No Wrong Doing

"I say there is either no wrong doing or Mr. Bowser and his associates in the House have absolutely failed in their duty in not reporting it to the legislature.

Now I must come to another phase. Why do we not stop and talk to the common people like 8-16-28 they do? I am sure that you must have been pleased with the condecension of the leader of the opposition in descending to talk with you. I myself do not need to descend. Entitled to Road

"I agree that you ought to have a road and that you are entitled to it just as much as they are entitled to roads in Vancouver or any other part of the south. It will be the policy of the government to give you that road just as soon as our finances permit. Some of my Liberal friends here before this meeting told me that the road has already been delayed too long, but financial difficulties are great and we must put the money where it will give the best return. I know that policy does not give perfect equity but there was only one man who came to earth that was perfect and he was hanged to a tree."

In one year, 1906, the revenue had jumped up from $3,-600,000 to $12,000,000 by means of land sales. In 1911 the govindebtedness and had a surplus lars of this in 1917 had become lots. an active liability and that year the government paid interest of $1,053,000. Had it not been for the federal government the whole 874,000,000 would have been an active liability today. Only after a most thorough investigation Mr. Oliver said there seemed had the government (reluctantly)

8273,000: right of way, $900,000-a total of $18,000,000-a legacy from the Conservative government.

Mr. Oliver pointed out that the taking over of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. described by General McRae, as "the great betrayal," had been approved by Dr. J. W. McIntosh, then M.P. in the legislature and John Nelson editorially in the Vancouver World. Both were now active members of the Provincial party using "the great betrayal" as their strongest campaign material. Of the balance of the increase in public debt, $3,600,000 was accounted for by the Land Settlement Board, $1,025,000 by the department of industries. $1,475 .-000 by loans for irrigation, etc. The Borden Co. Limited Out of the $32,000,000 only $3,for strictly governmental purposes and that was borrowed under the Highway Act.

Decreased Percentage

"If you take the civil service list of 1916-17 you will find that it amounted to 34 1/2 per cent of the revenue in the last year in the Bowser government. Last year under the Oliver government it amounted to a fraction over 17 per cent of the revenue.

Mr. Oliver predicted that this would be the last time Mr. Bowser would appeal to the people. If he was rejected in the next furn him out as they had already threatened to do.

The premier charged Mr. Bowser with not referring to the building of the court house while; speaking here. In other parts of the province he held it up as one of the most glaring examples of the Oliver government's extravagance. This came from al? member of the government which at the original sale of town lots

Inconsistency

"We have made our mistakes and have not done things we might have done but in nearly every instance. where attacks are directed against us Mr. Bowser and his colleagues have voted money for the expenditure criticized. I think you will agree with me that they should show some consistency instead of attacking the government for spending money that they sanctioned and approved. We have tried to do the best we could under difficult conditions and that will continue to be our policy. If, however, you withdraw your confidence. I still have my farm and clam beach.

A worth-while Keputation

The head of one of this country's great manufacturing institutions says:

"The Man who builds and the man who buys are both beneficiaries of reputation. To the one it is a continuous spur and incentive--to the other, the strongest of all guarantees that what he buys is worthy."

Patronize the manufacturer or merchant who has a reputation for honesty and fair dealing. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his customers. He must retain the good-will of the buying public. Without this, his business cannot succeed

Every time he advertises he puts his reputation in your hands. His products or the wares he has for sale must make good. His service must be as advertised.

That is why it pays to read advertisements, to deal with advertisers and to buy advertised goods.

> Yes, it is worth your while to Read The Advertisements

I am not dependent on the salary of a premier to maintain me the balance of my lifetime."
