ALDER TO BE P. R. DELEGATE

Will Represent This City Supporting Northern Highway Route at Convention

At the meeting of the board of trade last night it was decided on motion of H. F. Pullen, seconded by F. G. Dawson, to instruct the delegate at the board of trade convention to support the Fraser Canyon Highway for the southern trans-provincial road as against the Hope Princeton route. The board of trade has voluminous correspondence in regard to the rival routes but it was felt that not only was the Fraser River route more likely to benefit northern British Columbia but that in every respect it was the better route to follow, being open longer each year, passing through a better country and serving the needs of the province as a whole much better then the route over the Hope Mountains.

The resolution was carried and a copy will be forwarded to W. J. Alder along with the necessary authority to represent the board at the convention, November 16 and 17. Mr. Alder will also present resolutions pressing for the construction of the Skeena River highway and other matters of interest to this district. In a letter to the board he signified his readiness to act on their behalf.

THERE seems to be a very general feeling throughout the country that the city formerly known as "Toronto the Good" should now be labelled "Toronto the Bad" because criminals operate there with impunity and seldom are caught.

SHE was a maiden fair to see
Attractive and petite
She stole away the heart of me
She looked so very sweet,
And then she wagged her gentle chin
And I was stricken dumb
For with a gentle, girlish grin
She smacked her gum.

THIS is the way we choose a mayor:
We look around for a genius rare,
We find a man with a record lean—
No beginning or end and nothing between.
We set him up and a vote is taken;
We elect him before the voters waken,
And during the year we peddle hot air.
That's democracy's method of choosing a mayor.

Under the caption "International Rugby Prospects," the Ottawa Citizen continues to boost the English style of rugby for adoption in Canada. "There does not seem to be any immediate likelihood of Canada's hold on the world's hockey championship being seriously challenged. Canadian hockey players would be the first to welcome challengers from any other country," says the editorial, which continues: "In the other nations under the British flag, however, young players have no such opportunity for learning the wonderful winter game on the ice as they have in Canada. It is probable that Canada would still hold the championship for lacrosse, too, but for the element of roughness that so detracted from the pleasure of the game that it finally deprived this country of the lead in the truly Canadian outdoor game.

"Rugby football, as played in Great Britain, is the game that is also played in every other British country excepting Canada. Because Canadian schools have been led to follow the American style of Rugby, Canada is unable to participate on an equal footing with Australia, New Zealand or South Africa in the great international tours that are made by the rugby football teams within the league of British nations. It is stated that the New Zealanders intend to tour Great Britain again next year. In the tour they made in 1915 they were beaten only once, when Wales furnished an international team that won their game against the New Zealanders. The Springboks of South Africa similarly made a victorious tour of the British Isles. Canada has the men who could win similar renown for Canadian football, but until the Canadian Universities and colleges become inspired with the broader vision of playing the game as it is played elsewhere in the British Commonwealth, nobody outside of this country knows that Canada is a football players' country—as a young man's country should be.

"The Rugby Union game would attract a great following in Canada. Perhaps as the public interest grows in such efforts as are being made in Ottawa, Montreal and other Canadian cities to promote the game, univerties like Toronto, McGill and Queens, and the R.M.C. at Kingston, may be inspired to adopt the British game, so that visiting teams from the other nations in the Commonwealth, as well as from the Mother Country, would find foemen worthy of their steel, in Canada. Before many years Canada promises to be in the first rank among the Association football countries. The youngsters are taking up Soccer with enthusiasm. They would go in for the Rugby Union game with just as much enthusiasm, given the opportunity."

British Columbia long ago adopted the Rugby Union rules and today in most of the cities of the province there are rugby teams. The game cannot well be played in Prince Rupert, as there is no ground here suitable. Turf is necessary where there are scrimmages and where tackling is the rule.
