once-teeming "flop-house" has suffered a noticeable loss in patronage, for homeless men even in their periods of unemtelry of higher grade, according ! to the Rev. Dennis J. Dunne. chancellor of the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago.

These men, says Father Dunne, are choosing in-increased numbers the lodging houses where baths and the fumigation of clothing are entrance requirements. The change has come about since the enactment of prohibition, according to the chancellor, "Homelesss men are! saving their money now," explains Father Dunne. "It is surprising how well some, o them are living.

"They are eating more and better food. They are also more particular where they sleep. In many cases they are going to the Mission of the Holy Cross, where there are newspapers on tables to be read, and to other institutionally conducted lodging-houses, with an evident desire to learn rather than ! sleep on the floor.
