The Passing Of A Wonderful Woman.

Sarah Bernhardt, the "Divine Sarah," greatest emotional actress of her age, who died yesterday, was known throughout the world, better than any other artist. A French woman she was also known in England, the United States, and Canada, as well as in many other countries which she visited.

Henry Ford And His Book.

Henry Ford has written a book in collaboration with Samuel Crowther. This means that the ideas are Henry's but the form is Crowther's. The greatest part of this book is the introduction and it is worth reading two or three times.

"I am not a reformer, I think there is entirely too much attempt at reforming in the world and that we pay too much attention to reformers. We have two kinds of reformers. Both are nuisances. The man who calls himself a reformer wants to smash things. He is the sort of man who would tear up a whole shirt because the collar button did not fit the buttonhole.

And again: "The very young critic is very much unbalanced. He is strongly in favor of wiping out the old order and starting a new one. They actually managed to start a new world in Russia. It is there that the work of the world makers can best be studied: We learn from Russia that it is the minority and not the majority who determine destructive action. We learn also that while men may decree social laws in conflict with natural laws, Nature vetoes those laws more ruthlessly than did the Czars. Nature has vetoed the whole Soviet republic, for it sought to deny nature. It denied above all else the right to the fruits of labor. Some people say 'Russia will have to go to work,' but that does not describe the case. The fact is that poor Russia is at work but her work counts for nothing. It is not free work. In the United States a workman works eight hours a day; in Russia he works twelve to fourteen. In the United States if a man wishes to lay off a day or a week and is able to afford it, there is nothing to prevent him. In Russia under Sovietism the workman goes to work whether he wants to or not. The freedom of the citizen has disappeared in the discipline of a prison-like monotony, in which all are treated alike. That is slavery. Freedom is the right to work a decent length of time and to get a decent living for doing so; to be able to arrange the little personal details of one's own life. It is the aggregate of these and many other items of freedom which make up the great idealistic freedom. The minor forms of freedom lubricate the every day life of all of us."

Ford Warns Against Reactionaries.

Ford also warns against reactionaries. He says: "One of the counsels of caution is to be very certain that we do not mistake a reactionary turn for a return to commonsense. We have passed through a period of fireworks of every description, and the making of a great many idealist maps of progress. We did not get anywhere. It was a convention, not a march. Lovely things were said, but when we got home we found the furnace out. Reactionaries have frequently taken advantage of the recoil from such a period and they have promised 'the good old times' which usually means the bad old abuses, and because they are perfectly void of vision they are sometimes regarded as practical men. Their return to power is often hailed as the return of commonsense."

There are a lot of other interesting things in the chapter that will be worth considering another day.

Mother and Her Baby Are Relieved of Eczema

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Salt Burn, Sask., writes: "Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

WOULD ABOLISH METER RENTS ELECTRIC LIGHT

In View of Present Financial Situation, Report of Utilities Committee Is Referred Back

The city council has now under consideration a report from the public utilities committee recommending the abolition of meter rents and the establishing of a $1 a month minimum charge for lighting service. The report was brought in at last night's meeting but representations were made that the present financial condition of the city did not warrant the cutting off of any revenues so it was left over for a week to be further reported on by the committee.

Ald. Macdonald in speaking to the report, said that the abolition of the meter rents would mean a loss in revenue of $1,700 a year but most of the users had more than twice paid for their meters already so it was felt some reduction was due them in view of the fact that the collection of these rents could not be forced under the bylaw anyway. A reduction was also due the consumers in view of the fact that the operation of the department had now been reduced by some $12,000 yearly.

Financial Condition Ald. Stephens said that the financial condition of the city did not warrant any revenue being cut off at this time. Taxation would be late in coming in this year and the city would be put to it to find sufficient funds to carry on in the meantime. Already it had been necessary to increase the temporary borrowing bylaw. The fact that the G.T.P. Development Co. was about to take its taxation appeal to the Court of Appeals would further delay the collection of taxes. If the bylaw did not give the city the power to collect meter rents it might be changed so that it did. All money available was needed now.

