BRINGING UP FATHER

$45,000 WILL COVER COST OF REPAIRS TO SCHOOL, COX REPORTS

was of no use and only exerted a heavy load on the hollow tile walls. A saving in future upkeep of the roof would be made by adopting the new plan.

Mr. Cox declared that he considered the demolition of the fire walls and the brick veneer walls necessary. The cost of this work would be difficult, at this time, to estimate on account of the extent being unknown.

Concrete Casing all.

One of the most extensive changes recommended by Mr. Cox was the building of a new solid concrete casing wall from 8 to 12 inches thick all around the building and over the present hollow tile walls. This would be the cheapest way out and would serve the purpose of adding to the old work as well as strengthening it. The steel beams inside should be attached through the present hollow tile walls to the concrete casing.

By adopting this plan, Mr. Cox said that the interior of the building would suffer less injury than by tearing down entirely all the present walls. The interior should be as little exposed as possible. Personally, he would not like to undertake the proposition of tearing down all the walls and rebuilding. By his plan the work would be done in a shorter time and the building would be warmer with the double walls. Dampness would be avoided and the cornices would be supported. The building would then be satisfactory for all time. If the scheme suggested was not adopted it would be necessary to demolish all the walls and rebuild them.

Other Details.

There would also be considerable work in remodelling the cornices so as to avoid leaking. Cutting of floors and cornices and changing radiators, pipes and electric wiring would also involve more expense. The cloakroom floors would have to be relaid and put in proper shape. The corridor floors on the ground floor were also bad but elsewhere were in better condition.

The foundation would have to be repaired in some places and sewage drains would have to be put in around the building.

There might be other items not mentioned but they would be discovered as the work of remodelling progressed. He would be able to advise in regard to them as the necessity arose.

A complete statement as to the exact amount of work necessary could not be given but to put the building in a stable, fit and durable shape for a school building, according to plans and specifications submitted on the scheme outlined, would cost in the neighborhood of $45,000.

"Would it not be necessary to take up all the floors?" inquired Mr. Pattmore.

Three Months' Time.

"No, it would not be necessary to disfigure the building," replied Mr. Cox. All the floors would be jacked up as the work proceeded. Other methods were possible in remedying the defects in the building but the one outlined he considered was the most economical and would take the least time. There were temporary measures that might be taken but he would not recommend them. If a start was made immediately the work would take about three months' time with a good man on the job, constantly giving personal supervision. The steel pillars and beams could be delivered in three weeks' time.

In reply to a question by Dr. W. T. Kergin, Mr. Cox said that the job did not lend itself to a contract as it was too piecemeal and the exact extent was not known. No contractor would bid on it unless he made an allowance of at least forty per cent to cover contingencies.

The matter of financing was briefly discussed. Mr. Pattmore said that it would be necessary to put a money by-law to the people allowing sufficient margin over the $45,000 to cover contingencies. He doubted if the ratepayers would pass such a by-law.

Immediate Action Needed.

Mr. Cox thought that $50,000 would cover the work. It was necessary to proceed almost immediately with it for he feared that, in its present condition, the building might not be standing at all by next spring.

Dr. Kergin suggested that the matter be left over until tonight so that the trustees might have an opportunity to digest the matter of the report. Mr. McLennan concurred with this.

Mr. Pattmore said he would not favor haste. Even further advice might be secured. Mr. Potter, the supervising architect, had met some of the statements of Mr. Cox. In regard to the laying of the hollow tiles on end, Mr. Potter had said this might be done with satisfaction and had submitted examples of where it had been done in the building of schools.

"I want to clear that matter up right now," said Mr. Cox. "Figures show that these files have a better bearing and support when laid flat. The principle of laying it on end is rotten and is only advertised as a means to sell material. The architect who says the principle is right is all wrong. It is piffle of the worst degree and has not a leg to stand upon. Nobody with any experience would suggest it. There are no specimens of good buildings in Canada made of hollow tile without columns and beams. The hollow tiles might be laid on end with success if they are filled with concrete as probably is the case in the example pointed out by Mr. Potter."

The decision was then made to meet again tonight. In the meantime, Mr. Cox will get Mr. Potter's report which has been prepared and Mr. Potter will get Mr. Cox's.

Offers to Do Work.

M. Parfitt, of Victoria, a member of the contracting firm of Parfitt Bros., which has executed many big building contracts on Vancouver Island, was given a hearing. He offered to take the job on a ten per cent cost plus basis and give it personal supervision.

W. Watts, the local contractor, who was present as well, also offered to do the work on a cost plus basis. He had had experience with this particular building from the first. There were some things, Mr. Watts said, that Mr. Cox had missed in his reports; also there were some suggestions made by him which, in his opinion, (Mr. Watts) were unnecessary.

Dr. Kergin emphasized the invitation to any interested contractors, who might take on the work, to attend the meeting tonight. The answer to the questionnaire sent by the school board to J. W. Potter, architect, in regard to the school, will also be dealt with at the meeting.

REBEKAH'S BAZAAR, WHIST DRIVE AND DANCE SUCCESSFUL

Afternoon and Evening Was Well Occupied by Ladies of Order in Metropole Hall Yesterday.

The Rebekah Lodge held a most successful sale of work and tea in the Metropole Hall yesterday afternoon, an enjoyable whist drive and dance following in the evening. The ladies of the order had been preparing for this affair for some time and their efforts were crowned with a good measure of success, both socially and financially. The general committee in charge of the entire proceedings was convened by Mrs. James Simpson who was assisted by Mrs. J. M. Fraser and Mrs. J. M. Morrison. The plain sewing and fancy work booth was in charge of Mrs. J. Irvine assisted by Mrs. S. V. Cox. Mrs. Hugh Killen, assisted by Mrs. Hammond, looked after the home cooking table and Mrs. Thomas Priest and Mrs. J. M. Morrison supervised the candy department. The tea room, which was very effectively decorated, was handled by Mrs. J. M. Fraser, in her usual capable manner, with Mrs. Boddie, Mrs. Ben Delgarno and Mrs. Frank Morris assisting.

The raffles resulted as follows:

Cake, donated by Mrs. T. Priest, won by Miss Bessie Arthur.

Cake, donated by Electric Bakery, won by Mrs. A. Macdonald, Westview.

Sack of Sugar, donated by Miller-Phillips, won by W. Ruthwell.

Box of candies, donated by Ormes Limited, won by W. Ruthwell.

The guessing contest, the prize for which was a box of candies donated by Killias & Christopher, was won by Mrs. W. Keith.

Whist Drive and Dance.

The whist drive and dance in the evening proved very enjoyable indeed. First prizes were won by Mrs. W. Reid, on a cut with Mrs. Andrews, and C. R. Bizzart, while consolation awards were carried off by Mrs. W. Keith and Mr. Todd. Refreshments were served after the cards and dancing to the strains of Arthur's Orchestra followed. L. C. Eby was in charge of the whist drive and dance and the

HIGHER TEA PRICES AS RESULT OF WORLD SHORTAGE

During 1919 and 1920 the greatly increased production and unlimited shipping facilities resulted in enormous quantities of tea reaching every market of the world. A consequent drop in price was the result. To stabilize the situation, the tea growers of Ceylon and India agreed to curtail production 20 per cent in 1921. Since that time the demand has been constantly increasing and the price rising. The recent reduction of duty on tea entering England has further increased the demand and the price is expected to rise accordingly.
