FISHING BOAT HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

Belated Exchange from Ketchikan Tells of Difficulties of the Tordenskjold

A belated exchange from Ketchikan says: Few people realize the dangers attending the halibut fishermen's work. The Tordenskjold, Swiftsure and Convention have entirely disappeared without any trace of either boats or crew. The recent wreck of the Washington might have resulted in a similar fate or even worse for the Tordenskjold and crew on their last trip, for the boat lay at the mercy of the waves for four days before help arrived.

During the heavy weather off the Lytuya Bay coast, the bearings were burned out of the Tordenskjold's engines, which made the big boat helpless in the heavy sea. Fortunately they were sufficiently far off shore or they would have been piled up on the beach.

Clothing Burned

Oilskins and clothing were burned at night for flares and signals of distress, until the fourth day when the halibut schooner Republic picked up the signals and ran to the Tordenskjold's relief. To emphasize the perils of the sea and in order to gain some understanding of what the crew had to contend with during the four days they lay disabled, the Republic had to stand by for eight or ten hours before it was safe to attempt to put a line on the crippled boat.

When the Republic did get a line on the boat she towed the

DOG AND COCK FIGHTS ARE TO BE BANNED IN MEXICO CITY SOON

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30.—Dog fights have been prohibited in Mexico City. The decree, recently issued by Mayor Prieto Laurens as one of the first acts of his administration, refers to regulated fights, and not the ordinary street affairs between belligerent curs. Mayor Laurens says it is a disgrace for blooded animals to be matched in a death struggle, and there are strong intimations that a ban will be placed soon on cock fights, which vie with bull fights as the favorite Sunday afternoon diversion.

To many Mexicans, however, there is nothing brutal or inhuman in bull fights, dog fights or cock fights. In many quarters boxing is considered an uncivilized sport, and the newspaper El Mundo recently conducted a vigorous campaign to prevent further bouts in the capital, asserting that it is most disgraceful for men to pummel each other until blood flows.
