"One day last Fall whilst away in the woods, I cut my leg severely. Proper surgical attention was unavailable, and poisoning developed causing the leg to swell to twice normal size. The wound had defied every other salve and remedy when Zam-Buk was brought and applied.

"From the first this herbal balm had a most gratifying effect. It removed pain in a surprising way, caused the wound to lose its swollen inflamed appearance, and by degrees accomplished complete and perfect healing. It made me realize that you can't do without Zam-Buk."

SALE OF LOT IS QUESTION

Squabble in City Council Over Right of Ald. Collart to Purchase

RESOLUTION TO RESCIND Much Discussion Before Matter is Laid Over For Legal Advice

Rumblings of an impending mayoralty contest were distinctly audible at last night's council meeting. A resolution submitted by Ald. Munro calling for the cancellation of a tax sale lot transaction earlier in the year in which Ald. Collart was involved as purchaser was taken by the alderman in question, Ald. Stephens and Ald. Macdonald as a personal attack against Ald. Collart and some rather heated words were the result. The resolution, which was finally laid on the table pending legal advice being obtained with respect to it, was as follows:

"Whereas a resolution was passed in the city council on April 9, 1923, as follows:

"Your finance committee recommends that lot 76, block 20, section 2, be sold to Paul Taillandier if found in order for the sum of $150;

"And whereas the city council has no legal authority to sell the property in this manner and Paul Taillandier has not presented himself to purchase the property;

"I move the above resolution be rescinded."

In order to bring the resolution up for discussion, it was seconded by Ald. Mackenzie.

Fish and Flesh

Ald. Stephens said he would like to ask the Sheriff Holmes of the council what he intended to do with two other lots that were voted upon earlier in the year in a similar manner. He did not see why he should make fish of one and flesh of another.

Ald. Munro replied that the other transactions were probably illegal also, though he did not think the circumstances attending them were similar to this one. This lot had not been purchased by Paul Taillandier, the man who made the offer for it.

"I think that it would be very proper for Ald. Collart to second this resolution as it may get him out of a very serious difficulty which might mean his disqualification and a penalty of $2,500. I have no doubt that the transaction is not in order and that it must be rescinded. Possibly, it is a good thing for Ald. Collart that it can be rescinded."

For Legal Advice

In suggesting that the resolution be laid over for legal advice, Ald. Macdonald ventured the opinion that it was not meant to help Ald. Collart and that it would possibly have never been presented had Ald. Collart not purchased the lot in question. He did not hold any brief for Ald. Collart but he would continue to give each and every alderman a square deal. Ald. Collart had made an open and square offer for the lot in question after the bidder had failed to call for it.

Ald. Stephens stated that he did not understand at first that a personal attack was being launched. Apparently Ald. Munro was not after Paul Taillandier but someone else. "Ald. Munro should be man enough to come and take his share of the blame for the transaction instead of seeking to draw other people into it. I do not think he raises himself in the opinion of this council or anybody else when he takes the credit for detective work done by ex-Ald. Hamilton Douglas when he was here last summer. He could have found at least two other errors for a similar nature."

Sympathy For Collart

"There seems to be a lot of sympathy for Ald. Collart from two other members of the council," replied Ald. Munro. "This deal must come out, however, and perhaps not at as opportune a time for Ald. Collart as now. Any taxpayer could enter an action. I did not suggest any detective work on my part and it is not an attack on Ald. Collart personally. The resolution is a result of looking up and comparing the price that was paid for this lot and the offer from Mr. Shrubbsall, which has been turned down for another. The council has done something that is not according to law and it seems to me that it is the duty of every alderman to see that it is rectified."

Ald. Macdonald suggested that a grand stand play was possibly being enacted as a preliminary to the mayoralty campaign. The time to bring such a resolution as this forward would have been when the mistake was first discovered, he felt.

Stephens to Rescue

"Though I am an announced opponent of Ald. Collart for the mayoralty I have enough confidence in his integrity to believe that our fight will be a clean and square one," stated Ald. Stephens, "and I sympathize with him tonight because I look upon this as a despicable act directed by one alderman against another and one that cannot be defended upon the public platform. If the matter is carried into the mayoralty contest I can assure the one who launches it that I will not treat him with the same consideration as I would the aspirant who fights squarely."

Ald. Collart took the resolution as a low means to get him out like to ask the Sheriff Holmes of the council what he intended to do with two other lots that were voted upon earlier in the year in a similar manner. He did not see why he should make fish of one and flesh of another.

Ald. Munro replied that the other transactions were probably illegal also, though he did not think the circumstances attending them were similar to this one. This lot had not been purchased by Paul Taillandier, the man who made the offer for it.

The wares of the world must appear before you--the product of every factory--the merchandise of every store. Those things that fail to measure up to your requirements are quickly condemned to oblivion

The manufacturer who advertises deliberately places his merchandise on trial. He openly courts your critical inspection. He invites comparison. He directs your attention to his goods and then forces those goods to stand on their own merits.

If he were not sure of his wares he would not dare to advertise. For advertising would put him to a test he could not meet, and thus hasten the end of his business career. It would be business suicide.

You can depend on the man who advertises. He knows his product is good.

That's one reason why it pays to read the advertisements you find in this paper. It is through advertising that you are able to keep in touch with the good things that progressive business men are spending their money to introduce and to keep before you.
