Doings of the Mosquito Fleet which is the chief source of Prince Rupert's prosperity

An Appreciation

If you would become imbued with the real honest to goodness Christmas spirit—the spirit that stings true with the love of a fellow man for his brother—just take a stroll along the waterfront and have a chat here and there with the boys of the Mosquito fleet. There you will rub shoulders and clasp the hands of men who are men in every sense of the word—men who fearfully face the dangers of their dangerous calling in life and men who are always ready to help their mates even at the sacrifice of life. At this time of the year it is well for those on land to dwell upon the fact that it is the fishermen who have made Prince Rupert the city she is today—a city of which we are justly proud. It has been the sacrificing labors of these "toilers of the deep" that has brought us to the stage of prosperity in which, at this season, we so thankfully find ourselves. No matter what the elements may be the fisherman never flinches to face them and in spite of all his troubles, which are many and varied in these days of hard sledding he goes about his calling with a smile. The price of fish may be high or it may be low when he arrives in port after a strenuous trip but he never grouches about hard times and takes the bad times with the good in an optimistic spirit. When danger lurks abroad on the "high spots and perhaps, the goddess of fate clings one of their number, the fisherman never curses his luck but says "it's all in the game," and is even eager to wrangle with the dangers again.

Tales of heroism could doubtless be told of many local fishermen that would put the heroes of history to shame, but they are too reserved by nature to brood over their heroic deeds and only their most intimate chums know of them. Those of the staunch breed who have their fun are willing to pay for it and they do no one else any harm thereby. So at Xmas time we'll drink a health to the toilers of the deep. May good health and fortune be their lot. And their safety God's to keep.

Fleet Report

The secretary to the Admiral of the Mosquito fleet reports that the fish arrivals this week have been on the light side owing to the fact that all the large schooners of the northern fishing fleet came into port in a bunch last week. The weather and fishing is reported to be very good on the high spots and the few incoming boats have no kick and report no unusual happenings. The local fish houses expect a big rush of fish over the week end although no fish will be handled through the Fish Exchange on Monday, Christmas day.

Native Arrivals

An Indian fleet came into port early in the week from the outlying districts on Xmas shopping bent. The fleet consisted of native power boats from Port Simpson, Port Essington, Mellakata and Kikikalla. Xmas shopping having been completed in the way of purchasing good cuts and Xmas presents, the fleet left for their respective homes on Friday.

Georgetown Stunts

The power boat Wake arrived in port on Thursday from the Georgetown mill with a scow of fish boxes for distribution to the Pacific, Booth, Allen and Royal Fisheries. The Wake will return to the mill to bring in a scow of fish boxes for the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage.

The Georgetown mill is running full blast. At the end of this month the mill will have cut something like five and a half million feet of lumber during the year.

Capt. Penny, provincial timber inspector, arrived from the Queen Charlotte Islands on Monday last and has his boat on the Ward ways for a thorough overhaul.

Silver Spray Out

The power boat Silver Spray, Capt. Billy Thane, left port for Dennis Arm on Thursday morning to bring in the launch Moidy which was caught in the ice a few days ago. With the sudden thaw the boat has now been freed and will be put on the ways in Cow Bay for a general hull inspection.

Thrower Leaves

The G.W.A. concert hall was the scene of a most awe-inspiring smoking concert last Saturday night on the occasion of a send off to Lieut. C. E. Thrower, one of the good old stand-bys who has gone to seek his fortune in pastures new, to wit, Winnipeg.

We say leftenant, not because he didn't pay his rent but because he held that distinguished rank in H. M. Royal Navy and has a very distinguished war record behind him. The fun started around at 8 o'clock, p.m., when the bell rang for the first round. Bob Ogilvie then took the floor, leaving a small space for the audience, and gave a well intentioned imitation of Growsa in selections from the well known opera, "Shanghail." Bob tried to accompany himself on the piano but somehow a bottle of perfume got mixed up with the works and he had to quit. His rendering of "leer-er-er-er" gave those present the shivers and as a consequence the stove became overheated. Among other items of good intentions was a eulogy by Grace Oracle entitled "The History of the Current in the Run," which was beautifully illustrated with mustard sketches, in fact it was real hot stuff. Orace would have given an encore but he ran out of mustard. A poem by Bob Simms entitled "How Maggie Fell a glove with Jeff," was uproariously funny and the applause

Radio Rex
Well sir, the finest dog you ever saw has been adopted by the Booth fish emporium, and the way he springs out of his kennel at the well meaning visitor is something like a radio wave alright, and the name Radio Rex suits him admirably. He is a typical looking English bull dog and would put the fear of Allah into any unsuspecting person. There seems to be some sort of pant commission name (Continued on Page 5).
