MOMENTOUS MATTERS BEFORE CONFERENCE

RUPERT REAL ESTATE IS BEGINNING TO MOVE AS SHOWN BY RECENT SALES

Empire Defense Discussed and Stabilization of Prices on All Essential Commodities Proposed

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Empire defense is expected to occupy the main Imperial Conference for the rest of the week. In addition to the responsible ministers being heard from, it is possible that Earl Beatty, admiral of the fleet personally will outline the naval problem to the conference.

At the economic conference preliminary to the general discussion on British preference proposals, the special committee had under discussion a fifth point formulated by Premier Bruce of Australia, namely the stabilization of prices of such essential commodities as meat and wheat. Under the Australian scheme a national purchasing corporation would be established which would buy only such foreign wheat as would be necessary to make the difference between what the British and Dominion producers would be able to supply on the one hand and the needs of the British market on the other.

The elevator is loading ships at the rate of 100,000 bushels a day and they expect to increase this to 200,000 bushels a day shortly.

Chief Officer of Algerine is in Hospital Here with Broken Ribs Following Accident South

The local gasoline tug P.R.T., Capt. Reg. Green, returned early yesterday from the disabled salvage steamer Algerine down the coast from here having on board Frank Morain, chief officer of the Algerine, who was admitted to the local hospital suffering from broken ribs, strained back and general shaking up sustained in a fall.

A small gasoline boat, which the Algerine carried, having been lowered overside to the water when the steamer went on the rocks, was bumping on the going over the side of the Algerine to secure the small boat when the rope slipped and he fell from the deck of the steamer on to the little craft. As a result he sustained rather serious injuries and was hurried here as soon as possible.

The gasboat Wigwam, Capt. Ketchum, which also went south from here, returned last night at 10 o'clock bringing the four scows which she and the P.R.T. took down. When the local boats reached the scene of the stranding they found the Algerine had already floated and was at anchor in Port Stevens bay. There was thus nothing for them to do.

The Algerine struck at 6 o'clock Saturday night, floated at 2:30

Sunday morning and it was four o'clock that afternoon before the local boats arrived.

Chief Officer Jimmie Thomas of the Wigwam said this morning that the Algerine was not seriously damaged although the jar had put her engines out of line so that they could not be used. The vessel is still at Port Stevens awaiting the arrival of a towboat to take her south.

Capt. W. H. Logan of the Lloyds' Underwriters, and George G. Bushby of this city are still aboard the Algerine. It still is their intention to get out to the scene of the wreck of the Keinecott on Hippo Island if at all possible.

POOR FISHING GOOD WHALING

Season for Chum Salmon Extended for Week at Queen Charlottes

CANNERRIES OPERATING

Final Closing for Season Will be on October 26; Two Salteries Working

A. Mackie, inspector of fisheries, reports that the season for fishing on the Queen Charlotte Islands has been extended until October 26.

The fishing season there has been poor this year. Three salteries, McMillan's at Queen Charlotte City, Woodley's at Pacific, and the Moresby Island saltery at Jedway, have done very little this season and the two cannerys Lagoon Bay and Lockeport, while still operating, have put up poor packs. The Jedway saltery is not operating at present. The pack of the cannerys is well below last year.

Mr. Mackie reports that there has been a prosperous whaling season at Rose Harbor this year, 193 whales having been taken at that station and a good percentage of them have been sperms. This station will close soon.

ALGERINE IS BADLY DAMAGED FROM BEING ASHORE BANKS ISLAND

VICTORIA, Oct. 16.—Steamer Algerine, which went aground on Brodie Rock Saturday afternoon, pulled herself off with her own power. The damage to her is considerable. The forefoot was carried away while the bottom is set up under the boilers. The port engine is totally disabled.

The vessel is anchored at Port Stevens awaiting the arrival of the tug Nanoose which left Vancouver yesterday morning.
