MASQUERADE DANCE AT TERRACE PROVED TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

St. Andrew's Society Responsible for Enjoyable Hallowe'en Affair

TERRACE, Nov. 2. — In spite of the inclement weather, the members and friends of the St. Andrew's Society spent a very gay evening on Hallowe'en. The hall was prettily decorated, the music was excellent and the floor in good condition. A number of old Scotch dances made a pleasant break in the usual program. There were numerous pretty and attractive costumes, various interpretations all prettily carried out, of the Flower Girl costume; a striking Chinese costume of black and yellow, an animated pack of cards; several gypsy costumes; a beautiful home grown pumpkin. Pierrots abounded, successfully concealing the individuality of several well known citizens. A big black bat flitted amid the dancers all evening. As befitted a Scotch evening Scotch kilties were well represented. There were also a number of striking Hallowe'en costumes.

Mrs. Tarr as a Epanish gypsy won the prize for the best dressed lady. Miss Onalee Grieg as a pumpkin for the most original costume. Mr. Burnett in a Hallowe'en costume won the prize for the best dressed gentleman, and Frank Ross for the most original.

BARTHELMESS SEEN IN BRIGHT SHAWL

Romantic Story is Feature of Week End Film; Elaborate and Colorful

A picutre representing the most ambitious undertaking Richard Barthelmess has yet made for the screen is coming to the Westholme tonight. It is a film version of Joseph Hergesheimer's tremendously popular story, "The Bright Shawl," dealing with the days of Spanish oppression in Cuba. In order to obtain the proper atmosphere, a large part of the story was filmed in Cuba, the balance being made in New York. John S. Robertson, responsible for such productions as "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" and Sentimental Tommy," was the directorial genius behind the camera.

Barthelmess has perhaps the most romantic role of his entire screen career, that of an adventurous young American who takes up the cause of the rebels and incidentally falls in love with the daughter of a rebel leader. The complications which ensue when La Clavel, a Spanish dancer, the favorite of the most despised of Spanish officers, becomes infatuated with the young American, who encourages her so that he may gain information of value to the rebels, are said to make this one of the most absorbing photoplays of a decade.

Supporting the star are Dorothy Gish, as La Clavel, the dancer; Mary Astor, as his screen sweetheart; Anders Randolf, as the Spanish tyrant, Santacilia; Jetta Goudal, as La Pilar, female spy; Andre Beranger, E. G. Robinson, Margaret Seddon, Louis Alberni, William Powell and George Humbert.

"The Bright Shawl" has been filmed on a most elaborate and colorful scale. The screen adaptation was made by Edward Goulding. Known as a John S. Robertson production, it is presented by Inspiration Pictures through Associated First National as one of the most important photoplays of 1923.

Sport Chat

The month of November will see winter sport activities in the city well under way. The basketball season officially opens on November 16 and the schedue, which will be issued in a few days, provides for a set of three games, twice a week—on Tuesdays and Fridays. The Badminton Club has its plans well under way and several practices have been held already. Indoor baseball, it seems, is to go another winter without any effort being made at popularizing the game in the city again.

Organization of Public and High school teams for winter sport, well started last year, is continuing this winter and the teachers together with a number of citizens are devoting a great deal of attention and time to the work and play. Public school girls and boys started their league games some time ago and the High School girls are opening up their basketball schedule this week. Volley ball gives promise of being very popular with the boys, many of whom are registered in Prince Rupert Basketball Association's Intermediate League.

The "News of the World" has this to say of the Joe Beckett fiasco:

"British boxing has suffered many rebuffs of late years, but the hardest blow of all came when at the Olympia, Joe Beckett was for the second time beaten in one round by Georges Carpentier, of France. It was as well that Beckett had informed us beforehand that the fight with Carpentier would be his last, for the Frenchman proved conclusively that we have not yet unearthed a worthy heavyweight champion." The final episode is told thus:

"Dodging round the referee, Carpenter shot home two more punches that caused Beckett to hang over the lower rope, half out of the ring. Only four seconds of the count had elapsed when Beckett's brother George, who was acting as one of his seconds, threw in a towel which landed at Beckett's feet."

In U.S. sporting phraseology, Joe Beckett at that moment lost his "meal ticket," finishing his ring career in a most inglorious manner.

Dancing, to excellent music furnished by Art Easson and Mrs. Fremo, was thoroughly enjoyed by a large number of guests until 11 o'clock, when delicious refreshments were served.
