Oil Drilling at Terrace about to Begin

ORE BEING SHIPPED FROM THE SILVERADO MINE AT STEWART

Contract Let First Oil Well at Terrace; Drill Here and Work Commence March 1

The contract has been let for putting down the first oil well at Terrace and actual work is to start before March 1. The contract for this well has been let to Boyle Brothers of Spokane, whose representative, L. Jessen, is now here. The drill is in Prince Rupert, the lumber for the buildings and derrick has been ordered, and the work of preparation for actual drilling is already under way.

The first hole will be put down on George E. Keith's farm about a mile from Terrace station and a little south of Mr. Keith's house. Ten or a dozen men will be employed steadily on the drilling operations, possibly more.

The drill, which is already here, is capable of putting down a hole 1500 feet and it can be extended if necessary and if the prospects warrant.

During the past year some of the most prominent geologists of the continent have visited the country and have given favorable reports. A mining engineer will be on the job all the time examining the drill cores, and will make a complete report of the operations for the new company, Terrace Oils, Limited. Capt. James Anderson, president of the company, will be here himself soon and will keep in close touch with the operations. Oliver Phillips, of Vancouver, who was here last autumn, is secretary of the company, while Mr. Cameron is in charge of all field operations.

The company has over one hundred square miles of oil leases in the Terrace district and some other concerns have also done some staking there, including the Kitsungallum Oil Co. Naturally the Terrace people are somewhat excited over the prospect for, if oil is found, it means everything to that community.

Mr. Cameron, who has been acting for the company here, left this morning for Stewart.

Was Used at Cassidy.

The diamond drill to be used on the work at Terrace will be larger than those used in mining operations. It will be operated by a steam boiler, the steam being applied direct from boiler to drill. This particular drill has been in the city for several months and was last used in coal drilling at the Granby mines at Cassidy's Siding, Vancouver Island. Four experienced operators will be required to run it besides the crew of six or eight men. It will operate for three shifts of eight hours each.

Mr. Jessen, the manager for Boyle Bros. in British Columbia, who is superintending the operations at Terrace, arrived in the city from there last evening. He stated that the work of camp building would be commenced next week. He will return to Terrace on Saturday.

Headquarters Here.

Boyle Bros. have done most of the diamond drilling that has been carried out in the North in the past and have worked at Stewart, Anyox and Alice Arm. At present they are operating drills at Premier and Anyox as well as two others in the south. The company already has a warehouse in the city and it is hoped in the near future to open an office here, the first diamond drill office in Prince Rupert.

JUDGMENT IS AGAINST B. C.

First Report of Oriental Appeal
Is Contradicted by Wireless.

(1 p.m. by Wireless)
OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—Transposition of the order of the questions submitted in the Oriental appeal case before the Supreme Court of Canada caused some misunderstanding when the judgment was handed down by the court yesterday.

The question was not whether the provincial legislation clashed with the Japanese treaty and was ultra vires but the first question was whether the provincial legislature had the power to legislate against employment of Orientals on public works or any government contracts.

The court explained that any such legislation could only be passed by the Federal Parliament and the order of discrimination against Orientals directly clashed with the treaty made between Canada and Japan in 1913 and could not be upheld.

Mr. Jessen, the manager for Boyle Bros. in British Columbia, who is superintending the operations at Terrace, arrived in the city from there last evening. He stated that the work of camp building would be commenced next week. He will return to Terrace on Saturday.

Headquarters Here.

Silverado Mine is Ready to Make First Shipment of Ore to the Smelter

The first shipment of about twenty tons of high-grade ore will be made within a few days from the Silverado mine at Stewart, according to Howard D. Cameron, who has been here in connection with the letting of the contract for oil drilling at Terrace and who returned to Stewart this morning. The new tramway at the mine is in operation and the ore is being taken out to the beach.

Only the high-grade is being shipped at present, as it has to be taken across a canyon 850 feet in one span and then 3700 feet down the mountain by a jig-back tram. From there it is railed to the wharf, a distance of three and a half miles. It is expected later that another aerial tram will be put in to carry the ore to the beach, two and a quarter miles.

The first shipment will be made on one of the boats carrying ore from the Premier mine south. The high-grade ore thus far tested goes 700 ounces, while second-grade shows 200 ounces of silver.

Drug Situation in this City is Outlined by Chief of Police; Few Users Here

Although there are a few dope fiends in the city that the police know of, there are not as many as there were last year and there is little trafficking in drugs here, according to Chief of Police W. H. Vickers. Most of the known drug users and suspected peddlers have left the city because the city police, with the assistance of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on the opium end, have made it very uncomfortable for them. Some of them have turned up in other cities, where they have again come in contact with the police, for example Joe and Frank Bennett and "Brownie" Reynolds, another believed addict, who was ordered out of the city following his throat cutting escapade on Cambie Avenue last year. The local police make raids every once in a while and suspected addicts and peddlers are searched frequently but it is very difficult to obtain convictions against them by the ordinary means.

Hard to Catch.

The police believe that there are dope peddlers in the city yet, especially among the Chinese, but they are very wary and practically cannot be caught without the use of "stool pigeons." However, several convictions were made during the past year and stiff sentences were meted out. In the past, on certain occasions, the police have been led to the belief that there was a "king peddler" but, at the present time, it is not believed that such exists in the city.

Police records of 1921, as compared with 1920, go to show that there has been a falling off in drug activities of late. In 1921 there were a total of 29 cases with 26 convictions under the Opium and Narcotic Drug Acts as against 35 cases and 29 convictions in 1920.

Classification.

The classification of these cases in 1921 was as follows:

Drugs in possession—Three entered; three convictions.

Selling Drugs—One entered; one conviction.

Other breaches of Drug Act—Three cases; three convictions.

Opium in Possession—Sixteen cases; fourteen convictions; one withdrawn; one dismissed.

Opium smoking—Four cases; four convictions.

Found in opium resort—One case; one conviction.

Freighting opium joint—One case; one withdrawn.

The large majority of the offenders were Chinese.

In connection with his annual report to the police commission for 1921 the Chief of Police, dealing with offences under the Opium and Narcotic Drug headings, made the following remarks:

"In the year there were 28 convictions for all of which heavy fines were imposed or, in default of payment of fines, terms of imprisonment. All seizures of drugs were destroyed. The drug addicts, in almost all cases, were Chinese."
