Efforts Of Board Of Trade Recognized.

There is no getting around the fact that the Prince Rupert Board of Trade has gone a long way on the road toward that state of brotherhood which has been advocated so many times, says the Rose Lake correspondent of the Interior News. It is on the lips of everybody, which goes to show that individual co-operation under one head for the good of our district and all in it is our only remedy. The adoption of a plan to help the farmers of Omineca to market their beef is the greatest step that has yet been taken for the benefit of all. It is everyone's duty to fall in line and use their efforts to make this a success. Class organization today counts for very little success because class is against class; and capitalists, labor, middlemen and farmers would get along far better if united. It must come to that some day. Why not now? A man is what his will is, and if his mind is centered on a little class organization that is as far as his will-power goes. But if he will let his will govern his mind in serious thought he will eventually find out that his and our greatest success in Omineca is united action. The first duty of a brotherhood community is to feed and clothe each other, to live and let live. That is where class organizations fail, because class against class is against or opposed to the brotherhood spirit.

The coast board of trade has given us a good eye-opener to greater efforts. Let us throw our little selfish organizations overboard where they belong and all get right into one united body. Let us bend our stubborn will to the principle of equity and justice to all. Ask your preacher to lecture on the brotherhood spirit and fill the pews in the churches. What's the use of dallying when we will eventually go that way anyway?

Citizens Make The Town.

A good citizen believes in his home town, the city in which he lives, the place where he earns his bread and butter. This does not necessarily mean the town in which he was born for he may have left that many years ago, but the town in which he now lives. This is the home town that must stand out as the best town for him to live and prosper in.

Whenever a man knocks the town in which he earns his living, if he really tries to earn a living, he is not a good citizen of the town; he is a detriment. The same thing is true of a woman.

Never knock your home town. If there is something wrong that you believe ought to be remedied, you will not be knocking if you call attention to the fact and demand that it be changed. This is constructive criticism. Destructive knocking gets none of us anywhere.—Nelson News.

Lord Leverhulme On Advertising.

Referring to the functions of advertising, Lord Leverhulme, head of the big Sunlight soap manufacturing firm in England, recently said that in business there must be close co-ordination between the advertising and selling departments, and each was essential to the full effectiveness of the other. He believed that those firms which had taken some proportion of their profit from year to year to be reinvested in advertising had been able to weather storms better than if they had invested their profits in what were called gilt-edged securities. Successful advertising did not depend so much on the amount of money spent as on the amount of thought the advertiser brought to his campaign.

Stern Methods In Ireland.

The Irish Government has been acting with force and decision recently as was witnessed in the carrying out of the death sentence on Erskine Childers, De Valera's first lieutenant, and the edict that the death sentence would be imposed on irregulars bearing arms. It is taking a course that seems about the only salvation if the nation's development is not to be fatally impeded. De Valera has committed himself to a policy which is not open to compromise. He stakes all on the overthrow of the Free State. Finding their justification in the bogus government which they have set up, the irregulars are now enforcing their regime of terrorism and intimidation wherever in Ireland they can gain a temporary advantage. Their plots against the lives of national soldiers, their comrades of yesterday, is as ruthless as the old resistance to the Black and Tans. Intercepted documents show that even the murder of deputies in the Dail has been contemplated.

Opposed by such methods, the Irish government has only one course open. Stern measures in punishing the rebels seems to be the only way that the situation can be saved. Following their present course, the irregulars can only end up in despair.

A Clear, Beautiful Skin

There are millions of tiny openings or pores in the skin and these must be kept open and clean if the beauty of the skin is to be maintained.

Because it cleanses these pores and encourages the healthful action of the skin, Dr. Chase's Ointment is most effective as a skin beautifier. Roughness, redness, pimples and all sorts of skin blemishes disappear by its use, and the skin is left clear, smooth and velvety.

BIG PAYROLL FOR LUMBER INDUSTRY

This Year $20,000,000 Paid; Considerable Increase Over 1921

VICTORIA, Dec. 4.—British Columbia's payroll for the lumber industry in 1922 will run over $20,000,000, according to officials of the provincial government who have based their calculations on returns from 532 firms, whose statistics show that in 1921 the payroll amounted to $18,180,962, with an average number of wage earners of 41,500.

The general resumption of building operations, followed by an increasing demand for lumber, has had the result this year of speeding up the industry. Many plants that were idle have resumed operations, and even those which kept going all the time through 1921 have increased their staffs.

