NORTHERN B. C. NEWS

NEW HAZELTON

The road between New Hazelton and Smithers is now open for traffic, the snow plow having been run over it at the first of last week.

The most of local potato growers have decided to hold their stocks until about March when it is expected there will be a good price. Of recent years several carloads have been fed to stock every spring but it is expected to be different this year.

The Hazelton branch of the Royal Bank of Canada passed out of existence on Wednesday of last week, the local business to be transferred to the Smithers branch. Robert Hunter, the manager, is going to Smithers for a few days and will later report to the Prince Rupert branch. Ben Jones has been instructed to report to the branch at Steweston.

The young people's organization in connection with the Hazelton United Church has been named the Young Hazelton Club.

The Ladies' Aid to the Hazelton United Church held its annual bazaar last Friday afternoon in Hodder's Hall.

NEW ACTION OVER MINE

Nelson Woman Sues Lindberg Estate in Connection With Sale of Big Missouri

A case has arisen in Supreme Court at Vancouver out of a judgment which was obtained two years ago from the Supreme Court of Canada by William F. Harris, Port Angeles prospector, for $50,000 in connection with the sale of the Big Missouri mine in the Portland Canal district. Harris succeeded in a claim against the estates of Hiram Stevenson and James Proudfoot, both deceased, for moneys realized in the sale of the mine to the Standard Mine Co. for $250,000. The action against Daniel and Andrew Lindberg, also both deceased, was dismissed. Suing on behalf of the Proudfoot and Stevenson estates, Mrs. Laura McEwen of Nelson is now claiming contribution from the Lindberg estates for half of the judgment—$25,000 together with interest and costs, a total of $27,724. She alleges that the Lindbergs were partners of Proudfoot and Stevenson and contends that they agreed with the heirs of the latter to share the costs and judgment which the courts would award to Harris. The $50,000 judgment was paid to Harris out of a final $100,000 payment made by the Standard Mines Co. on the purchase of the Big Missouri.

The trial opened in Vancouver recently. J. W. de B. Farris K.C. is counsel for Mrs. McEwen and A. H. MacNeill K.C. and F. D. Pratt for the representatives of the estates of the Lindbergs.

James Boyd, supervisor of fisheries for District No. 2, returned to the city on the Cardena last evening from a two weeks' trip to Vancouver where he attended conferences of W. A. Found, deputy minister of fisheries, with the salmon fishing interests.

SMITHERS

For the benefit of the Calf Club, a very successful dance was held by the Quick Farmers' Institute at the Round Lake Community Hall. Music was by the Moonlight Serenaders of Smithers and there were guests present from all parts of the district. The affair was highly successful financially.

During the evening service in the local United Church, Rev. David Donaldson paid a warm tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Ray Pake, an active member and worker of the church, whose death occurred last week in the Fraser Valley. Two minutes' silence was observed out of respect to her memory.

BURNSLAKE

Prince George took all the honors in the clover section at the recent northern central interior seed show at Smithers while Smithers and district took most of the prizes in cereals and timothy. First in alfalfa was taken by Kolling and Pauli of Woodpecker while the first prize for red clover was captured by E. J. Downs, also of Woodpecker. W. Billeter of Smithers took first prize for oats and D. T. Greene of Quick took first for spring wheat.

School boys returning from Danish school swung a bunch of windfalls across the road and blocked traffic. Blinded by falling snow and approaching darkness, a local farmer piled his truck into the debris. The boys were severely reprimanded by the local constable and the irate farmer was fined $10 for travelling without lights.

PRINCE GEORGE

Following an illness of two weeks, Mrs. Elinora Gunn, wife of L. C. Gunn of this city, passed away on Wednesday morning of last week in the local hospital. She had been a resident of the district for many years and her death is sincerely regretted by numerous friends. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from Knox United Church.

It is estimated in a preliminary report of William G. Fraser, city treasurer, that the city of Prince George will show a deficit of $18,743.10 for the year 1932. Tax collections are down more than $2250 from last year and United States exchange and relief costs have also been a burden.

In Prince Rupert

December 5, 1912

Ratepayers of Prince Rupert, at the polls, rejected a money bylaw which would have provided for the construction of a trunk sewer system in various sections of the city at a cost of $1,400,000. The vote was: for, 147; against, 282.