CITY RELEASED FROM HAYS CREEK CONTRACT

John Harris, of Atlas Boiler Works, to be Paid $500 in View of Change in Plans

In consideration of the sum of $500, John Harris, manager of the Atlas Boiler Works, has released the city from its contract in connection with the Hays Creek Bridge, the original plans of which are to be changed by the council to a less expensive structure. A report from the city solicitor stating that such an agreement had been reached was adopted by the council last night. The matter of E. H. Shoekley's contract in connection with the bridge will be dealt with next week by the council.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

The St. Andrew's Society formally opened the commodious new club rooms in the Little Block on Second Avenue last night with a very successful social. Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. J. H. Kelly, W. M. Brown, Miss Katrina and Walter Longwill. Refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed to the strains of music provided by McMeekin's Orchestra.

The sale of lots on Port Edward townsite by Harrison & Gamble is progressing satisfactorily. There are several local buyers and many inquiries have been received from the outside. W. B. Baer, who is in charge of the sale, reports.

The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.'s schooner Zibassa, Capt. W. Parsons, arrived from the fishing banks yesterday with 49,000 pounds of halibut representing six days fishing.

CITY FATHERS THROW OUT VERBAL BOUQUETS

New Departmental Heads Are Considered to be Acme of Value to Municipality

Despite the rather heated moments that prevailed for a time at last night's council meeting, the city fathers also took occasion to pass a few flowery bouquets of verbal nature when they plumed themselves on the acquiring of such splendid departmental heads as now have taken their places in the city service.

Ald. Stephens spoke of the able defence of City Solicitor Jones in connection with the G.T.P. Development Co.'s taxation appeal and congratulated that official on the success that had resulted.

Ald. Macdonald complimented the new city engineer on the way he had taken hold. The council had secured a man that it was well justified in appointing. He would be ready to support any of his recommendations.

Ald. Stephens thought all the new department heads, city solicitor, city engineer, superintendent of utilities and city treasurer, would measure up to the responsibility and confidence that had been vested in them. It was only to be hoped that they would not be involved in any of the differences of a rather disputant council.

CHURCH KINDERGARTEN HAD AN OPEN SESSION

Work of 50 or so Children at Methodist Church Was Viewed by Interested Mothers Yesterday

There was an open session of the Methodist Church kindergarten yesterday afternoon when about a score of mothers visited the class and watched with interest and appreciation the work and play of the fifty or so children attending. The youngsters played games, had marches, told stories and sang motion songs. Miss Haddock, the instructor, had prepared a sand table loaded with Easter rabbits, chickens and eggs and gave an illustrated Easter story. The children have exhibitions of paper weaving and card sewing and, at the conclusion of the session, took home their work and tokens of the Easter season with which they had been presented.

The work of the Methodist Kindergarten opened in January and had been carried on with great success. Miss Haddock and Mrs. Baeker have been conducting the classes, valuable assistance being given by Miss Stella Nickerson and Mrs. Einar Larsen.

Suffered from PIMPLES & BLOTCHES for Fifteen Years

When the blood becomes impure it is only natural that pimples, blotches, boils or some other blood trouble will manifest itself by breaking out of the system.

There is only one way to get rid of these obnoxious skin troubles, and that is by giving the impure blood a thorough cleansing by the use of a good blood purifier such as

Burdock Blood Bitters

This remarkable remedy has been on the market for over forty years; is the best obtainable, and will do all we claim for it as a blood cleanser.

Mr. Albert R. De Witte, Lake Valley, Sask., writes:—"I have suffered very much from pimples and unsightly blotches for the past fifteen years, and was so bad I hated to go out anywhere. I tried many different medicines, but none seemed to help. A friend told me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I have used three and a half bottles, and now I have a clear, rosy complexion."
