CHRISTMAS MENU NATIONAL LINES

Turkey and Plum Pudding Being Served on C.N.R. Trains

RECIPE IS GIVEN

WINNIPEG, Dec. 21.—Turkey and old fashioned plum pudding are looked upon as the choice items on any Christmas dinner bill of fare. These two choice dishes have not been forgotten by the dining car department of the C.N. Railway and starting today they will appear on both the regular a la carte and the special table d'hote menu service to be provided on all dining cars of the system from coast to coast during the holiday season.

Christmas and New Year travel is the most intensive of the year and even to place these two special items on the menu has entailed elaborate preparations and the expenditure of much thought and energy. According to Walter Pratt, manager of the dining car department of the National system, approximately 1,000 turkeys weighing from 10 to 24 pounds each, will be required to feed patrons of the dining cars during the time the special menu is in force.

Christmas pudding has been prepared, not by the pound but by the ton, for at least 4,000 pounds will be consumed on the dining cars during the holidays. This Xmas pudding is made from an old English recipe and contains only the very highest grade of choice ingredients. The pudding is made by expert chefs who have been engaged in its preparation for some weeks. The high standard of excellence which the recipe demands has not been deviated from in the slightest degree. The only thing missing will be the rum or brandy and that because the laws of the majority of provinces prohibit its use.

An Attractive Menu

Turkey and plum pudding are only two of the items appearing on the attractive menu, which has been specially printed for the holiday season. The menu breathes the spirit of Christmas. The colored cover design has a panel at the top and bottom of the page contrasting the old and the modern mode of travel. Between them hang two scrolls containing appropriate Christmas greetings. The inside cover design depicts a typical Christmas shopping scene. The whole is redolent of the spirit of the season. The first page of the insert which is bound to the cover by a silver cord, is given over to a warm greeting to patrons of the dining cars from the management and employees of the sleeping and dining car departments. The two middle pages of bills of fare a la carte and table d'hote on which appear a wide choice of substantial and tasty Christmas dishes. The refreshments appear on the back page. A decorative scheme of holly and bells add additional finish to each page of the insert. This menu booklet serves also as the Christmas card of the management and employees of the sleeping and dining car department to patrons of the service and souvenir booklets in envelopes ready for mailing will be presented to all patrons of the dining cars during the holiday season. The famous old English recipe from which the Christmas pudding is made will be of interest to housewives everywhere. The recipe as supplied here by the dining car department of the Canadian National Railway is sufficient to make six two pound puddings:

The Recipe

It is 2 pounds raisins; 1 lbs. currants; 2 lbs. chopped suet; 2 lbs. brown sugar; 1 lb. bread crumbs; ½ lb. flour; 1 large carrot, grated; 2 tablespoons full ground ginger; 2 teaspoons full cinnamon; 3 ounces all spice; 2 nutmegs grated; ½ lb. citron; ½ lb. candied lemon peel; rum or brandy to be added if desired, wet mixture with 16 eggs well beaten and mixed thoroughly, put into moulds or basins and tie tightly, boil for ten hours.

RICHARD THE LION HEARTED THIS WEEK

Famous Play is Sequel to Robin Hood and Same Actor is King

During the third crusade, the English king "Richard the Lion-Hearted" when his forces are ambushed, is saved by an unknown knight, Sir Kenneth who is honored by the king and falls in love with his niece Lady Edith. Sir Kenneth later betrays the king's trust as the result of a jest by the queen, and is disgraced. He returns to the king's service disguised as a slave. When Saladin, the leader of the Saracens through a ruse draws the king away from camp and attacks the camp, Sir Kenneth girds on his armor, helps to save the queen and Lady Edith and again wins the king's favor. When it develops that Sir Kenneth is really the brother of the King of Scotland in disguise, the king announces the engagement of Sir Kenneth and Lady Edith.

Beery's work in the title role is admirable from every standpoint and will be a revelation to those who have only seen him in "heavy roles" because of his excellent work in the lighter comedy movements of the picture. Physically he is convincing as the powerful "lion-hearted" king and a fine type for his character. He is just as fine in the more dramatic moments and makes this famous king seem to be alive. His entire supporting cast is above the average. John Bowers and Marguerite De la Motte give fine performances and furnish a romantic element, Chas. Gerrard is excellent as Saladin and Kathleen Clifford attractive as the queen.

Chet Withey has capably directed the production and there are a number of fine effects including the battle scenes, hand-to-hand encounters, and particularly striking are the scenes in the camp of the crusaders whose tents stretch out over a whole hillside. He has injected a convincing atmosphere and brought out strongly the possibilities of the story.

The picture is the week end offering at the Westholme.
