Seeing Things Which Are Not There.

visualize things which do not exist. In small places people are both of you. always trying to read into things spoken or written, meanings which are not there. It is a village state of mind. It smacks of STEEL COMPANY instability and of littleness and is something to be avoided.

In conversation people often say things which must not be taken seriously. Often the tone of voice or inflection indicates the meaning which is to be taken from an expression.

In small places where people are shut in on themselves and have little contact with the outside world, there is a tendency to become morbid. That is why it is desirable to enjoy innocent amusements. The person who does not take exercise or who does not play games is very apt to get the wrong slant on things and to be looking for insults. A depressing atmosphere and lack of proper exhiliarating movement is responsible for many of the ill humors which are prevalent throughout the country.

Open Letter to Hon. W. J. Bowser and R. H. Pooley

Sirs-In the local press I see that Mr. Pooley made the statement in the House that I had fled to New Brunswick to evade exposure in regard to the sale of liquor in Prince Rupert. When you two gentlemen were on the public platform in Prince Rupert, Mr. Bowser paid considerable attention to myself and endeavored to plant in the minds of people that I was some disreputable character with whom the Oliver government

I wish to take this opportunity of advising you that your epeated attempts to place me in a bad light with the public have at last reached a point where I feel justified in offering a protest to the continuous stream of falsehood.

I am carrying on a reputable exporting liquor business in conformity with the laws of the province of British Columbia and I have never asked or received any special consideration at the hands of the provincial government.

In your endeavor to cast discredit on the Oliver government you have access to all that is fair and legitimate, but I most emphatically protest against the unfair and false statements you have made in connection with myself.

I did not flee to New Brunswick. I was never there in my life, neither did I flee to any other place. I never had to flee and never expect to have to run from any man.

My reputation is just as good as the reputation either one of you possess and my family ties are just as dear to me as they are to any citizen, and I will defend the good name of my personal business, my integrity and my citizenship whenever it is lattacked in the despicable way in which you have done.

I ask you to seek some other game than myself as I con-Archbishop Duvernet says that by concentration we can sider my name and reputation to be equally as good as either or O. BESNER.

"The Coast Range Steel Co. is capitalized from fifteen million dollars of common stock which Mr. Landahl states he is prepared to put in the hands of the provincial government. Under ordinary conditions this stock would of course control the operation of the company but in view of the fact that the provincial and imperial authorities would be providing all the funds proposed to be expended, this common stock has no value and should in no way control the operation of the company.

at net cost. To profit-participating policyholders, it means a very low cost because Mutual Life profits reduce the amount of money that must be paid in by the policyholders as premiums.

Here is a case, based on a $10,000, twenty-payment life policy, taken out in 1903 when the policyholder was 35 years of age. At the end of the twenty-year period, he decided to accept the cash value of his policy. He accordingly surrendered the policy and received a cheque from the Mutual Life of Canada for $6,923-$1,141 more than he paid in.

a total of $5,782. That is to say, he received all the money back that he had paid in, and $1,141 besides.

He had emjoyed $10,000 of insurance protection during all these 20 years, the most active period of his business life, and in the final analysis. Mutual Insurance cost him nothing and paid him interest on his money.

If, instead of accepting the cash surrender value of his policy, this policyholder had decided to continue his insurance beyond twenty years, no further premiums would In the 20 years during which the policy twenty years, no further premiums would had been in force he had paid in as premiums have been required and he would have received a dividend cheque for his profits annualls. In addition to this, the cash value of the insurance would have continued to increase, so that the average annual cost o the insurance over the whole period would be counterbalanced more completely every
