BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

The Man in the Moon
SAYS:—

Every political party wishes to save the country or the province or the city as the case may be. Perhaps the most humorous idea is for W. J. Bowser to offer to save British Columbia.

JUST think what would happen if Mr. Bowser were to hold the destinies of the province in the hollow of his head, says a contemporary.

WHEN a woman won't talk, she's sick, says Jake.

BEING an angel in the next world does not appeal very much to a man, but living with one—well, that is a different matter altogether.

A FEW years ago there were politicians who suggested that if women got the vote, all the ills in the world would be cured. They have the vote and the curing process goes on just about as usual.

PRINCE Rupert people sometimes send away for officials and when they get them they find that the officials send out of town for their goods, thus do we all encourage home industry.

SOME women may be foolish but they never go to functions in the summer dressed in a broadcloth suit heavy enough for the Arctic regions.

ONE of the subjects for debate at the next meeting of the local oratorical society should be "Resolved that Grass Widows are not green."

PRIZE fighting once was a sport but today it is a commercial enterprize.

THERE were two winners at the big fight last week. One of them was Firpo who pulled down one hundred and fifty thousand American men.

MRS. LEE WINNER OF FRENCH MIRROR; MRS. LAIDLAW WATCH

Mrs. James Lee of this city as the winner of the French dressing mirror donated to the Trades & Labor Council by T. Ross Mackay for the Labor Day celebration in connection with the Nurses' Home campaign. The gold wrist watch presented by Ex-Mayor Harry Rochester was won by Mrs. James Laidlaw of Alice Arm. The drawings took place Saturday night.

No one has yet claimed the fishing rod donated by Stork's Hardware and there will be a redrawing at the end of this week unless the holder of ticket 27 turns up.

WINNERS OF I.O.D.E. EXHIBITION RAFFLES

Ald. Smith Gets Half Ton of Coal and Howard Pringle Collection of Prize Vegetables

Ald. J. A. Smith won the half-ton of coal presented by the Prince Rupert Coal Co. and raffled by the Daughters of the Empire at their tea room in connection with the Exhibition last week. The collection of garden vegetables, which took the first prize in the Allee-Burbee competition and which was presented by D. McD. Hunter, was won by Howard Pringle. The drawing took place at the Jitney dance on Saturday night.

DEER HUNTING REPORTED GOOD

Parties to Kennedy Island and Spiller River Both Returned With Good Bags

Though it was necessary to climb high for their quarry, good success is reported by local deer hunters who were out over the week-end on the occasion of the opening of the season.

Among the parties which were out was one consisting of Dr. J. P. Cade, J. C. Brady, H. Eastman and D. C. Stuart. They went to Kennedy Island and each of the first three mentioned bagged a deer, the party also getting some grouse. There were plenty of does they report, but bucks were not so plentiful. Hunting was hard work and the members of the party had to climb to the top of the mountain. There were also some parties from Port Essington on Kennedy Island but they did not seem to be having much luck.

Douglas Stork, J. Farquhar, Howard Pringle and Norris Pringle comprised another party which went to Spiller River, Porcher Island. They got two deer.

Ald. M. M. Stephens and Master Elgood Stephens and Donald Matheison were out on Tsimpsean Peninsula via Tucks Inlet. They bagged two bucks not far from the water and saw plenty of tracks low down.

Jack Lindsay, Don Crerar and Harry Welford have returned from a trip to Porcher island where they secured a deer each as well as a nice bag of grouse. They say game is abundant in the neighborhood of Jap Inlet and the country open but the deer are still far up on the mountains.

W. Brass	30	26	27	83
A. M. Davies	27	27	26	80
M. M. Lamb	27	28	20	75
R. W. Cameron	24	17	24	65
R. Wilson	26	20	19	65
V. R. Wilson	17	22	24	63
R. E. Hudson	24	18	12	54
F. Davies	23	15	8	46
J. Y. Leveque	23	10	10	43

Sport Chat

Angel Luis Firpo, "the wild bull of the pampas," got the taming of his meteoric career at the hands of Jack Dempsey, the "Manassa man killer," in the New York Polo Grounds on Friday evening. He bunted his horns into the rock wall of modern pugilism and the antlers of the Argentinean's ambitions have thereby been shattered. He went the same route as Georges Carpentier, the "superman of France," travelled and it is likely that, after his brief but brilliant period of glory, he will, like the Frenchman, sink gently into ring history. He may have caused the champion a little worry but it is apparent that Dempsey was out to get him and if did not take him long to do so.

With the defeat of Firpo, the speculation again arises as to who eventually is going to wrest the world's heavyweight from this Dempsey who has now held it to himself for the past four year's and more. Two names immediately come to the fore. One is that of Tom Gibbons; the other, Wills, the Negro. Gibbons had his chance at Shelby on July 4. His showing on that occasion in staying with Dempsey until the bitter end of the fifteen rounds earned him the right to another go at the title which he will likely get in the not too distant future. Gibbons will at lease hold the popularity of the great majority of fight fans—something that Firpo did not have.

As far as Wills is concerned, he will also have a good following on account of his record. The color line, which for the past four years, has been strongly drawn is beginning to dim out somewhat, not so much that a negro is popular but because the boxing world wants to see the title transfer and is beginning to feel that it does not care much who gets it. There is one thing that seems pretty certain too and that is, if Wills ever gets the crown, he will not hold it very long.
