OLD PEOPLE BECOME YOUNG

Scientist Discovers Treatment Has Wonderful Effect on Body

LONDON, March 6.—Professor Burton Seammell, of the Dover Radium Institute, has discovered that by the use of radio-phosphate of potash, a man can be rejuvenated in a remarkable manner, according to the Westminster Gazette's correspondent. It is claimed that as a result of the treatment a man can live to be 125; always feel as fresh as a daisy, and develop the square jaw which is an essential feature of the American movie hero.

A retired banker of Wokingham, gave an interviewer a remarkable account of his mental and physical transformation as the result of taking advantage of Professor Seammell's discovery. This man, who is 77 years old and who took the treatment for three years, says his eyes are stronger than they were 16 years ago. He can read without glasses, his voice has become deeper and stronger, and he never experiences that "tired feeling" any more.

BABY THAT DIED WAS BROUGHT BACK TO LIFE

Injected Adrenalin Into Heart and Infant Begins to Breathe and is Alive and Well

NEW YORK, March 6. — (By Canadian Press) — The use of less than one cent's worth of a drug, a stimulant extracted from the adrenal glands of sheep, has saved the life of a baby boy who died during birth in the Borough Park Maternity Hospital, Brooklyn.

Ten days after its birth the baby, Daniel Isaacson, weighing three pounds five ounces, started with tiny blue eyes upon report-

The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for the land under the Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the great war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

RUSSIAN MONEY IS EASIER TO HANDLE

MOSCOW, March 6. — Book-keeping has become a possible occupation again in Russia with the advent of the new money. Six ciphers have been thrown into the discard. The new bills which take the place of the old 1,000,000 rouble tokens call for one ruble, and accountants now can book small sums without writing ciphers clear across the page.

Also it is easier for Americans to realize a dollar is worth 40 rubles, instead of 40,000,000.

BRITISH MIGRANTS TO UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, March 6.—A statement which has been issued by the Cunard Line discloses that 15,149 British immigrants have arrived in the United States since the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1, 1922. The British lead all other nationalities. Italy is second with 12,057. Germany third with 21,126. Poland, 21,076; Russia, 18,358; Czechoslovakia, 14,357, and Sweden, 9,169.

NUMBER OF ANIMALS THAT NEVER DRINK

In Hot Countries the Herbivorous Creatures Suffer Less From Thirst Than Here.

Some animals never drink. That is curious to those who live only in temperate climates.

"Meat animals," like the dog, lap up water with the tongue, while vegetarian animals, like the horse, suck the water up. We know that all the common animals with which we are acquainted drink at least once a day, some of them many times. If we were asked what animal can do without water the longest, we would probably name the camel.

Most of our pet animals, like the dog and cat, drink nearly as often, and would die of thirst nearly as quickly, as a person. This is partly their nature, but very largely a result of habituation. A horse can, when he has to, do without water several days, though he suffers greatly after the first day.

Stomach Pouches.

Camels travel four or five days without drinking, but they are not doing without water all that time. A camel's stomach is peculiarly made with a number of pouches—"pockets on the sides." Water is stored here when the animal drinks, and he can draw on these "reserve canteens" one at a time for bodily moisture. His keenness in detecting water at incredible distances makes it easy for him to regulate his water rations between drinking places.

Hunters and naturalists say that a giraffe can do without water three or four days. One famous explorer states that in Africa he kept a herd of giraffes under closest observation for a week, and that not one of them drank a single time.

Drink Rarely.

Some of the African antelopes drink but rarely; the eland, in spite of its bulk and fat, goes for weeks without a drink. The hardiest drinks when water is handy, but goes drinkless without apparent inconvenience when necessary. The kudu, one of the liveliest of antelopes, and the gerenuk, called by the natives "little camel," are said never to drink. The long-necked dikdik could not get water even if it so desired; its home is a hot dry thicket which it never leaves. The jerboa, a sort of kangaroo rat, is another curious creature of the Dark Continent that lives entirely without drink—under conditions of heat and dryness that to a man without water would be fatal within forty-eight hours.

Just a Habit.

According to Dr. Heller, eminent scientist and explorer, autopsies on these non-drinking animals proved them not organically different from other mammals. The most feasible explanation is that of habituation. It is significant that no flesh-eaters (carnivores) are among these "water fasters"; it is probable that they, being more ferocious, drove the timid animals into the high, dry altitudes. As the centuries passed the herbivores developed, by compulsion, a constitutional tolerance of thirst. We will never know how many generations perished prematurely because of insuffi-

Stomach Trouble "Indigestion"

Relieved by Burdock Blood Bitters

The sufferer from dyspepsia, indigestion or other stomach troubles who has to pick and choose his food is the most miserable of all mankind. Even the little that is eaten causes much torture, and is digested so imperfectly it does but little good.

Before you can eat heartily and enjoy your food, you must put your stomach right so that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

Mr. Wm. Kruschel, Morden, Man., writes:—"Some time ago I had quite a serious case of stomach trouble, indigestion. I could scarcely eat anything, outside of some light food, and even then I generally had pains after each meal. I tried many different medicines, but without any improvement, and had almost given up hope of ever being well. A neighbor recommended Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using it a short time I felt much better, so I continued to use it until I was completely relieved. I can honestly say that B. B. B. has done wonders for me after all other medicines failed."

B. B. B. is put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
