NEDDEN BAY NEWEST PORT

Logging Camp Bay Near Queen Charlotte Sound Is Named After Local Skipper.
 The Queen Charlotte Island steamer is making a new stop near Seymour Inlet on the mainland just off Pine Island and due east of Queen Charlotte Island announced Capt. Nicholson yesterday. There a large logging camp has been opened by the Smith-Dollar Co., of Vancouver. As the Prince Albert, commanded by Capt. Nedden, was the first steamer to go in there and the Island boat is giving the place its only service, Mr. Parizeau, assistant hydrographer for the Dominion government, in charge of the steamer Lillooet, has decided to give the bay the official name of Nedden Bay. Capt. Nedden took the Prince Albert in there recently following a survey made by himself in a tug. The Lillooet then went in and made an official survey which varied little, from Capt. Nedden's although, of course, it gave more detail.