It is confidently expected that this year will show a big increase over 1921, and the $20,000,000 mark is said to be on the conservative side.

WOMEN WARNED TO AVOID CHEAP FURS

LONDON, Dec. 4.—A warning has been issued by the London health authorities to women to guard against wearing cheap furs, quantities of which recently have been brought into England.

Many women who have purchased such furs have found themselves suddenly afflicted with a skin rash about the chin and neck.

The disease is similar to that which appeared in Berlin in 1913 and last year in Copenhagen, and which was traced to the dyed used on furs.

WILL ADVISE GIRLS MARRIAGE QUESTION

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—An order directing that high school girls be advised against marrying men who have not led "clean lives" will be issued soon, it is indicated by Peter Mortenson, superintendent of schools, here. The order will be directed to women deans of girl students in all high schools, it was indicated, and will instruct them to present knowledge of what the students may expect to result from hasty and ill-considered matches.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

December 4, 1912.

The contracts for the large buildings that will be used in connection with the drydock scheme are expected to be let shortly. The tenders have gone east to be examined by the designing engineer of the G.T.P.

J. E. Miller, inspector of Island Revenue offices on the coast, is in the city on official business.

A start was made towards the fall exhibition last night. A preliminary committee was appointed to draft bylaws and prepare for the first annual meeting to be held in January.

According to the latest advices, the Highland group of mines on Bocher de Boule mountains may be sold. If the deal goes through it will be the biggest ever put through in the Hazelton district.

TIME WASTING OF OPPOSITION

Every Method Used to Harass Government at Victoria

FRIVOLOUS FILIBUSTER

Hon. Alex. Manson Pilots House Through Trying Night's Session

H. F. Pullen

VICTORIA, Nov. 29.—Last week Dick Burde made the threat that for the twenty minutes Hon. A. M. Manson had deprived the labor member for Vancouver from speaking on the unemployment question he would have to pay twenty hours of the time of the Legislature, and he set out to make his threat good. Backed by the Conservatives and Labor members, he held up the business of the House for many hours by initiating a filibuster for which Mr. Bowser and his colleagues fell in the line of harassing the Government. It was an initiation for Mr. Manson who assumed the leadership of the House for the first time, the premier being indisposed. The result was a complete victory for the Government. The filibuster was called off about one o'clock in the morning when the Conservatives pleaded for mercy, privately of course, and for half an hour the Legislature got down to business and did in that time as much business as they had done previously during the whole evening.

The result of the filibuster was, therefore, that the opposition was willing to sacrifice the time of the members and the money of the country in petty bickering that could get them nowhere, even if they won. It showed the Legislature that the Government was still in control under adverse circumstances and further it indicated to the country at large that the opposition is so put to it to find material for criticism that it has to stoop to practices which should long ago have gone in the discard.

Frivolity of Filibuster

There are some members who did not agree with Mr. Manson in refusing to allow the unemployed question to be discussed at that time, believing, as did Kenneth Duncan of Cowichan, for instance, that it was just as well to give them a chance to air their grievance if they had one, but there were very few who believed in the deliberate frivolity of the filibuster.

Every possible artifice was used to prevent business going forward. In committee there is no restriction as to how many times a person may speak. Mr. Burde was on his feet every few minutes and his speeches were long. Often they were brilliant and humorous but they had little to do with the subject in hand. At one time he took nearly half an hour reading pages of a dry departmental report and the House had no right to stop him. Members yawned in their seats kept awake only by the frequent decisions which were called.

Deliberate Time Wasting

As an example of the type of time wasting, a division was called and a member suggested the chairman should ring the division bell. He left his chair to ring the bell and then R. H. Pooley claimed as the deputy speaker had left the chair the committee rose automatically. The chairman ruled that he had not officially left the chair but Pooley insisted on calling in the speaker and asking for an official ruling. The whole proceeding wasted a quarter of an hour at least and meant nothing.

The general opinion on the street here this morning is that some members of the Legislature made fools of themselves and the leader of the filibuster was the most foolish of them all. Through it all Mr. Manson sat unruffled. He was courteous throughout and when the attack shifted to himself, as it often did, he answered questions and made explanations just as if everyone was serious. It was this coolness and sauntiness that made victory come earlier than it otherwise would. He certainly won barrels for himself in his conduct of business at such a trying time.

Those who dance along this way enjoy life's race every day.
