Railway Already Paying Better.

Reports on the financial condition of the Canadian National Railway indicate that it is steadily improving and before long it should be a paying proposition.

Probability Of Ocean Lines.

The Grand Trunk Pacific to be a success must connect up with ocean steamship lines. That is generally acknowledged.

Better Opposition In Quebec Province.

The result of the election in Quebec puts the province in better shape for legislative work than was the case in the last Legislature.

Conservatives will take some consolation from the fact that they have gained sixteen seats over last year.

Premier Oliver Carrying Message.

Apparently the people in the East like British Columbia's former premier or else they like the message that he brings.

REV. G. G. HACKER IS AGAIN CHAIRMAN OF THE LIBRARY BOARD

At the first meeting of the new library board in the library building last night Rev. G. G. Hacker was again chosen chairman with G. V. Wilkinson, secretary.

The first annual report of the chairman was read, detailed estimates were prepared for submission to the city council and it was decided in future to hold the regular meetings of the board on the first Tuesday in each month.

The thanks of the board was extended to the Board of Trade for the gift of a fine set of Americana consisting of 16 volumes.

Those present were Rev. G. G. Hacker, Messrs. Macdonald, Wilkinson, Pullen, Sutherland, Fuller, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and the Librarian.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

February 7, 1913.

Stating that a large deficit from last year has to be provided for, Mayor Pattullo declares that only sane and legal methods of expending money will be adopted by the city council this year.

The Daily News today contradicts a statement in the Montreal Star that the Grand Trunk Pacific is to run a direct service between Vancouver and the Queen Charlotte Islands cutting out Prince Rupert.

Norman Mackintosh, formerly of the Daily News, has joined the staff of the Saturday Sunset, a Vancouver magazine.

A special committee of the Board of Trade consisting of G. H. Orme, S. E. Parker, and H. F. Pullen, met yesterday and drew up a resolution for presentation to the Associated Boards of Trade at Vancouver late this month asking for the endorsement for the trunk road scheme up the Skeena River and asking for immediate commencement at this and as well as at the other.

BISHOP HAS RIVAL CLAIMANT FOR THE PROOF OF TELEPATHY

In a letter written to the Vancouver Province recently, Alfred E. Lauder professes to have discovered a proof of telepathy and mentions the importance of the subject as shown by the manner in which it is treated by that paper. He says:

Editor Province—It is with considerable interest that I read the account of Dr. Du Verne's experiments, and of the apparent importance with which you seem to regard them; considering the fact that the subject of telepathy is one in which very few people are interested.

It is gratifying to note that our leading daily is not, in this case, with the majority, and inspires in me the confidence necessary to make the following statements:

1—More than two years ago I worked upon and perfected a system whereby proof of the existence of telepathy could be conclusively and irrefutably proved to any logical person.

2—That I can bring from ten to twelve people who have witnessed and assisted at my experiments, and who would be willing to take an affidavit that the foregoing statement is correct.

3—That I am ready to demonstrate my method and findings to yourself or any scientific body who might care to investigate them. The only conditions I would impose would be: (a) That there would be at least ten upon the committee; (b) that the committee would be composed of male and female members; (c) that they would be of good intelligence logical and of open mind, ready to approve or condemn, as the case may be; (d) they must be unprejudiced, and willing to do all in their power to make the investigation a success, if possible.

4—It is to be understood that I do not in any way desire to show the committee what I can do personally. They are to be allowed to make the experiments themselves, by following my directions.

Feared Publicity

You have said in your editorial that it takes long for the world of science to become interested in matters psychological, and you spoke truly. Coupled with this, the fact that "A man is without honor in his own country," has deterred me from any effort to make public what I have found. However, times are changing, "old order giving place unto the new," and the day is not far distant when the science of psychology will have a place in the public mind which it rightfully deserves.

WALLACE TAKES UP CUDGELS FOR CITY IN VANCOUVER PAPER

Recently there appeared in the Vancouver Province a letter signed by H. S. Wallace, taking up the cudgels on behalf of Prince Rupert. It says:

Your editorial in last Saturday's issue, as to the suggested removal of part of Prince Rupert's drydock to Vancouver, expresses a note of goodwill and a spirit of fair play that is generally lacking among Vancouverites toward the northern port. When you say that "it is one of Vancouver's ambitions to maintain a pleasant and mutually helpful comradeship with all other British Columbia ports and trade centres" you were giving your own kindly viewpoint, but I fear you were speaking merely for yourself and a few chosen ones.

As a resident of Prince Rupert for many years, during which I was an occasional visitor to Vancouver, and as a resident here for the past two years, I have often heard opinions voiced by Vancouverites as to Prince Rupert, and those opinions have almost invariably been of a disparaging and partly contemptuous nature. Exaggerated remarks as to its climate—the impossibility of the place ever amounting to anything, coupled with an ignorance as to its natural resources and potentialities—are fairly general here. Apart from the unfairness of this attitude, it is a short-sighted policy for Vancouver to be other than a friend to Prince Rupert, for Prince Rupert is one of Vancouver's best "customers." It is a natural "feeder" for Vancouver, and very many of Prince Rupert's dollars find their way into the cash drawers of Vancouver wholesalers, retailers, and other channels of trade.

It would be just as shortsighted

Nerves So Bad That She Would Sit and Cry

Mrs. Mary Hocking, Madoc, Ont., writes:—

"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a wonderful lot of good. I suffered from general weakness and was so run down and my heart and nerves were in such bad shape that I would sit down and cry and not know what I was crying about. I also used to have weak spells. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am real well now. I shall always keep a box of the Nerve Food in the house, and recommend them to my friends; they are a wonderful medicine."

(Mr. J. W. Vince, Druggist, of Madoc, Ont., says: "I have sold Mrs. Hocking your Nerve Food, and the medicine has done her much good.")
