FASCISTI FOR MEXICO NOW

Organization Has Spread Rapidly to all Parts of the Country to Down Reds

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19.—(Associated Press).—Conceived in jest and at first accepted by the nation in the same spirit, the Fascisti movement in Mexico has made such rapid strides during the past few weeks that it is now reckoned as an important political factor which doubtless will figure largely in the presidential elections two years hence.

Starting in the small city of Jalapa, capital of the state of Vera Cruz, it was decided even by its founders to be a mere local society without definite aim and certainly not nation wide in its scope. The name Fascisti was adopted more because of its present popularity than because of the ideals sponsored by the Italian organization.

But certain persons who have suffered at the hands of a government which has pressed down rather harshly on property owners during the past ten years, grasped at the movement as a safe and effective means to protest against alleged injustice. It offered an opportunity for the landed classes to fight certain radical reform laws that have been imposed on them during the past few years. Without becoming actual revolutionists against central authority, they were able through the new society to organize their interests with a view to

HAS NEVER FELT THE RHEUMATISM

Since Taking "Fruit-a-tives" The Famous Fruit Medicine

P.O. Box 123, PARKSHOR, N.S.

"I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up. I tried medicines I saw advertised, and was treated by doctors but the Rheumatism always came back. In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that 'Fruit-a-tives' would stop Rheumatism and took a box, and got relief; then took 'Fruit-a-tives' right along for about six months and I have never felt my Rheumatism since."

gaining sufficient strength ultimately to make demands on the Mexico City government.

Already 100,000

The Jalapa Society was immediately copied in Tampico and Monterrey, Mexico City, Puebla, Guadalajara, Merida, Oaxaca and Mazatlan followed suit. Within a few weeks a temporary national Fascisti organization was perfected with Gustavo Sainz de Sicilia, a young engineer, as provisional chairman. Offices were established here and within a few days 22 travelling representatives were sent to scattered parts of the republic to spread the propaganda of protest against bolshevism and radical law-making. The second week in January was fixed as the time for a national convention at which time the Jalapa and Tampico societies, which have been operating independently, will join the larger organization. With more than 100,000 members already enrolled it is stated that by June next there will be at least 1,000,000 Fascisti in Mexico.

Scuffed at First

Meanwhile officials of the national palace here were undergoing a change of attitude toward the movement. President Obregon at first scoffed at the idea and dismissed it as a local society of no importance. He declined to consider it as a movement singular in any respect to the Italian Fascisti. Indicative, however, of the fact that high officials now see a threat in the impetus gained by the society, is a recent declaration by Adolfo de la Huerta, secretary of the treasury, who described the Mexican Fascisti as an "exotic plant that cannot flourish in this republic." He ridiculed its importance and expressed the hope that the Mexican proletariat would not "commit suicide" by adopting it. And in deprecating the movement he did what its supporters desired—recognized it as a factor to be considered in the political future.

With the growth of the Fascisti there is a general understanding current in the republic that the Catholic church in Mexico, although not actively sponsoring it, is not at all averse to its spread. Official denial has been made by the Archbishop of Mexico that he or the church is in any way interested. Senior Sainz also says the church has nothing to do with the movement. But there is nothing to prevent the individual Catholic from joining the society.

Not Military

According to Senior Sainz the Mexican Fascisti is not a military organization. "We do not intend to copy the complete program of the Italian Fascisti," said Senior Sainz to The Associated Press, "although their fundamental ideals are also ours in that we are both organized to fight for a new order of things and to combat bolshevism. We do not want to shed blood, but if we are attacked we shall be prepared to defend ourselves. We intend to fight our battles through exerting economic pressure. There will be no street demonstrations, no parades. We shall go about our work quietly, organizing our forces, and weeks, perhaps months, may pass with but slight indications of our activity. But at the proper moment we intend to strike. Backed by our hundreds of thousands of adherents we shall make certain demands on our government. If it fails to meet them, then it must deal with us directly. We are in no sense anti-government and we have every desire to construct, not destroy. We are recruiting our forces from all classes of society and we make no distinction in creed or political faith. We have declared war on radicalism and we are prepared to carry on."
