PRINCE RUPERT POINT OF RELAY

Message to Bowdoin From France Goes Through Jack Barnsley's Set

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 26.—An amateur radio message from France to the North Pole has covered the farthest distance ever traversed by an amateur relay, arriving safely in the ice-bound cabin of Captain Donald B. MacMillan's schooner "Bowdoin" after a 9,565 miles journey across the Atlantic and the territory of four nations.

The same night after Monsieur Leon Deloy at Nice, France, transmitted a message to the Arctic explorer, a repetition of the dots and dashes came in on the headphones of Donald Mix, radio operator for MacMillan, 11 degrees from the pole and inside the aurora.

In order to reach Refuge Harbor, Greenland, the message took a round-about course across the Atlantic to South Manchester, Conn., where it was received, by John L. Reinartz, operating amateur station IXAM. Reinartz gave the message by telephone to Boyd Phelps of Hartford, operator of 1IXH, who relayed it to 6XAD at Avalon, Catalina Island, off the coast of California. From thence it was sent to Jack Barnsley of 9BP, Prince Rupert, British Columbia, who finished the relay.

The distance covered by each relay was about as follows—Nice to Hartford, 3,500 miles; Hartford to Catalina Island, 2,500 miles; Catalina to Prince Rupert, 1,305 miles; and Prince Rupert to Refuge Harbor, 2,260 miles, making the greatest amateur relay mileage.

In this remarkable record the French amateur used two foreign model tubes with a 25 cycle plate supply and an output of about 100 watts. The receiving set used by Reinartz was home-made with his own type of w.k. circuit. Phelps' set was a Tuskia 220 receiver. Mr. Mott of 6XAD used a Grebe CR 13 for receiving and a quarter kilowatt tube for transmitting. Canadian 9BP used one 50 watt tube for sending, while the North Pole receiver is a Zenith 4R."

The combined efforts of all the amateurs concerned make this one of the greatest achievements ever accomplished in the history of amateur radio short wave communication.

YOUTH MANAGES BIG BUSINESS

"Luke" Demotte, Aged 17, Handles Million Dollar Business in New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—His boy chums call him just plain "Luke," but the wealthy art connoisseurs, bankers of several nations and business associates address him more respectfully, for to them he is Lucien J. Demotte, 17-year old president of the House of Demotte, a $2,000,000 art concern located in this city.

Young Demotte is a dark-haired, soft-spoken, aesthetic-looking son of France, with more the air of a student than of a successful man of affairs. Late short his boyhood and shunned him with a man's responsibilities.

Last summer, when life to this boy meant nothing more than pleasant days with a tutor in his ancestral home near Paris, his father, George Joseph Demotte, founder of the New York house of art, was accidentally shot and killed in a boar hunt in France. As is the French custom, the youth had been trained to tread his father's footsteps. He had been reared on art, in the old Demotte mansion on the banks of the Seine, in the midst of ancient furniture and statuary his ancestors had accumulated from the mediaeval castles of France.

Father's Footsteps
"My father always talked to me of art," says Lucien. "Then, too, I had access to his library on Gothic art. We often went on tours of France together, visiting old churches and hunting through remote places for sculptures, wood carvings and other antiques with which to build up our collection."

The death of the elder Demotte ended the carefree existence of his son. A month ago Lucien came to America. He was elected president of his father's corporation and given full authority to manage the business.

"It is my plan to conduct our affairs just as my father did," he said. "I shall return to France each year and bring to America those beautiful works of Gothic art which your collectors have always so greatly admired."

H. S. Berryman is sailing on the Prince Rupert on Friday morning for Vancouver on a business trip in southern cities.

HUNTING WITH DOGS BANNED IN ENGLAND

Such Action has Been Made Necessary by Spread of Foot and Mouth Disease

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The rapid spread of the foot and mouth disease among cattle in this country has induced the Ministry of Agriculture to make a drastic order that will bring dismay to thousands of sport-loving Britons. It is nothing less than absolute prohibition of hunting with dogs through the area affected by the plague, the assumption being that the disease may be spread by dogs.

As the order comes at the very height of the British hunting season, and is of the widest application it will derive thousands of persons of their cherished winter sport and will throw many people out of work.

The Prince of Wales, because of the order, has cancelled his arrangements in the Midlands, planning to hunt in the southern countries, which are free from the plague.

Nearly 89,000 domestic animals have been slaughtered in an effort to stop the spread of the disease.
