BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

VANDERHOOF

Mrs. Harry Hall, of Prince George, is visiting with her sister Mrs. A. Nelson.

O. J. Reid, and crew, are continuing work on the Fort St. James road, and it will soon be in very good shape.

Harry Ingham and family are having a motor trip in Washington state, and visiting relatives they have not seen for a number of years.

On Tuesday last John Irvine had the misfortune to sustain a nasty axe wound, and was brought to Dr. W. R. Stone to receive medical treatment.

A. J. and Mrs. Richards and daughter have left for Vancouver and Victoria. Mr. Richards was the principal of the local school during the past three terms.

At Endako, James Bonner, car inspector, was run over by a team and wagon, and got his ankle badly crushed. He was attended by Dr. Stone.

Mrs. O. J. Reid, of Chilco, has returned from the general hospital in Prince George. While somewhat improved she is still far from well, and is staying in town under the care of Mrs. Richard Stuart.

Mrs. J. M. Johnston and Miss Edna Burdette have left for the coast. Mrs. Johnston will be away about a month in Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. Miss Burdette will visit her sister at Summerland for six weeks or so.

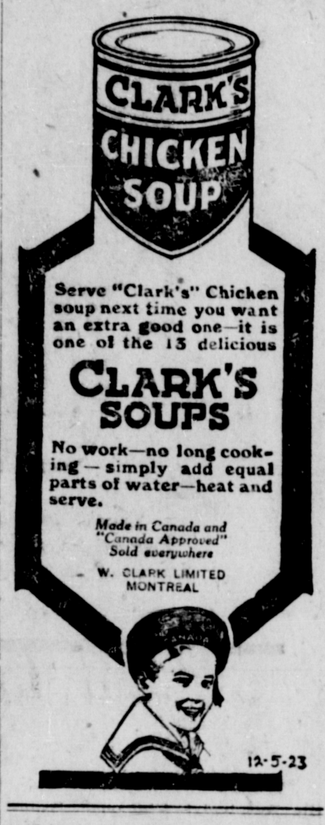
Mrs. T. W. Jackson and her sister, Mrs. M. E. Jones of Seattle, visited this district last week. Mrs. Jackson owns land property in the Nechako district and came up to inspect it. While here she met a number of old friends whom she knew in the big days of the Yukon mining fame.

PRINCE GEORGE

Mayor Johnson is making arrangement to be in Vancouver on July 26 when President Harding makes his visit following his trip to Alaska.

Autoists who have been over the West Lake Road say it has never previously been in such good shape as it is at present. There are at the present time eight road crews working in the Prince George vicinity and for mud roads the highways are hard to beat.

Charles Barrett, one of the oldest pioneers of the central interior, is spending a few days in the city. Mr. Barrett came into the district in connection with the building of the telegraph line to Dawson when there was but one white settler between Quesnel and Hazelton, in the person of E. S. Peters the present sheriff, who was then living at Fraser Lake.



Mr. Barrett is now the largest agriculturalist in the district, having 1,600 acres under cultivation in the Bulkley valley, chiefly in hay. He says the hay crop never looked better. He expects to cut about 1,000 tons and will leave the rest standing for his stock.

Mayor Johnson is having rather good luck in the hatching of the Siberian pheasant eggs which he brought up from the coast. With two settings of thirty eggs, which were entrusted to Ernie Thompson, a hatch of 24 chicks was secured and it looks as if the hens will be able to rear at least twenty of them.

HAZELTON

Miss Hanna has left for Smithers where she will remain the summer with her sister, Mrs. Welch.

There have been thirty-five fires in this district to date this season. At present there is only one under patrol. Of the total number only eight cost the province additional money and they averaged about $162.

Miss Chappell of Smithers was the guest of Mrs. MacKay during her stay here as presiding examiner for the entrance class.

Mr. and Mrs. Barbeau and children arrived in town recently from Ottawa and will spend the summer here in connection with Indian history.

Maft Myers is acting postmaster for a couple of weeks while Miss Smith is on her vacation.

Magoffin & Co. have secured the two contracts for culverts and fills west of South Hazelton station on the Canadian National Railway. A crew is being assembled and the plant put in shape for about six month's work.

Mrs. Anderson and two daughters will return home early in July from Nanaimo. Mrs. Anderson will be accompanied by her sister and two children who will spend part of the summer here.

Wm. Grant was in Smithers last week. He has been appointed a justice of the peace for Hazelton.

A couple of real estate deals have been put through in town recently. Jim Hodder is reported to be erecting a pool room on the river bank.

Three prospectors, with a twelve horse pack train outfitted at the Hudson's Bay Co. recently, and have started for the Omineca where they will spend a year or two.

Sport Chat

The Dempsey-Gibbons world's heavyweight championship battle goes down in ring history as the greatest of boxing promotion fiascos. The only ones who made any money were apparently the champion and his manager and they did not make as much as they wanted or agreed upon although the concensus of opinion will undoubtedly be that they made all they were entitled to and more than they deserved under the ordinary run of things. The fight at Shelby and the circumstances surrounding it merely emphasize the agitation that has been rising in a desultory manner of late against the growing greed of champions in demanding such immense guarantees for entering the ring. The question is: "Should any champion be paid $300,000 for entering the prize ring and is the best ticket to a world's heavyweight boxing championship bout worth $50 or anything like it?" The answer in the minds of all reasonable people is "No," and the sooner the fans as a whole govern themselves accordingly and place a virtual boycott on such demands, the sooner will athletics and boxing particularly, turn back to a proper course from the track of financial depravity and unreasonable greed that is now being followed. The capitalization of sport is going just a little too far and the lack of patronage afforded yesterday's bout may be taken as a sign that the public is beginning to realize it.

The fight itself proved the boxing sensation of the year. Contrary to general expectation, Gibbons stayed with it until the very last and gave Dempsey absolutely the best battle he has had since he won the crown. The outcome would indicate that either Gibbons has been under-valued as a boxer or Dempsey has lost his punch. The progress of the battle indicated, however, that the champion handed his opponent much punishment which Gibbons sustained most gamely proving himself to be the logical contender for the title. As a result enthusiasm has been instilled in the situation which will only be satisfied with another meeting between the two men and certainly Gibbons has earned the right to another meeting for the title.

The dissolution of the Grotto Senior League baseball team and the taking of the players from that organization into the two remaining clubs, Sons of Canada and Gil's, will provide better baseball for the fans for the remainder of the season and some real live games may be expected from now on. Senior baseball games will be played weekly as already set down in the time table on the same dates as now posted. The standing will remain as it appears at present with the Sons and Gils tied with three wins and one loss each. Tonight the first game under the new arrangement will take place. Lidstone will pitch for the Sons of Canada and Frizzell for Gil's.

Principal Vance of the Anglican Theological College at Vancouver is spending a couple of days in the city on the way home from a visit to eastern Canada. He has been giving addresses at various points and this afternoon he was the guest of the Rotary Club which he addressed. Mr. Vance is no stranger here, having visited the city and preached at the Anglican Church on a former occasion.

Misses Irene and Jessie McAfee arrived from Vancouver on the Prince Rupert yesterday afternoon on their way to Georgetown where they will spend the summer with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McAfee.
