Just What is Election About?

A number of people have asked us to explain just what the election is about in Great Britain. Premier Baldwin is the man who knows best and he says his one idea is to deal with the unemployment problem in that country by encouraging home industries. Also he would develop business within the British Empire. There are six proposals he makes in his speeches and he summarizes them himself something like this:

To put a tax on manufactured goods with special regard to those imports that cause the greatest amount of unemployment among the people.

To give a substantial preference to the Dominions.

To put no tax on wheat or meat.

To have investigated most carefully the best way to help agriculture and maintain the tillage of the nation without taxing the people's food.

To examine and co-ordinate and improve existing insurance against those evils that affect the life and health of the people such as old age, ill health, and unemployment.

To do everything possible to develop the Empire.

The feature stressed more than anything in the campaign is the conservation of the home market for the British manufacturer with a view to providing a home market for labor.

Size Of Family Is On Decrease.

The census officials tell us that the size of the Canadian family is dwindling, says the Edmonton Bulletin. In 1881 there were on the average 5.33 persons to the Canadian family; in 1921 there were only 4.62. Quebec is the saving exception to the rule, the average number there having increased in the forty year period from 5.33 to 5.34. But in the last ten years of the period even Quebec succumbed to the tendency in the other provinces, and only Alberta and Saskatchewan showed a gain in the proportions of the average family. Barring this showing from the two prairie provinces, we shall as a nation have to fall back on the argument that the quality is improving as the quantity shrinks.

Who Has Keenest Sense of Humor?

Israel Zangwill the novelist and playwright declares that the American has no sense of humor and this applies very largely to Canadians because Canada is more American than British in its literary preferences. This is the same Zangwill that told the American people they were the best half-educated people in the world.

American humor, it is pointed out, is very largely exaggeration. It is typified in the leading humorous weekly "Life." On the other hand British humor is less obvious and often the result of understatement rather than exaggeration. This is exemplified in the humorous weekly "Punch." An eastern writer says American humor is for those who like to enjoy their humor accompanied by audible outbursts of laughter which have their origin south of the diaphragm. It is obvious, racy, effective and quite respectable. The English humor induces the sly smile or sagacious chuckle.

Alberta Finds Liquor Difficult Problem.

The Farmer Government of Alberta finds the liquor problem more trouble to them since the people have decided what they want than it was before the vote was taken. Cabinet council has followed cabinet council and while they have been dry meetings they have dealt with a wet subject and they are still dealing with it. The vote seemed simple enough but there are hundreds of different opinions now as to just what the people meant when they cast the vote. However, by the time the Christmas festivities are over the cabinet will have probably made up its mind and then the fight will begin in the Legislature.

BOYS AND GIRLS WORK DISCUSSED

Rev. G. G. Hacker Delivered Interesting and Instructive Address Before Gyro Club

Urging that the club pursue steadfastly its announced intentions with respect to the betterment of conditions for boys and girls of Prince Rupert until it has achieved some accomplishment of its policies, Rev. G. G. Hacker delivered an interesting and instructive address before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club last night at its regular fortnightly luncheon meeting. Mr. Hacker gave several valuable hints as to means of obtaining success in the work with the young and offered some suggestions for work that might be immediately carried out in Prince Rupert.

In opening his address, Mr. Hacker complimented the Gyro Club on its selection of policy for community service and stated that no more valuable work could be carried on than by devoting its efforts to the cause of the boys and girls. He told how the idea had developed throughout the world and how many successful men and women in the past had owed their accomplishments at least in part to the guiding ideals and assistance of their parents or mentors.

Scientific Methods

Analysing the characteristics of the youth and how they might best be dealt with, Mr. Hacker submitted to the meeting programs and charts as to the scientific study of juvenile work. To become successful it was necessary that the boy or girl should be evenly developed mentally and physically and that due heed be paid to the various conditions of mind and body which went to make up successful lives. A boy was the greatest of psychologists, Mr. Hacker said, and it was highly important that the motives of those who led and worked with them should be well studied out and established on reason. If the boy felt the right of a thing and was made responsible, he would invariably respond. It was necessary that respect be obtained and that could not be established if those who proposed to lead boys were not at all times prepared to reason things out with them. Making the boy responsible was another great factor in the success of work with him.

