Though Mrs. Jeffrey's leg ulcer defied the best of medical treatment for years, it soon yielded to Zam-Buk.

"Thirty-three years ago an ulcer appeared on my leg," she says, writing from 31, French St., Methuen, Man. "In spite of all remedies, it gradually spread up towards my knee and developed into all kinds of open sores. Twenty-five years of medical treatment brought nothing better than temporary relief."

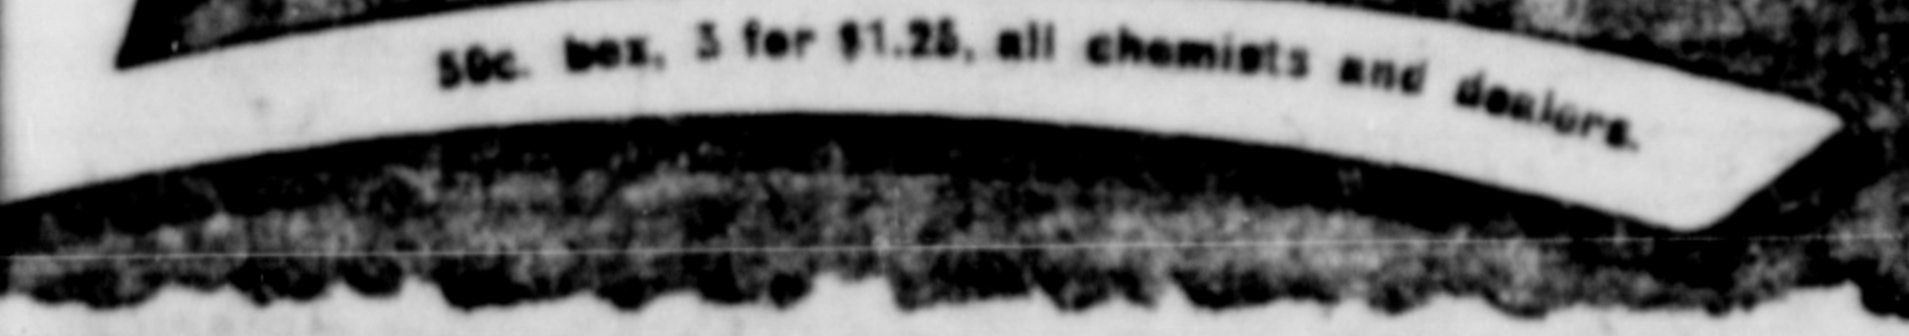

"The pain was something terrible and for years my leg was in such a shocking state that I couldn't leave the house."

"One day I read a newspaper account of a bad ulcer having been cured by Zam-Buk. Although very sceptical after having spent money on so many useless remedies, I decided to give Zam-Buk a trial. To my delight the ulcer soon began to show signs of improvement."

"Gradually Zam-Buk drew away all inflammation and corruption and I began to realize that at last, I was on the right road to recovery. Further persistence with Zam-Buk resulted in the actual sore being finally and completely healed."

"During the last three years there has not been the least recurrence of the trouble returning."

DOCTORS REQUEST DRUG SUPPRESSION

Winnipeg Medicos View With Alarm Prevalence of Drug Addicts

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2. — Viewing with alarm the increase in the number of drug addicts in the Dominion, and in Manitoba, the council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Manitoba, at a special meeting in the Medical College, passed a resolution requesting the Dominion government to stop the promiscuous use of narcotics. The resolution passed by the council was framed as follows:

"That the council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Manitoba look with grave concern on the tremendous increase in the use of narcotics, and request the Dominion government to take steps for the prevention of the promiscuous use thereof."

Stringent Regulations

In the discussion which was provoked on this question, it was unanimously felt by the council that stringent regulation should be put into force in regard both to the prescription and the use of narcotics in view of the statistics which show that the use of drugs is becoming a serious menace to Canada's civilized life. Latest available figures show that there are 2,000,000 drug addicts in the United States and some 60,000 in Canada, while in Greater Winnipeg there are between 5,00 and 6,000. Statistics also show that the drug habit is acquired by people between the ages of 15 and 25 years. It is felt by members of the council that a solution of this problem would best be met by the establishment of a government department which would deal with the matter by institutional treatment. One of the most difficult things to deal with at the present time is the bootlegging of narcotics, declared one member of the council, out of which enormous profits are made. Drugs costing $4 an ounce are retailed to the unfortunate addicts at $50 to $100 an ounce, it was stated.

