DAILY EDITION

Friday, May 18, 1923.

People Are Rising To The Occasion.

The people of Prince Rupert are rising to the occasion in the matter of the Nurses' Home. They are doing nobly and the result will be that the home will be built this year. That seems assured judging by the way subscriptions are coming in.

One noticeable feature of the published lists up to yesterday was the few names of women subscribers. While it is not to be expected that wives, whose husbands have already given, shall, as a general rule, also make donations, there are a great many single ladies in the city who are earning good money and can as well afford to pay as men. Possibly they are just holding back waiting for the favorable opportunity.

Library Will Be Needing Help.

It is rather unfortunate that the city council should have felt it their duty to cut the library estimates to such an extent as has been done. However, it seems as if the Board must make the best of the situation for this year and try to enlist the sympathies of outside organizations with a view to getting supplies. Happily the Provincial Government is coming to their aid to the extent of two hundred dollars to be spent on books only and there are a great many people who, when they realize the situation, will undoubtedly come to the assistance of the institution both with books and with cash. It is to be hoped the Library Board will make an effort to carry on so that the people here will not be deprived of the valuable institution which has already proved itself a boon to the community. We suppose the city fathers are to be complimented on having left us the librarian, who is doing such excellent work.

President Harding Might Come Here.

It is to be hoped that while he is in the neighborhood, President Harding will make it convenient to visit Prince Rupert. Every person here would welcome him for he is a worthy representative of a great people. We, as the smaller nation, have a right to yelp a little now and then at the big brother who seems a little overbearing at times but that is purely a detail. We all look to the United States as one of the greatest countries in the world and especially as a nation with problems very like our own. Because of that, and of the fact that we are near neighbors and that there is no distinction between an American and a Canadian beyond the matter of name, we hope that the president of the United States will be able to see his way clear to visit Prince Rupert and let us show him how we feel. We should appreciate such a visit as a distinct courtesy, and especially in view of the close relationship that must exist between Alaska and this port for all time.

Courtesy Is Invaluable.

Courtesy is a great attribute for any person. There is a story told of some Papuans who were condemned to be executed and who were being sent to the government headquarters where the sentence of the court was to be put into effect. When the steamer was about to leave it was found that the men were missing and it was only after the whistle had blown several times and there had been much shouting that the men came running up, apologizing profusely and stating that had they known the steamer was leaving so soon for the scene of the execution they would not have strayed so far away.

Some people are naturally polite; others are naturally abrupt and careless about such matters as etiquette. While we all object to that form of courtesy that conceals the real meaning of things and that is used as a cloak for all sorts of subtleties, yet we like to deal with people who are courteous and who never forget that all men are worthy of some respect.

"I Had Bilious Attacks and Stomach Weakness"

Mrs. Wm. Robinson, Yonker, Sask., writes:

"I suffered from stomach and liver trouble, and used to have bilious attacks so bad that I could do nothing for weeks at a time. My stomach would be so weak that not even a drink of water would stay on it. On my sister's advice, I began to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and must say that they have made me feel like a new woman."

Anniversary of Independence was Enthusiastically Observed With Dinner and Dance Last Night

The 109th anniversary of the declaration of Norwegian independence was enthusiastically celebrated by local Norwegians and friends at a banquet in the St. Regis Cafe and a dance in the Elks' Home last night. There were about 70 or 80 couples at the dinner, the most of whom also attended the dance.

Speeches were made at the dinner in the native tongue by John Dybbavn, vice consul, and Chris Winter, and B. M. Simpson spoke in English. Mrs. L. O. Larsen sang a Norwegian solo. L. O. Larsen was chairman.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

The local Moose Lodge is holding an excursion to Skeena River points today, the Princess Mary having been chartered for the purpose. One hundred and fifty persons were on the steamer when she pulled out this morning. Oceanic, Balmoral, Claxton and Carlisle canneries are being visited and Port Eslington will be seen at close range, the tide being too low to make a landing.

Expecting a record tourist traffic to Alaska this season, the Canadian Pacific Railway Steamship Co. will operate the Princess May, Capt. McLeod, and the Princess Sophia, Capt. Campbell, on a five day schedule to the North this summer. Besides, the Princess Mary will continue on the Prince Rupert-Anchorage route weekly.

A 3-ton Commercial truck arrived in the city yesterday from Vancouver for Rogers & Black, coal dealers. It will be used in making coal deliveries in the city.

In the Sunset of Life

A comfortable and happy old age, care-free and independent—such can be your recompense, too, through life insurance.

Canadian Government statistics show the need for this provision:

"Ninety-five per cent. of men at 60 are dependent upon their daily earnings or on others for support, and not one man in thirty who retires with a competency is able to retain that competency to the close of his life."

People are realizing this fact, and life insurance companies in Canada are beginning to pay out more money to living policyholders than they do in death claims, despite the thousands of death claims annually.

The present is the time to make provision for the future, so that the sunset of your life will not be overcast with shadows.

Any life insurance representative will be pleased to show you how to provide a sure income for your later years.