Local Requirements

Speaking of local matters with respect to work for boys and girls, Mr. Hacker urged that the Gyro Club, wherever possible, give the boys the chance to assist them and to take a lively interest in their work making them responsible for some part of it. This could be done in connection with the skating rink. The

INDIGESTION GAS ON STOMACH PAINS AFTER MEALS

Many people suffer terribly from gas and pains in the stomach after every meal, and are kept in constant misery.

For the past 44 years Burdock Blood Bitters has been bringing hope and joy to thousands suffering from various forms of stomach trouble, helping them to eat three square meals a day, helping them to eat anything they wish, without having to suffer for it after.

Mr. Fred Nielson, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes:—"All last summer I was troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion, and also gas on the stomach. I could not eat anything except some light food and even then I would be bothered with pains after each meal. I could not work a whole day without being done out. I had tried everything; doctors, medicines and pills, until I read about Burdock Blood Bitters. I have taken four bottles and it has nearly, if not completely, restored me to health again."

speaker urged that, in its program for the Salt Lakes, the Gyro Club take steps towards having a submerged float, provided so that conditions for those learning to swim would not be so hazardous. Mr. Hacker dealt with the matter of establishing a Y.M.C.A. and offered the suggestion that such might best be obtained by soliciting the financial aid of industrial concerns. He also urged as a badly felt need here the establishment of a summer camp. In the matter of sport, the Gyro Club might successfully establish a volley ball league among the boys and girls. Closing his address, Mr. Hacker referred briefly to the work being carried on at the Methodist Church gymnasium and offered his personal co-operation and assistance in the carrying out of any worthy program that the club might see fit to adopt.

The hearty thanks of the club for the address that had been delivered was tendered by President Milton Gonzales to Mr. Hacker.

Contributing to the program of the evening were J. Morrison and Frank Moore with vocal solos. W. Vaughan Davies was piano accompanist. In the absence of Lionel Holby, A. R. Nichols is acting chairman of the Gyro Club entertainment committee.

Guests of the evening were Thomas Craig of Calgary; J. Morrison, Union Bank, Prince Rupert; Frank Moore, Imperial Oil Co., Prince Rupert; Rev. G. G. Hacker; J. J. Thompson, Vancouver; Lieut. H. J. F. Hibbard, R. C. N., Ottawa; W. C. Orchard, CPR general agent, Prince Rupert; A. W. Healy, F. G. Dawson Co. Ltd.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:

IT was adding insult to injury to handoff the policeman's wrists to the handles of his motorcycle, during the robbery at Seattle yesterday.

BECAUSE the postmaster at Montreal was short of cash he was let out of his job. If all of us that were short of the needful were let out, the world would be full of unemployed.

THE police do their duty a good deal of the time but there is one law they might look into a little more carefully. It is the law of supply and demand. I personally have no difficulty with the demand but the supply often bothers me.

IT'S better to think you are getting along in the world than to fail to get on and know that you fail.

THE man who knows himself to be a failure has lost his self respect.

THERE is usually a winner and also one that ought to have won.

There is Much Anxiety Over Children's Colds

WE do not mind so much having colds ourselves, for we imagine we can tell when they are getting serious and apply the remedy. But when the children cough it is different. Especially does the sharp, metallic cough of croup send a thrill through the mother's nervous system. The trouble is the child does not realize the danger, cannot describe the trouble, and all depends on the prompt action of his elders. Why not be on the safe side by always keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine on hand for use in case of emergency? Croup and bad colds usually develop in the night, when it is not convenient to send for treatment, even if you are within reach of a drug store.

Being pleasant to the taste, gentle and soothing in action, and composed of simple ingredients of well-known medicinal value, this medicine is especially suited for children, as a relief from coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, sore throat, whooping cough, etc.

In very many thousands of homes it is the old favorite treatment which has proven its exceptional value so many times that it is depended upon absolutely.

Next to knowing what to use, the most important point is to apply the treatment promptly, and this is why we emphasize the necessity of keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine on hand at all times. For this reason it is well to get in the way of buying the large, family-size bottle. This ensures an adequate supply.
