MEMBERS OF CANADIAN WOMEN'S PRESS CLUB ARRIVE HERE TONIGHT

Several members of the Canadian Women's Press Club are arriving from Eeastern Canada on this afternoon's train to make connection with the steamer Prince George tonight for Vancouver where the triennial meeting of the organization will begin a three days' session next Monday.

The membership of the Canadian Women's Press Club includes not only newspaper women from coast to coast but also the Dominion's best known novelists, poets, magazine writers and publicity women and artisist in black and white. Many will spend some weeks exploring western beauty points and studying conditions.

About two hundred are expected to gather at Vancouver to discuss professional matters and the programme includes papers on "Syndicating," Mrs. Joseph Price, Calgary; "Marketing Scenarios," Miss Anne Elizabeth Wilson, Toronto; "Advertising as a Profession," Miss Eleanor Stevens, Toronto; "Ethics of Journalism," Miss Kenneth Haig, Winnipeg; "The Woman Journalist in Great Britain," Miss B. Cook, Glasgow; "The Field for Canadian Publications," Mrs. Isabel Ecclestone Mackay, Vancouver. Miss Lucy Swanton Doyle, of the Toronto Telegram, will deliver her presidental address at the opening session, at which Mrs. Margaret E. Lawrence of St. John, N.B., will answer the address of welcome.

On Sept. 27, the Club is to go to Victoria as the guests of the C.P.R. for a two days' trip and the programme includes a dinner given by the Victoria Women's Press Club and a reception by the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. W. C. Nichol, at Government House. A motor drive around Victoria's environs will be taken Friday morning and on returning to Vancouver, if the Empress of Asia docks in time, the Club will be guests at a luncheon in their honor on Saturday.

KETCHIKAN HATCHERY NOW IN OPERATION

E. Wentworth, superintendent of the salmon hatchery recently built near Ketchikan creek, has now over a million eggs in the process of hatching out at the new hatchery says the Ketchikan Chronicle. They are kept in troughs filled with water at a temperature of from 40 to 54 degrees. The warmer the temperature the more quickly the eggs hatch. These kept in the water at 54 degrees Fahrenheit take from six weeks to two months to hatch, while eggs kept in water of 40 degrees require from two to three months to hatch. The water at the new hatchery is taken from the city water mains and lake so that it will never be very cold. During the severest part of the winter, the water will be heated to prevent it from freezing while the eggs are in process of hatching.

The Ketchikan hatchery building is 98 feet by 40 feet and has 82 long iron troughs that have a total capacity of 13,500,000 humpie eggs, which is the principal species of salmon abounding in Ketchikan waters. The hatchery could care for 27,000,000 red salmon eggs, which are smaller than humpie, and only 6,750,000 king salmon eggs, which are twice as big as the humpies.

ARE SATISFIED WITH DOME MOUNTAIN MINE

Federal Mining & Smelting Co. Makes Payment to Jefferson and Agrees to Spend $500,000

The Federal Mining & Smelting Co. is so satisfied with the exploration work it has done on Dome Mountain, near Telkwa, that it has made a substantial cash payment to Thomas E. Jefferson and his associates and has agreed to spend half a million dollars in the further development of the property says T. H. Mason, writing in the Vancouver Sun. The shaft that is being sunk on the main vein will be continued and levels will be driven at intervals of 100 feet. If this work proves the continuation of the ore body a main working tunnel to give a depth of 500 feet on the vein will be started. The main fissure is said to be 70 feet wide, and at one point a cross-cut exposed a surface of ore for 29 feet, which is said to have averaged $108 in gold per ton.

Sport Chat

While the New York Yankees are assured of the American League pennant, the Giants are still battling away with a very slim margin for first place in the National League over Cincinnati and Pittsburg. The situation in the senior league is particularly interesting at this time and every day's results give rise to keener speculation. With the World's Series now less than a month away, there is still a chance that the big fall meeting will not be exclusive to Gotham. It all depends on the Giants.

Though the local baseball aggregation which left for Smithers last night is not quite so strong as the team which faced the boys from the Bulkley Valley at the Fair here last week, they have every confidence of handling anything that may offer in the interior railway metropolis. It is the first baseball excursion of the season for the local boys. The first game is to be played this afternoon, the second tomorrow and the team is expected home Saturday evening.

A fact seemingly overlooked by golf staticians has to do with the unusual increase in the number of women players during the past two years. After a period of years during which fields in women's tournaments shrank in size and even the national championships remained more or less stationary, women are now taking up the famous pastime with more enery and enthusiasm. This has been indicated during the past two years in competitions of all classes and importance.
