nine days, when the daily gross output was $493.

If you will contrast this output of gold with the present quoted value of Boundary Red Mountain shares you will understand our advice to enter your order at today's market.

ROYAL FAMILY SETS STYLES

As Goes the Tailored Prince so Follow The Styles of Men

LONDON, Nov. 17. — The male members of the royal family have for generations set the styles for masculine wear in England, and therefore indirectly for the entire world. This has never been more pronounced than at the present time, and the fashion makers watch with unwearied eye for the least change, or the appearance of a new style, in the royal garments.

It was the Prince of Wales who introduced the small checked bow tie, the colored collars, and the fancy socks so popular a few years ago. Since the Prince first appeared wearing a morning coat, soft shirt, and turned over stiff collar, this has been the standard wear for the man-about-town. The Prince is in the habit of wearing his hat, particularly the silk variety, slightly tilted, and today old men and young men may be seen with headgear similarly arranged at any time of the day or night on the fashionable thoroughfares of the West End.

Tuxedo Popular
The latest contribution of the Prince to the fashionable world, however, is the dinner suit, or tuxedo, which has generally been avoided by the best dressed men as being too informal for formal necessities. Few tuxedos have been worn in London in the past, as compared with their wide use in America and they were rarely used for the theatre.

The Prince appeared in one at a dinner party before his trip to the Far East, and since that time the dinner jacket has made great inroads into the popularity of full dress attire.

His Royal Highness appeared a few weeks ago at a dinner dance attired in a dinner suit of black with a faint white stripe, vest of black silk trimmed with a fine white edge, and a black bow tie, also with a white edge. Now the latest dinner suits shown are of this cloth. The dandies of the West End appear at their favorite haunts dressed in the Prince of Wales' latest.

Winter Coats

The coat for winter street wear for the coming season will be of heavy material, huge collar and probably belted, for the Prince appeared in such a coat at a recent gathering in Scotland.

Golf attire is not ignored by the royal family, and the newest outfit for the course is a knickerbocker suit of homespun, wool vest of bright colors, and checkered cap. This is the attire worn by the Prince when he recently "played himself in" at St. Andrews.

It is to be noted also that the other three sons of the King follow the lead of their elder brother, and appear in public dressed to the most minute detail after his example.

When the late King Edward was Prince of Wales, he was generally known as the best dressed man in Europe and thousands of men imitated the least change of style which he affected. It was King Edward who brought the grey ascot hat into such wide use, and white spats and the derby hat owe their popularity to him.

Lower Vest Button

So closely was King Edward followed in the matter of dress, it is said, that the style to wear the last button of the vest up-buttressed, so universal in London twenty years ago, started from the fact that once at a house party the King, who was then beginning to take on his corpulent build, unbuttoned the button for the sake of comfort. That was enough, however, and from that time on the last button was only an ornament.

INN FREQUENTED BY NAPOLEON IS STILL OPEN FOR BUSINESS

AUGSBURG, Bavaria, Nov. 17.—The most famous inn in Germany, "The Three Moors," at Augsburg, has been celebrating an anniversary of its founding 400 years ago.

Napoleon I. spent some time in Augsburg with his staff, and the old guest-book of the inn held the signatures of Josephine Beauharnais and Marie Louise. Next to them were inscribed the names of Metternich with Talleyrand, and of various princes and ambassadors en route to the Congress of Vienna. Other noted guests included Wellington and Sir Walter Scott.

Those who dive from the top usually hit the bottom.

PRINCE GEORGE

Norrington; Assistant Secretary, C. W. Perry; Sergeant-at-Arms, A. Whimbles; Auditors, G. Sutherland and S. George; E. M. Sales, J. M. McLean and R. W. Alward are the remaining members of the executive.

Patrick Trainor, of Stone Creek, and Miss Sarah Annie Watson, of Vancouver, were married here last week by Rev. S. Pollinger.

Elmo H. Meents and Mrs. Adeline M. Risch were married last week at New Hazelton. They will reside at Endako.
