Trades and Labor Council and Drugs.

The action of the Trades and Labor Council in going on record in favor of better conditions in regard to the illicit disposal of drugs is wholly to be commended. They will receive the backing of every person who has the welfare of the community at heart.

Daylight Saving Also Favored.

Daylight saving also met with the approval of the Trades and Labor delegates. In that they are in line with the opinions of most people in the city, judging from the expressions that are heard. More time for sports and recreation seems to be a general demand.

The Climax of Depression.

The number of failures in the business world is the climax of bad times. It is the final expression of a condition which has prevailed for some time and which has been getting steadily worse. The sooner the failures occur and reorganization commences the better for the world.

The real climax in trade conditions came last autumn, but the business failures usually come just when the revival is commencing. The firms hang on as long as possible, hoping that something will turn up, but it seldom does.

Everyone Interested in Terrace Oil.

Everyone is interested in the effort being made to test the oil possibilities of the Terrace district. The Vancouver firm that is sinking the first test well is taking a gamble, but wide the chances may be somewhat doubtful the reward will be great should success crown their efforts.

As a gamble this oil business is far ahead of horse racing or blackjack. In those games the odds are always against you. In this oil business you get an even break with no rakeoff to the house.

No one should put money into oil unless he is prepared to lose. He must look on it just as he would look on the ten cents he pays for a prod at the punchboard. When he pays his money it is gone for good unless fortune happens to favor him and bring things his way.

The first Terrace oil well is being commenced today. We shall all watch its progress with intense interest, for while the people who have put in the money stand to gain an immense prize if they win, we shall all share somewhat in that prosperity.

The Man in the Moon SAYS--

A friend of this paper, and his name is legion, wants to know why so much fuss is made of forty New York brokers going broke. Why are they brokers, he asks, if they cannot go broke when they want to?

HE says he knows over forty men in this little town that are broke all the time.

AS a matter of fact I'm broke myself.

QUERER that they should have railroad strikes in Moscow, the land is free.

NOW that the city engineering staff has been reorganized the next important thing is to get the work done at as near as possible to the price a private concern would pay for the same.

THAT bandit girl down in New York state that held up a store with a gun is as nothing to the way the girls are said to hold up the men in this city.

MANY a poor chap is kept dead broke all the time just because forsooth my lady points her finger at him and remarks "you are it."

It was just like those London correspondents to shoot through a telegram about Lloyd George possibly resigning just to take the pep out of the St. David's Day celebrations yesterday.

AFTER such dastardly action it is to be expected the Welsh people will be demanding the formation of a Welsh republic.

It's a contemporary who remarks that when they smoked the pipe of peace at Washington they smoked navy cut.

A lady says she has been wearing breeches off and on for the past thirty years. And then the office boys wants to know how she wore them off and a lot more foolish questions.

A FRIEND of mine wants to know why girls blush. They don't, so far as I have been able to observe. Blushing is one of the things that passed away with the advent of knee dresses, cigarette smoking, gum chewing and last but not least, the movies.

HERE is a verse that I find published in the Manitoba Free Press and signed "M.K." It might be worth memorizing: The Optimist.

I tip my hat to the Optimist, The man who is brave and strong, Who keeps his head when things go right, And smiles when things go wrong. So take a tip from the optimist, Who laughs and works and sings And daily shows this weary world The way to better things.

VANCOUVER'S TOUGH LUCK

Special Despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Globe Makes Interesting Reading.

A special despatch written by Ross Munro, staff correspondent at Ottawa for the Toronto Globe, in regard to Vancouver's present political position will prove interesting to the people of Prince Rupert and district: "Politicians here are smiling at Vancouver, Canada's fourth city wants many things from Ottawa, but Canada's fourth city was unfortunate enough to guess wrong. That is, Vancouver returned three Conservative members on December 6, and now Liberals are in power here. The wants of Vancouver are many—a grain elevator, drydock operation, consolidated terminal facilities, an ore dressing plant, a separate department of fisheries, telephone communication with the interior, an export duty on fish, the elimination of mountain freight rates.

"Notwithstanding the three Conservative members, Vancouver's big delegation is still here, pressing for their desires. The only British Columbia member of the Cabinet, Hon. Dr. King, is away west to win his seat.

Told to Vote

The delegation finds it has a rather large fight on its hands to gain its objectives. As one of them remarked today: "The people were told to vote for Hon. H. H. Stevens, and then the Cabinet would not be able to stand up against him. We did that. We elected Mr. Stevens and two other Conservatives. We did our part, but we find a new Cabinet, and Mr. Stevens' influence is not enough to bring him along with our party. It's tough luck, this guessing wrong."

"While this may be a pessimistic view, so far as Vancouver is concerned, their hopes are strengthened by the presence of Hon. John Oliver, the Liberal Premier of British Columbia. Mr. Oliver is now in the happy position of being the liaison officer between Vancouver and Ottawa, all of which may greatly aid his chances of re-election. Later advices to the Daily News indicate that the Vancouver delegation has gone home disgusted at its reception.

PIPE DREAMS By Newton F. Pullen

To the man who has an unpaid grocery bill there may be some consolation in the fact that the total amount which Britain, France, Italy and Belgium will owe the United States on May 15th will be $10,709,842,006.09.

There is some advocacy of a plan to cancel these debts. To one who is little versed in the intricacies of finance, it would seem that to allow the debtors nations to forego payment would be to set a precedent which would arouse a fear that governments at future times might escape fiscal entanglement by repudiation.

Was Troubled With Her Stomach For Five Years

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millersdale, Sask., writes: "I feel that I must write to you before another day passes I am so happy and so grateful to your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better."

I had stomach trouble so bad, I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I had four doctors attend me, but they did me no good. I was in no pain, but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die, in fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many months. This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken, however he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out a little every day, but could not go alone I was so weak, but I soon got so I could walk and eat, and have got quite stout. I am nearly seventy years of age and I feel better than I have for years, and can do all my housework. You may make use of this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am."

to the floor of the Diet, and during a debate the opposition adopted obstructionist tactics and resorted to acid drops as a substitute. If, perchance, a shortage of milk shakes should occur in this country at any time, doubtless the milkshake fans would wear cowbells to hide them over.