IMMIGRATION YESTERDAY AT ROTARY CLUB

Rev. G. G. Haecker Gives Interesting Address in Regard to Timely Subject

There is to day a good deal of talk of building large cities in Canada but this will not be done until the vacant lands of the country are filled up said Rev. G. G. Haecker in addressing the Rotary Club yesterday. When people come here and cultivate the land, the railways and business houses will prosper. There is room here for millions.

Immigration has in the past been subject to a number of booms, said the speaker. Growing pains were healthy but indigestion and dyspepsia were not. He suggested selected immigration as the solution of the difficulty. He said he was not championing any political party but he thought Hon. T. D. Pattullo had the right idea in regard to this. People should be brought from the right countries and the right class of people.

Bulk are British

Canadians sometime get the idea that they were overrun by foreigners. Mr. Haecker showed a diagram to illustrate the comparative sizes of the European countries from which immigration came and indicated that they could all be placed in Canada and still there would be lots of room left. He also showed the variations in immigration, the different years showing very different results in this respect. In this immigration Orientals were a negligible quantity. The bulk were British speaking people.

Immigration, Mr. Haecker said, was largely a western problem. Very few settled in the East. British Columbia had received thirty per cent British and twenty-seven per cent foreign while in Saskatchewan the foreign preponderated over the British. It was desirable to get worthy settlers.

Oriental

In regard to the Chinese, the speaker showed the disabilities under which they labored, yet from a disease standpoint they compared favorably with others. For fifty of other foreigners in the hospitals there were four Chinese, one Japanese and one Hindu. Chinese were at the foot of the list in regard to disease, compared with the population.

In the matter of crime, out of every ten thousand Italy provided 38, United States 22, French 21, Austria 10, Russia 9, Germany 9, Britain 7, Scandinavia 7, Chinese 5.

Most writers claim that the objection to Oriental immigration is economic rather than racial. In Ontario there was once a cry against the English coming in.

Mr. Haecker told how the Japanese had overrun the Hawaiian Islands until they were sufficiently numerous to control the vote should the territory be admitted to statehood. In California they had crowded out the American farmers but the situation was much exaggerated. Much of their success had been due to co-operation. The middle name of the Japanese race was co-operation. While much was heard of the Japanese in California, there were just as many in proportion to the population in Washington but the situation there had been handled better. Labor Unions had recognized them and elevated their economic status.

On Par With Whites

In Canada British subjects were largely to blame for the creeping in of the Oriental. The element of hatred had done a lot of harm. In Washington they had been

SHIP SUBSIDY BILL MAY BE DROPPED

Advocates Are Losing Hope; Lower Railway Rates Demanded

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — (By Canadian Press) — In recent conferences, including a conference at a dinner given by Senator Capper of Kansas, who is chairman of the farm bloc, the agricultural group in the Senate framed its legislative program for the rest of the session, ending March 4.

This program is such as to make it more than ever unlikely the ship subsidy bill will be passed. Influence of the farm bloc is such in the Senate that once it agrees on a program, successful resistance thereto is improbable.

It is believed that the two farm credits bills now before the Senate, the Capper bill and the Lenroot bill, will be passed. The truth-in-fabrics bill, aimed at the use of shoddy in the guise of pure wool, will be taken up also and likewise what is known as the filled milk bill, of great interest to dairymen. The ship subsidy bill will be laid aside while these bills are pending.

With about a month and a half left of this session and with agricultural measures sure to take up half or more of that time, the advocates of subsidy are rapidly losing hope of their measure.

