Library Meeting
Empress Tonight.

There is to be a meeting of the supporters of the public library at the Empress Theatre tonight which will be addressed by Miss Helen Stewart, president of the British Columbia Library Commission. She is an excellent speaker and very entertaining. Someone remarked yesterday: "She is the best woman speaker I have ever heard."

The support of all the people of the city is necessary if the library is to become an assured fact and also a success. For that reason everyone is invited to attend the meeting at the Empress Theatre. It is promised that the meeting will not be a very long one, but the more support is obtained the better the chances of getting the bylaw through.

This is the Time to Help the Bylaw.

This is the time to aid the cause. The bylaw is to be voted on next Wednesday and in the meantime it is desirable that every person in the city should be fully acquainted with the need and the possibilities. This can be done by an active canvass of the ratepayers. There is nothing to hide in connection with this bylaw. The maximum amount that was asked for was $2500, and this would add only about a quarter of a mill to the tax rate. The proposal is to establish a library with the books already collected, numbering nearly two thousand, to which will be added a number of volumes loaned by the Provincial Government and others to be purchased locally. The whole will make a good collection worthy of a city of the importance of Prince Rupert.

Trained Librarian
Is Necessary.

In discussing the matter of a librarian with Miss Stewart yesterday it was explained by her that a librarian that would be suitable to take charge here must have had at least one year of expert training in a library training school and it was also desirable that she have further practical experience. Most of the trained librarians were also university graduates and enthusiasts in their particular line. At Victoria they gave a short six months' course of training, but that did not fully qualify them for the work. They had to take at least another six months in a larger library, and usually they took a year.

The librarian was now a distinct profession and one quite suitable for women, who were apt to take more pains with the detail work than men.

Miss Stewart suggested that in Prince Rupert there should be one or more girls who have had university training who might like to take up the work. By going away and taking up a course of training they might well qualify themselves to fill the position here in the near future. She believed in patronizing home industry wherever possible, but the training was absolutely necessary.

Wholesome Recreation
in Good Books.

One of the points emphasized in the address of Miss Stewart to the Daughters of the Empire yesterday was the value of wholesome recreation such as could be obtained by reading good books. While perhaps the main object in a library was to stimulate reading for educational purposes, the recreational side of the library must not be set aside lightly. A good book lifted up right out of ourselves and recreated us. It was a good antidote for the boredom which often was the cause of young people going astray.

The value of recreation in isolated towns such as most of those in the west was emphasized. Doubtless Miss Stewart was thinking of the isolation of Prince Rupert, and well she might. We are cut off from the rest of the world, especially in winter, and the library might be made a great source of contentment, of recreation and of education.

MEN OF IDEAS
NEEDED TODAY

Miss Stewart Gives Talk to Boys and Girls of High School.

At the King Edward High School this morning, Miss Helen Stewart addressed the students on the value and need of a library in Prince Rupert. Her mission was indeed a great one, because it had for its purpose the planting of ideas, for without the development of ideas we can never be able to rise superior to our environment. She said that while many people thought only of how they could live on so many dollars a week, or so much a month, the real question should be "How to live on 24 hours a day."

Even Rockefeller has only his 24 hours, and in this respect all men are equal. Suppose we give eight hours for sleep, eight hours for work, we have still eight hours left for what?

What do we do with it? Of course, we must eat, but that occupies but a short time of the eight hours. How should we fill it in.

"With fun," said Miss Stewart, "with real, genuine fun, not alone for the body but also for the mind. The mind needs its fun like the body; either neglected, or either developed at the expense of the other causes failure. No boy or girl can play a good game of basketball, or baseball or football, without being trained."

"The muscles must be developed to make your playing a success. In the same manner our mental muscles must be trained to make our reading a success. A boy or a girl picks up a book and after reading a page or two throws it down, saying 'its too dry!' No, the fault is not in the book. That boy or girl's mental muscles are flabby and not trained, just as the boy who does not train feels sore all over, after he has been playing in a game of ball."

"We are living in an age in which we must dig deep, if we wish to succeed."

Men of Ideas.

"The early pioneers came to this country, and by scraping the surface of the ground made a living. It can't be done today. The farmers and the miners today must be men of ideas to succeed. The chemical qualities of the soil must be known to produce the required crop. B. C. needs men and women with ideas big progressive ideas. Every boy and girl should want to be something, to do something."

Miss Stewart dealt at length with the value of a library and kept the pupils interested all the time.

NEW YORK CANADIAN CLUB DOES GOOD WORK

Looks After Needy Cases and Lends Aid When Found Necessary.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The Canadian Club here is doing excellent work. It is constantly in receipt of calls for relief from Canadian veteran soldiers and other needy Canadians. All worthy cases are promptly cared for.

