Two Conferences in London.

Two conferences are proceeding in London almost simultaneously. The Imperial conference deals with political and naval matters and is presided over by Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of Britain, with representatives of the governments of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Newfoundland, Ireland and India present. It will discuss such matters as imperial defence and the relation of each section of the empire to it. Foreign policy of the Empire, and inter-imperial communication by air, land or sea will also be on the agenda and such other subjects as may have to do with the Empire as a whole. Canada is represented by Premier Mackenzie King, Sir Lomer Gouin and Hon. George P. Graham.

The members of the conference will attend a very large number of social functions, so many that fear has been expressed that this would interfere with the serious work. The social aspect, however, has its useful side as it gives British people an opportunity to meet the leaders from other parts of the Empire and to exchange ideas with them. It should have a good effect both on the British people and on the visitors.

The present conference is one of the most important that has ever met because the groundwork has already been laid at previous gatherings of the kind and it will now be for this conference to decide whether it can build on that groundwork.

Loss of Albert Good For District.

While some of the districts around Prince Rupert and more particularly the Queen Charlotte Islands will suffer temporarily from the selling of the steamer Prince Albert, the whole district should gain in the long run. To begin with, the California boats will commence making regular trips to this port and the steamers plying between this coast and Great Britain will come here when there is cargo offering. New steamers will be secured for the local business that will be better suited for the work than was the Prince Albert. On the whole the gain will be ours and we shall probably before long have a fleet on this coast of which we shall be proud. Gradually we are securing for this port some of those things for which we have been asking and the sale of the Prince Albert is a step in the right direction.

Plank Roads Must Go Soon.

The plank roads must go soon. They were an indication of the ephemeral growth of this city during the early days. There was no time to make roads because the city was to blossom forth all at once as a full grown community with the prices such as only a full grown community could command. The promoters failed to look into history and note that in the early history of every city there was a struggle and that no city had arrived full grown and developed in a few years. Vancouver has been one of the most rapidly growing cities in the world yet even there setbacks have occurred and the place has been held back from time to time. The people of Vancouver have stuck together and have worked with the one great aim, that of building up a city that will be a credit to the west.

Prince Rupert may well take a lesson from Vancouver. Solidarity in civic matters should be the aim of everyone. Stick together and build. Work for the city, talk for the city, dream for the city. This is what makes for advancement.

Possibly Vancouver has made mistakes. Possibly she is too insular and selfish. If so, it is for us here to take a lesson. We must always remember that that we cannot make progress alone. That we shall be part of one great unit which includes all the country around for hundreds of miles. We can help the outlying districts and at the same time be helping ourselves. When we buy from the interior farmers, when we help develop the mines of the district, when we aid the smaller communities with their transportation problems. When we do anything which will help prosper any part of the district we are not only helping them but benefiting ourselves.

PLEDGE CARD FOR SCHOOLS

That is Proposal Made by Nanaimo School Board for Discussion by Trustees Association.

VICTORIA, Oct. 2.—Declaring that the churches have lost their hold and that the public school curriculum does not provide for sufficient moral training, the Nanaimo School Board will ask the coming convention of the British Columbia Trustees Association to move for the sending out to the schools of the Province by the Department of Education of a novel pledge card in which the signer promises to be truthful and honorable and to abstain from such practices as breaking windows, damaging gardens, etc.

That this unusual resolution is to come before the convention became known to the city School Board with the receipt here of a copy of thirty-five resolutions to be presented at the gathering of the Association at Duncan on October 16, 17 and 18. The local trustees were greatly interested in the Nanaimo plan, speaking of it informally prior to the Board meeting. The resolution reads in full:

The Resolution

"Whereas there has been a gradual decline in the number of people attending churches in comparison to the number of the population now for many years past, therefore the churches have lost their hold upon the people to such an extent until they now form but a small force or power in controlling the children and youths of the present day; and

"Whereas the children and youths of today being somewhat freed from the fear of eternal torment and punishment to restrain them in their out-of-school activities has resulted in a larger freedom of action and less responsibility, and this has resulted in a greater amount of damage to property than in times past; and

"Whereas the curriculum of the public school system contains no special moral training or special teaching of moral responsibility only as far as it may incidentally appear in the ordinary school lessons; and

"Whereas it is desirable that some broad and simple principle of moral teaching be taught in the public schools to take the place of waning influence of the churches, but free from all religious teachings;

Resolved that we, the trustees of the public schools of British Columbia, in convention assembled, petition the Education Department, at Victoria, to have printed and circulated among the schools of the province a 'Card of Honor,' or a 'Card of Good Behavior,' with proper instructions as to its signature and use."

Declaration and Promise

The following is a suggestion for such a card, accompanying the resolution:

"I, John Smith, of Nanaimo, Province of British Columbia, Canada, declare that I know no one has the right to damage or destroy anything belonging to me so I know that I have no right to damage or destroy anything belonging to others. Also, it is my duty to respect the property of others like as I wish and expect others to respect that which belongs to me; therefore, to assist me to better observe my duty to others, I make this solemn promise:

"First—I will be truthful and honorable in whatever I may do, or whatever I may be.

"Second—I will not break windows, destroy or damage trees, gardens, laws or fences, or damage other people's property, nor will I take fruit or flowers from other people's gardens or orchards.

"And do further promise I will strive and prevent others from so doing."

The proposal is that this card shall be signed and witnessed.
