Protected Harbor
Benefit To Place.

It is a great thing to have a protected harbor. There have been times when small boats have been injured by a south-westerly gale, but the wind seldom blows from the southwest here and when it does, only small craft are likely to be injured and then only when not properly moored. There never has been anything happen here such as was reported from Seattle yesterday. The harbor is much better protected than is Seattle harbor. When the big gales blow up that harbor, even large vessels find it difficult to make a landing. Prince Rupert is said to have the fourth best harbor in the world and this fact should count in thinking of shipping prospects.

British Method Is
"Leave Nothing To Chance."

The British are supposed to do things in a happy-go-lucky manner. British people sneer at their governments and at their own methods of doing things. Yet when it comes to matters of peace and war, such as that presented in the Near East today, they have shown on most occasions that they are ready for every contingency. Just now they are moving their warships up in the direction of Turkey so that if it should be necessary to strike a blow they may strike quickly and with no uncertain force.

Every country makes mistakes. There have been all kinds of grave mistakes made by even the best organized countries. Germany made the mistake of underestimating some things and over estimating others. The result was disastrous to her. The British authorities are aware of the value of preparedness and the present Turkish rampage is to be no exception to the general rule.

Shivering People
But Mercury High.

People here have been shivering for the past day or two, yet the cold has not been at all intense. The mercury has kept well above the zero point all the time, while almost everywhere east of here they have been having from thirty to forty degrees more cold. Cold is largely comparative. The present snap is colder than we have had for some years so we notice it more than usual. If it was customary to see the mercury sink below the zero mark we should not think this cold. We should wear furs and woollen clothes and not mind the cold. As it is, we are not prepared for the cold and we shiver and wish for a change. Einstein's theory of relativity is illustrated in this.

Picturing Canada
For The Movies.

The United States has been exploited in the movies to such an extent that now the people of that country are turning to Canada. They have used up Alaska until Alaskan pictures have become dead monotonous. In this country, however, they can still find thrills.

We would like to suggest to the movie producers that Prince Rupert offers opportunities for novelty in movie making. Stories based on the halibut fishing industry of this place and with scenic effects based on the surrounding country might well take their place among the great pictures of the day.

An attempt was made by the United States protectionists to exclude Canadian pictures from their market. This was prevented by the united efforts of the producers. A recent editorial in the Moving Picture World sets out their point of view:

"There is in our opinion no nationality in art, in sculpture, in painting, in music, in literature, in the drama or on the screen. To interfere with the development of moving pictures by protective tariffs is commercial blundering which America cannot afford to share. It has been the profound and often expressed belief of this publication that all the world should be kept in free and open competition in screen production.

"The screen's debt to Canada is heavy. Mary Pickford and Bert Lytell are only two instances. Ralph Connor and Sir Gilbert Parker are illustrious cases in point. Mack Sennett and Ernest Shipman offer fine examples as the producers of successful pictures.

"Canada should make her own pictures for a free and unhindered market. Canada can make her own pictures as is proved by such productions as 'Back to God's Country' and other James Oliver Curwood successes. 'The Sky Pilot' and other Ralph Connor productions.

"The picture industry in the United States cannot be linked with the tariff politicians. We welcome Canada and its product."

Mother and Her Baby
Are Relieved of Eczema

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Salt Burn, Sask., writes:
"Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

The Man in the Moon
SAYS—

BUSINESS is on the upgrade. Heads up!

THIS is pancake day and tomorrow is Lent. Be happy while you may.

THERE are all sorts of big events this week. For instance there's pancakes for today, Lent begins tomorrow, and then there's skating as long as this weather keeps up.

HAVE you chosen your valentine? Why not write one yourself. Do it something like this:
You're a nice one
What if you think?
You're the cutest
Dressed in pink.

ADVERTISING is like eating breakfast. It needs to be done regularly else you are bound to suffer.

TOMORROW is Valentine's Day and young men are urged to be sure that it is not a day of lost opportunities.

IT may be right or it may not be right to forget that tomorrow is Ash Wednesday, but it is decidedly wrong to forget that it is the anniversary of the great St. Valentine.

Their Valentino

A little bit of beauty
A little bit of brains,
But give them love a plenty
To feed on when it rains.

A little bit of cuteness
A smile just now and then,
And there you have the girliness
That goes down with the men.

It's difficult to get the Valentine's day feeling when the weather is like this.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF UTILITIES SAID
TO BE NOT QUALIFIED

The Professional Engineers' Association of B.C. has notified the city council that Ernest Love, the newly appointed superintendent of utilities, is not qualified to take charge of the city's utilities. Supporting this claim, the Association sent a letter to the council last night pointing out that the Engineering Professional Act set out that such work must be entrusted to a registered professional engineer which Mr. Love was not. The communication was referred to the Utilities Committee.

TELKWA

Mr. Fisher representing Smith, Davidson & Wright, of Vancouver, was doing business in town last week.

Ties and more ties are arriving daily. Telkwa and district will have a good showing.

The Telkwa school children are getting greatly interested in the work of the Junior Red Cross. They have recently formed a branch which is to be known as "The Sunbeam Branch." They hope to have nearly thirty members.

The bridge up the Telkwa river is about completed. Then when the bunkers are erected, the Betty coal, which is so famous, will again be obtainable.

Geo. Findlay who was foreman on the bridge has gone to Perow to inspect ties.

TURKISH SULTAN AND HIGHER TEA PRICES

The recent political disturbances in Turkey caused great uneasiness in tea circles the world over, in view of the possible serious developments in India—the greatest tea producing country. India has a great Moslem population, which looks upon the Sultan of Turkey as the spiritual head of their religion, and therefore were opposed to British policy towards Turkey. In view of the serious disorders which might occur and the uncertainty of the situation generally, tea prices have risen to the highest level ever reached. Combined with this, it is estimated there will be an 80,000,000 lb. shortage in production this year. Everywhere higher prices are looked for, as conditions are far from satisfactory in the tea trade as yet.

BUILDINGS HELD UP
BY SEVERE WEATHER

Little Work Has Been Done Since Christmas on the G.W.V.A. or Parker Buildings

The cold weather is holding up the construction of brick and tile and concrete buildings in the city and work has been stopped temporarily on the Great War Veterans' Association and the S. E. Parker structures. In fact, there has been only one week since Christmas in which weather permitted of the work being proceeded with.

The first floor of the Parker building is practically completed. This block, which is costing in the neighborhood of $9,000, will be used for the Pacific Cartage offices and warehouses on the main floor and apartments upstairs.