Just recently a young Canadian girl from Nova Scotia, penniless and without friends, was found dead in a rooming house, having died from asphyxiation. The Canadian Club took charge of the body, gave her a respectable funeral which several of the members attended.

The club is endeavoring to get in touch with Canadians in New York not now members of the club and they are asking that those in British Columbia having friends there communicate with Thomas D. Neelands, chairman of a social committee having this work in hand, whose address is Pershing Square and 42nd Street, New York City.

Better than jewels

—that schoolgirl complexion

Take a lesson
from Cleopatra

With a world of ancient beauty arts at her command, she depended on cleansing with Palm and Olive oils to protect, improve and preserve the freshness and smoothness of her skin.

This beautifying was not confined to the face alone. The bath was a daily ceremonial with all ancient peoples, and palm and olive oils the cleansers used.

The girl with a clear, smooth skin, radiant with freshness and natural color, should leave jewels to those less fortunate, for she doesn't need them. The charm of a perfect natural complexion attracts far more than elaborate dress and ornaments.

If your complexion lacks the beauty which women envy and men admire, don't depend on clothes and jewelry to draw attention from its defects.

Every woman can transform her bad complexion into a good one, for alluring freshness and clear color isn't a gift of Nature, but a matter of care.

How to have a perfect skin

No girl need be afflicted with a bad complexion, for improvement is simple and easy. Daily cleansing, gentle but thorough, is the secret.

You must use soap, for nothing will remove the dirt, oil and perspiration which collects in the pores and causes most skin trouble.

Choose Palmolive, because its action is soothing. Harsh soap should never be used for washing the face.

Massage the smooth, creamy lather gently into the skin until it removes all clogging deposits. Don't forget your neck and throat. They are as conspicuous as the face for any lack in beauty.

Careful rinsing leaves the skin stimulated, freshened and free from the accumulation which enlarges the pores, causes blackheads and carry infection.

Do this every day

There is too much dirt and dust where most of us live to make it advisable to neglect this cosmetic cleansing even for a day. Powder should be removed, and rouge, if you use it. They combine with dirt and skin secretions in dangerous clogging.

Dry skins are benefited by cold cream after cleansing. If unusual dryness is your trouble, apply a little before, as well as after washing.

Blended from the same oils

Palmolive Soap is blended from the same bland soothing oils which adorned the sumptuous marble baths of Egyptians, Greeks and Romans.

Modern scientists, with all their research, have not been able to discover milder, more soothing, or more efficient soap ingredients.

But although very expensive, the gigantic volume in which Palmolive is produced keeps the price very low. Users profit by Palmolive popularity.

The Palmolive factories, working day and night, and the importation of the rare oils in vast quantities, allow you to enjoy this finest facial soap for a modest price—no more than ordinary soap.

Editor Daily News:

I saw a boat being unloaded the other day. She had 22,000 pounds of halibut. The hooks and lines came from Britain. The iron of which the hooks were made came from Norway and the hemp from India. The boat was built by a Nova Scotian in Prince Rupert. The oak ribs came from Britain, the planking from Vancouver, the hardware from the United States, the engine from San Francisco, the electrical equipment from Toronto, the distillate from Vancouver made from oil from Peru, and the groceries and clothing from the world at large.

The fishermen on this boat were Scotch, Irish and Scandinavian. The nets the fish were slung in were made from Egyptian hemp in a rope walk on Prince Edward Island. The blocks on the hoisting gear were made in Pittsburgh, United States. The hoisting gear was made at Dayton, Ohio. The fish were loaded in boxes made of lumber grown on the Queen Charlotte Islands, made into lumber at Georgetown towed here by a boat made in Bellingham, Wash., and made into boxes with nails made in Nova Scotia. The fish was brought down the railroad.

The fish were loaded in a car manufactured in Hamilton of material brought from "God knows where" shipped out on rails brought from the same place to Chicago where it will be unpacked and distributed to various retailers of the surrounding district and from them to the consumer.

Who produced those fish?

HOOMES K. FREEMAN.

Captain Lanaway returned last night from Bella Coola and reported having found some distance out of Bella Coola an open boat carrying a dead man with a bottle by his side. Identity has not yet been established but the provincial police are investigating.

The Liberals opened their provincial election campaign last night. A meeting was held in the old Optimist building at which H. F. McRae was chairman and Alex. Manson, the candidate, principal speaker.

The police are still busy investigating the sandbagging of Rev. W. H. McLeod, but no suspects have yet been apprehended.