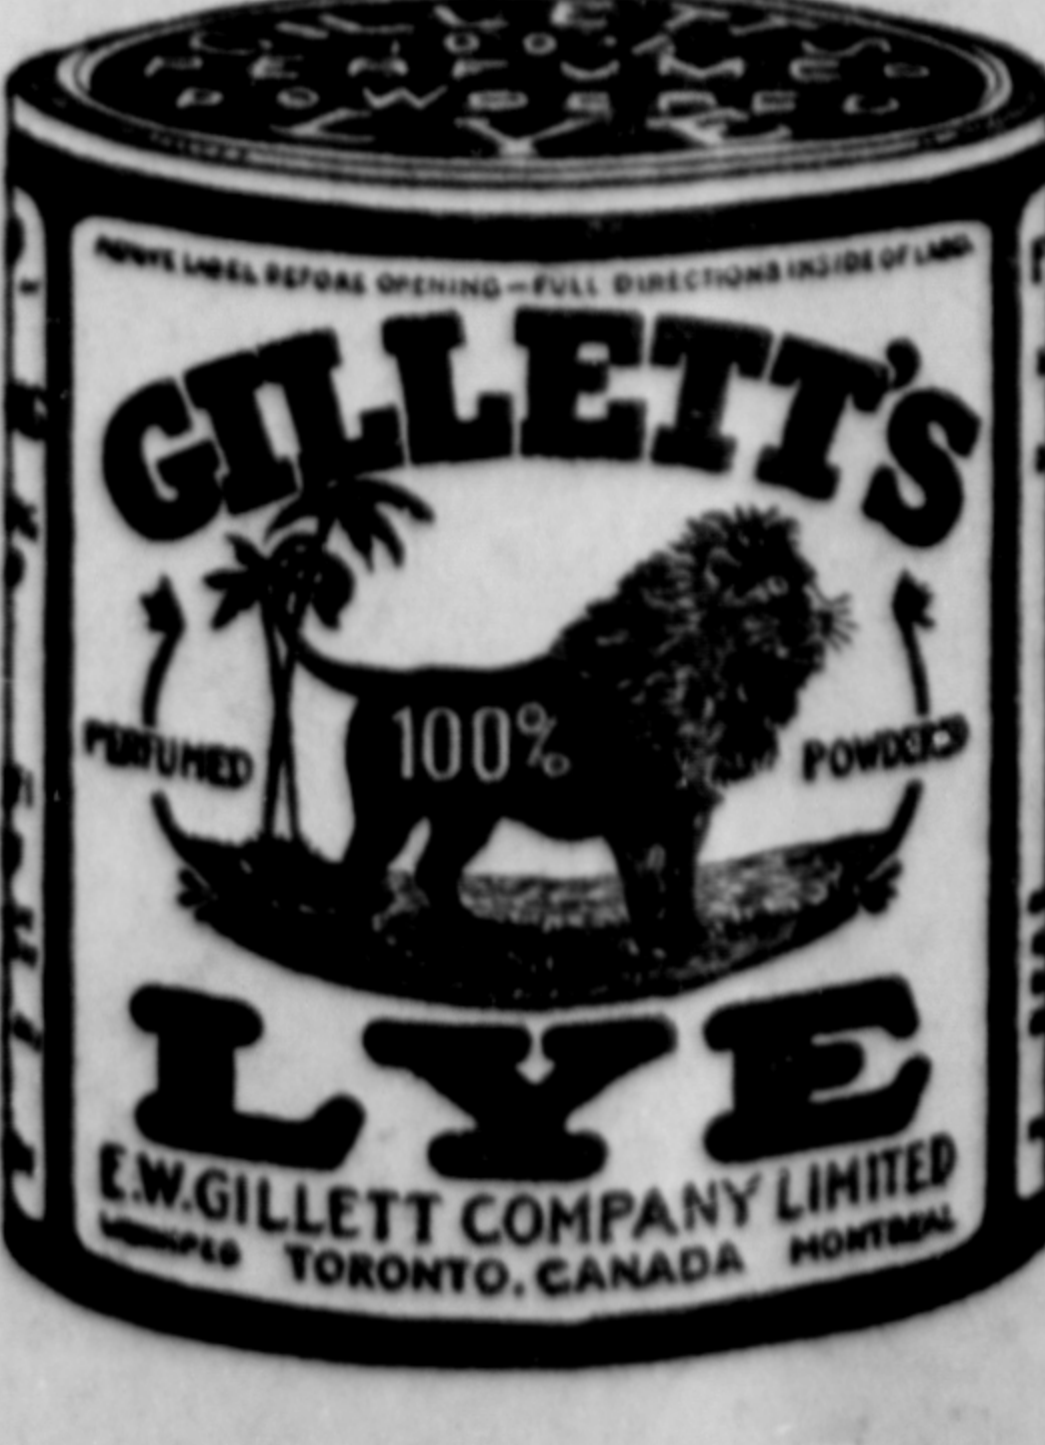

What will be done about the merchant marine in case subsidy legislation fails, is an uncertainty.

Railroad legislation, looking to lower rates, is strongly demanded by the farm bloc but will have to wait on the new Congress.