A movement is on foot to organize a Socialist party which would participate in politics locally. Ald. W. H. Montgomery addressed a meeting of the Labor party in the Majestic Theatre.

SPORT CHAT

Reid McLennan, who returned to the city last week from a trip to Vancouver, crossed over while in the south to Seattle to see the Pacific Coast Conference football final between University of Southern California and University of Washington. The game, which ended in a score of 9 to 6 in favor of the Californians, was a real thriller, the local barrister reports, and was replete with much hard and sensational play. It was but the second time this season that the Trojans (Southern California) had been scored against, the Washingtonians putting up a great fight against a team which is considered one of the best in the United States.

The number of children attending wrestling bouts has amazed the management of the St. John's Nfld. rink, and in future no persons under the age of 15 will be admitted because the performances do not close "until long after all youngsters should be abed."

Possibly a stadium may be built in Tottenham Court Road, W. London, at a cost of about $5,000,000, according to the head of a prominent London real estate firm, if present negotiations in connection with real estate goes through. The stadium would provide facilities for every sort of sporting contest, dancing tournaments and ice hockey. Exhibitions would also be held there.

Lutheran Church Bazaar Success

Tea and Sale Saturday Afternoon Followed By Entertainment in Evening

The annual bazaar and evening entertainment on Saturday by the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran Church proved very successful. There were large gatherings both in the afternoon and evening and financial results were very satisfactory.

Those in charge during the afternoon were as follows:

Home Cooking, Mrs. John Murfold.
Fancy Work, Mrs. Wick and Mrs. Peterson.
Paddles, Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Wick and Mrs. Murfold.
Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. J. Iverson and Mrs. Evenson were in charge of refreshments.

The program in the evening included an organ solo by Peter Lien, vocal solos by Mrs. J. H. McLeod, vocal solos by J. A. Teng, readings by I. Fenness, selections by the Varden Singers, speech by Rev. P. M. Fosse and vocal selections by Mrs. O. Wiek. Mr. Lien was accompanist.

Refreshments were served during the evening.

Western Oregon And Washington Have Heavy Rain

SEATTLE, Dec. 5.—Considerable damage was done in Western Washington and Oregon late last week by floods following exceptionally heavy rains. No less than 1.9 inches of rain fell in 12 hours in Palouse County.

'Pop' Foster to Leave Stanford

Veteran Football Coach May Move East Following Disastrous Fall Season

PALO ALTO, Cal., Dec. 5.—"Pop" Foster, veteran chief coach of Stanford University football eleven for ten years, had no comment to make on Saturday regarding reports that he would leave here to join Temple University at Philadelphia in a similar capacity.

Stanford has had a disastrous fall in the Pacific Coast conference and rumors have been current for some weeks that Foster would be seeking a new billet.

EPOCHAL PASSAGE

Armistice Day Incident on ss. Prince Rupert, Popular Coast Steamer

Ss. Prince Rupert of the Canadian National Steamships' Pacific Coast fleet recently completed one thousand voyages between Vancouver and Prince Rupert. Captain Harry Nedden was in charge of the ship at the time and it is worthy to note that, in addition to the regular passenger list on the one thousandth voyage, was S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Hungerford was on his first visit to the Pacific Coast since his appointment and was accompanied by A. E. Warren, vice-president, western region, and other officials.

A feature of the memorable voyage took place on Armistice morning when Captain Nedden signalled the engines to stop at two minutes to eleven while passengers and crew stood at attention out of respect to the memory of those who gave their lives in the Great War. Ss. Prince Rupert was built at Newcastle in 1910 and was brought out from the Old Country by Captain A. M. Davies, now Examiner of Masters and Mates in Victoria.

On arrival at Esquimalt, the ship was turned over to Captain Barney Johnson, D.S.O. The trip from England was made previous to the opening of the Panama Canal and the ship was brought to the Pacific Coast via Cape Horn and the Straits of Magellan.

Today the Prince Rupert continues her remarkable record with a weekly sailing between Vancouver, Anyox, Stewart and Prince Rupert. She still remains one of the most popular ships in service on the Pacific Coast. Since her arrival on the coast she has travelled more than one million, four hundred thousand nautical miles.

Merely routine business was taken up this morning at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Ministerial Association with Rev. Dr. F. W. Dufoe, the president, in the chair. Members were assigned to the weekly sermons for publications in the press and to regular Sunday afternoon services at the Prince Rupert General Hospital.
