PRINCE RUPERT'S CASE FOR IMPROVEMENTS GRUESOME FIND IN NORTHERN SASKATCHEWAN TELLS TALE OF BIG FIGHT

Hon. T. D. Pattullo in Fighting Mood Makes Local Position Clear

GEMS FROM SPEECH OF HON. T. D. PATTULLO

"In the ultimate the Government is responsible for the railway policy in regard to this port."

"If the railway were in the hands of a private concern, they would be fighting for business and would go out and make business. The Government is under the same obligation."

"If we advocate what we consider right and keep on advocating it long enough, we are going to get it."

"I am just as sure of the ultimate value of property in this town as I am of anything. Development cannot be stopped but it can be retarded."

"We are not going to Ottawa in a hostile spirit, but if we must fight we are going to do it."

That the Dominion Government had a moral obligation to develop this port and that he still had faith in human nature and expected to see the pledges carried out, was the striking feature of the speech of Hon. T. D. Pattullo to the Rotary Club yesterday afternoon. He explained that people had been induced to come here through the announcements made by the government from time to time and also because of legal contracts entered into with the city. He believed that today more than ever before conditions justified the Dominion Government in proceeding with the policy that had been laid down.

Apparently Fought with Timber Wolves in Saskatchewan and had Six to Credit when Overcome

SASKATOON, March 16.—Mute and ghastly evidence of a death struggle with hungry crazed timber wolves in the hinterland of Saskatchewan was found by two fur hunters at the north end of Creek Lake, 200 miles north of Ile a la Poudre Lake near the headwaters of the Athabaska River. The two hunters found torn scraps of clothing and a gun encircled by the carcasses of six big wolves. They had started to come into British Columbia, he said. The minister said the Norwegian government was not in favor of such a Canadian agency being set up there.

Mr. Neill also suggested that if reciprocity with the United States could not be arranged, Canada should retaliate with a high tariff on everything including farm products.
