

For Baby's Woollens

The little woolly garments Baby must be kept soft they will irritate the tender skin. Washed in suds, Baby's woollens keep beautifully soft and fluffy. The thin satin-like flakes of Lux are made of our own exclusive process, and dissolve instantly to a lather as harmless as water itself.

Dip Baby's clothes into a tub of the rich Lux suds—then, squeeze out the plus water and hang to dry.

There is nothing like Lux. Sold only in sealed packets—dust-proof!

Sport Chat

The recent unfavorable weather conditions have been interfering somewhat with the opening of the sport season. The Baseball Association was to have started its schedule, on Monday night but the opener had to be postponed. The Football Association, however, has been meeting with better fortune and the first two fixtures were played as per schedule. Although weather was not the best there were good crowds out on either occasion. The third game is to be played tonight between the Grotto and the Callies with Jim Hunter refereeing. It is to be hoped that the weather improves soon so that all sport may be properly started under favorable conditions.

It is beginning to look like a merry tug-of-war between the daylight savers and the antis for the favor of the council on the measure. Athletes are generally still keen for the continuation of the scheme but there is a great deal of opposition among the citizens generally as the 700 odd name petition which was put before the city fathers on Monday night would indicate. What is to be the outcome will probably be decided once and for all next Monday night. Perhaps a compromise can be reached that will be suitable. Daylight saving may not be necessary during the rest of this month, June and July. Vancouver is to adopt it on July 1. Perhaps peace might be restored between the differing elements of the community by following a similar course here.

BLACK GIVES PAPER ON NURSING PRESBYTERIAN CLUB

At the regular monthly meeting of the Presbyterian Women's club on Wednesday afternoon at 8 o'clock, Miss Charlotte Black, of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, gave a very instructive and interesting paper on "Nursing, Ancient and Modern." Miss Black dealt with her subject very thoroughly and traced the history of the profession to the very beginnings, speaking of Phoebe, the first deaconess in Old Testament times, up to the present day. Biblical history dealt with and the life and work of Miss Florence Nightingale was described.

Miss Jarvis McLeod, accompanied by Mrs. H. C. Fraser, gave a solo and the Misses Eileen Frithers and Mary Muse rendered a pretty piano duet.

Miss T. B. Hooper, president of the club, was in the chair and there was a good attendance of members.

Miss C. Everett left for Vancouver on the Prince George last night.

The Problem!

LOOK at the elephant. All you see are figures—no marks or lines of any kind. Each figure stands alone—ranging from 2 to 5. The problem is now to find the total sum of these figures. Remember that each figure is one unit—there are no groups, like "23's" or "42's"—the highest is 5. Count only one numeral, even if two or several happen to stand together. The tops of the 512's are curved and the bottoms of the 915's are all perfectly straight. Don't feel doubtful—there is absolutely no trick or illusion, but don't fool yourself into thinking it is as easy as it looks. Get busy and see.

How to Enter

Any bona fide resident anywhere in Canada may participate in this contest by making a payment of not less than two dollars nor more than ten dollars for subscriptions to Farm and Home.

A contestant may submit as many solutions as desired, providing a payment of not less than two dollars per more than five dollars is made with each solution.

All payments made will be credited to a continuous subscription to Farm and Home, unless other instructions are given.

If you send more than one solution at one time, use separate order blanks with each one.

You may order the paper sent to another party if you wish and yet have the solution recorded in your name.

If you are already a subscriber and your subscription is paid in advance, mark order blank "renewal" and your subscription date will be extended according to the amount of your payment.

Different members of a family may send solutions and receive all the credit created to one subscription.

Every cent paid with any solution is credited to subscribers to the paper, therefore it is impossible for any one to lose anything in this contest. You can't lose, and you may win a big prize.

Additional puzzle charts may be obtained at Farm and Home office, or they will be mailed to all who send self-addressed stamped envelope for them.

General Rules

The contest closes May 27, 1922. Solutions when received as they bear postmark of that date will be accepted, even though received a day or two later.

Information will be furnished and rulings made on any point contestants may want. The Farm and Home reserves the right to decide any and all questions which arise, and those entering the contest as a part of the contest must agree to abide by such rulings.

As many prizes will be received as there are people who before any prize are awarded the right to decide any and all questions which arise, and those entering the contest as a part of the contest must agree to abide by such rulings.

The first three prizes will be reserved for those who send in solutions before the contest is closed. If there are more than three solutions received before the contest is closed, the first prize will be awarded to the first solution received, the second to the second, and the third to the third.

All solutions must be sent in on the blank herewith. No solution accompanied by a cash subscription will be accepted. No solution may be changed after it is sent in.

No one directly or indirectly associated with Farm and Home will be allowed to participate in this contest.

THE correct weight is the sum total of all the numerals on the brute. The prizes will be awarded to the contestants sending in correct or nearest correct answers.

Sample copy of Farm and Home and extra Elephant charts will be mailed to anyone sending stamped envelope.

meeting. The Chamber is not scheduled to re-assemble until May 23, and can hardly discuss the credits before the end of the month.

The International Olympic Committee is to hold a session in Paris on June 7. The French committee therefore decided to meet again on June 1, when, if not in possession of absolute guarantees that the necessary credits would be voted, it proposes to surrender the Olympiad to the international committee without awaiting the latter's meeting.

In this case some of the newspapers point out the games would automatically go to Los Angeles. Others, however, see in the committee's decision chiefly a wish to bring pressure upon the Government for quick action in regard to the financial arrangements.

Tonight the Grotto and the Callies football teams will meet in a league match at the Acropolis Hill grounds.

VANCOUVER ROTARY CLUB MEMBER SAYS A FEW WORDS HERE

"Large trees from little acorns grow, and if we have faith in our future our prosperity will be assured," said Robert D. Denning, a member of the Vancouver Rotary Club, in speaking briefly at the weekly luncheon of Prince Rupert Rotarians yesterday.

Mr. Denning said that he was surprised to see such a large membership in the Prince Rupert Rotary Club. It was his first visit to the city and his only regret was that he had not visited here earlier. He said that the country was young yet and it would only be a matter of a short time before conditions would be back to normal again. A country such as this would recover more rapidly than older lands.
