

BROKE INTO HOME CHIEF OF POLICE AT PRINCE GEORGE

PRINCE GEORGE, Oct. 16.—Fire Chief McKenzie and Assistant Chief Graham had an exciting time on Monday evening. Chief Carlow was out of the city on a hunting trip to Vanderhoof, and word was brought to the fire hall that some person had broken into his residence. The firemen at once decided to do a little sleuthing on their own account. On arriving at the house they found a front window had been broken in, through which the lock upon the front door could be manipulated.

Chief McKenzie sized the situation up in a glance. Without waiting for assistance he instructed Graham to deploy himself along the front of the building, while he reconnoitered the interior. Inserting his hand through the broken window he turned the latch and stepped fearlessly into the gloomy vastness of the dark room. There was not a sound, and the chief groped around until he located an electric switch. With the flood of light came a whirling sound from one of the rooms, and McKenzie shouted out to Graham that he had his man and to close in. It took some time to capture the intruder but in the end he was neatly trussed and taken over to the fire hall, where he was entered on the record as a full grown grouse.
