Steady Revival In Local Business. There has been a steady revival in local business going on since spring and this revival is likely to continue indefinitely. The development of the district is proceeding apace and there is every reason to believe that Prince Rupert will not only hold her own but steadily grow in importance. Population will increase and business prospects will improve.

It is useless to again outline the reasons for believing that Prince Rupert will continue to prosper. We have mentioned them often enough. We simply draw attention to the fact that destroyed by forest fires than ex- made to stock them, in order that what this paper prophesied in the spring has been borne out and that there is every reason to be hopeful for the future.

"Village stuff" is quite common. If we can forget these things and centre our minds should always remember. When on progress, growth, prosperity, health, happiness, joy, and peace we shall get more out of life and we shall not be interfering with the enjoyment of our neighbors.

Germany Will Not Abandon Paper Money.

Germany will not abandon paper money, it is reported, but she may have to do so. The mark has no value today and in all fire against a log or tree. By printing paper money in unlimited quantities Germany has so far avoided taxing her people for war debts. Now it seems as if it will be useless to keep the presses running and the country will have to get down to some stable system of finance. It will be very interesting to watch for the next step in the financial situation. Germany, Russia and Austria have all been experimenting with the currency and the outcome may be disastrous or a way may be found for stabilizing the finances of those countries so that it will be possible to do business with them on a sound basis.

In the future, the Queen Charlette Islands will be the resort of thousands of summer visitors.
