Canada Needs Prince Rupert.

The former mayor of Winnipeg puts the case for Prince Rupert as a shipping port in the right way. Canada needs her, he says. There is need of a second outlet on the Pacific coast and this is the port.

We have already heard from Edmonton and here is Winnipeg now being heard from. The prairies are anxious to get the best and cheapest route to the coast with the least possible obstruction in shipping. That is why they are interested in Prince Rupert. It is not because of any love for us or for sentimental reasons of any kind. Trade has little sentiment. What they want is to do business in the best place in the best possible manner.

Delegates To Ottawa And Their Work.

The city has decided to send several delegates to Ottawa to interview the Dominion government and Sir Henry Thornton to urge that this port be put on the map as a shipping centre. The board of trade and the city council are at one in the desire to see this done and they have agreed to pay the expenses of the delegates. The next thing will be to get the delegates to go.

This is the time for action to be taken. There are a lot of matters which it is desirable should be taken up with the government. They will doubtless centre their efforts, however, on making this an ocean shipping port through which not only the products of the coast and of the wheat fields but also the general merchandise of the East may be shipped to the Orient, to Australia and to other countries of the world. It might well be one of the shipping ports for the United Kingdom and other countries of Europe.

Will Welcome Marine Managers.

Prince Rupert will welcome the marine managers of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine when they visit Prince Rupert in the near future. While we were not aware that they knew the way to this port, we are now assured that they do and that they will make their first visit here in a very short time.

A committee of the board of trade has been appointed to lay before them the transportation problems as we see them. Doubtless it will be drawn to the attention of the managers that in the past no effort has been made to utilize this port but on the other hand every possible effort seems to have been made to prevent any business going this way. Even when boats were sent here, shippers were never given more than a few days notice that space would be available to them.

Prince Rupert people will be willing to forget the past if they can get proper treatment in future. What we want is for the railway and steamship officials to realize the value of Prince Rupert to Canada and to the railway. If the railway is to pay, it must be used and the only way it can be used is for the railway and steamship officials to act like ordinary businessmen instead of like politicians, as has been the case in the past. We believe that there is a desire to give the port a fair show from this time on and we shall welcome the general manager and the coast manager as men who are anxious to do the right thing by their company and by us.

Would Like To Return Here.

The lure of the north is strong. Already the Prince Rupert people in Los Angeles are saying they would like to be back here. They will come. Already we are preparing to receive them. Let them keep their eye on Prince Rupert. While they are away sunning themselves in the south the people here will be grabbing off the good things that come along.

"I Was Terribly Weak After Baby Was Born"

Mrs. H. McClure, Northwood, Ont., writes:

"After my baby was born, I was terribly weak and run down, with pains across my back. I had heard so much of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that I decided to try it. Three boxes proved enough to make me quite strong and well again. I also used Dr. Chase's Ointment for a rash which broke out on the baby, and the rash disappeared completely in a short time."

New Alaska Paper Urges a Free Competitive Market for Hall but

Board of Trade Urges an Advisory Board for Northern B.C.

Another Alaska paper has just come to hand, the first number of "The Alaska Fisherman," published by the Alaska Native Brotherhood, William L. Paul, secretary at Juneau. The announced policy of the paper is "Alaska for the Alaskans, Abolishment of all Fish Traps, Full Territorial Government, One Nation, One Language, One Flag." It is opposed to the domination of Alaska by Carl Strong and others of Ketchikan, and ridicules the idea of a ferry to Prince Rupert. An editorial dealing with this question follows:

Big Interests

On December 21st last the Ketchikan Chronicle had an editorial which was reprinted in the Juneau Empire on the above subject. This editorial, spokesman of big interests, called attention to the fact that the steamship Victoria went south with the largest shipment of fresh fish ever to leave Ketchikan. Extra men were hired to load greater loads were purchased locally, and it is argued that this would be the situation if the above amendment had passed. Would it?

The above amendment was proposed by the Washington Senator to take the place of the Jones Amendment which was that "no fresh or frozen halibut, salmon, or swordfish from the North Pacific Ocean or its tributary waters shall be admitted into the United States through any foreign country, except when the same shall be in bond from an American port."

Guarantee a Joke

At this time, Senator Jones showed the so-called guarantee by Ketchikan interests whereby Carl Strong, Barber and others guaranteed that a daily ferry system would run to Prince Rupert. The joke of the guarantee is that none of the men who signed have their property in such shape that they can be forced to make good on their guarantee. As one signer said, "Oh, they can attach my stock if they can find it."

The Poindexter amendment then followed providing that "No fish packed or frozen in a foreign country shall be exempt from duty" and affixed a duty of 2¢ per pound on fish so packed, although Mr. Strong had asked for 3¢ saying that 2¢ was not enough to offset the natural advantages of Prince Rupert. The purpose was to drive the fishermen to sell at Ketchikan. The charge was then made that there were no buyers in Ketchikan. Strong answered that the duty would force the Canadian buyers to American soil and that a ferry would be constructed that would run to Canada daily.

Rupert's Good Faith

The activity of one day when the Victoria was in port is made to represent a normal condition under the Poindexter amendment. This amendment is not the curse for citizens of Alaska. The real answer to the demands of fishermen is a free and competitive market. If Ketchikan will furnish that, then it will get the fish. Car ferries will not matter. But unfortunately, Carl Strong cannot furnish a free and competitive market. This the British at Prince Rupert have consistently furnished. Their good faith is shown by their record for it is Prince Rupert that has changed the market for the fishermen from the 2¢ rate of Seattle to the 10¢ and 18¢ rate of Prince Rupert.

The situation of the Ketchikan buyers is the same that caused a famous American to say, "You cannot fool all the people all the time." The American system of doing business is by combination, and in regard to the Ketchikan market, there would have to be an entire change in the personnel of the buying interests, meaning thereby, Carl Strong and J. C. Barber would have to get out and stay out, before the fishermen will believe that a competitive market was really established there.

We will have more to say about that ferry system later.

A letter from W. J. Kelly and others complaining of an overflowing cesspool on Lothiniere Street was referred by the city council last night to the Board of Works for report.

New Manager Has Arrived at Butedale and Plants Being Overhauled

BUTEDALE, March 6.—The Canadian Fishing Co. Ltd., which has taken over the plant here formerly operated by the Western Packers from the North Pacific Packers Ltd., now has a crew of men here putting the cold storage and salmon cannery plants in shape for the coming season's operations. A general fish business will be conducted and a large supply of bait and ice and general stores for fishermen will be carried. All kinds of fresh fish will be bought to be shipped to the different markets.

D. McArthur, who will be general manager here for the company, arrived last week on the steamer Camosun accompanied by H. C. Poole who will be in charge of the cold storage plant. Mr. McArthur is well known in coast cannery circles having been very successful in past operations. Mr. Poole, who was formerly with the Alaskan Fisheries at Prince Rupert, is a pioneer in the fresh fish business on this coast and is very well known to both fishermen and fish shippers.

J. N. McPhee, local customs officer, arrived last week from Prince Rupert on the steamer Venture and re-opened the customs' excise office which was closed during the winter months.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

MARCH 6, 1913

There were several good bouts at the Eagles' smoker held last night, the main event being a six round go between Ray Bronson and Ernie Gray won by the former on a foul. Mark Hardy gave comic recitations and G. Couture and Harry Fletcher delighted with popular songs. Ben Self and J. Jacobsen caused much amusement with their burlesque boxing bout. Other bouts were between Kingsell and Nicholson and Valpey and Kingston. Bob Barnes was referee.
