

FIVE INCHES OF SNOW AT TERRACE

While Prince Rupert experienced a rainy Sunday, following a Saturday that was ideal from the weather standpoint, interior points too were receiving considerable precipitation—only in the form of snow. Reports reaching the city this morning stated that five inches of snow fell at Terrace during the weekend.

Rainfall in Prince Rupert between Saturday night and this morning totalled 1.13 inches, some of which fell in a semi-frozen condition. Official minimum temperature over the weekend was 34 degrees and the maximum on Sunday, 44.

Reports by long distance telephone from Terrace Sunday night said that five inches of snow had fallen there yesterday.

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Sunday night at the Canadian National dock saw two Union Steamship Co. coastal liners in port—the Coquitlam, Capt. John Boden, which arrived at 7 p. m. from Vancouver and waypoints, sailing at midnight for Alice Arm, Stewart and other northern points, and the Cassiar, Capt. Alex McLennan, which arrived at 1 a. m. from Massett Inlet points and sailed later this morning for Vancouver via south Queen Charlotte Island points.

LIBRARY IS INVENTORIED

Big Job Now Completed—
International Affairs
Display Coming

Members of the library board in regular session heard complete and informative reports of the librarian, Miss Olive Van Cooten, on the activities of the library during the past few months. A vote of appreciation of the work done by the librarian and her assistant, Miss M. MacDonald, was heartily endorsed.

In addition to all the routine work of the library, the two librarians have completed an inventory of both books and borrowers. As this was the first taken since 1938 it entailed a large amount of work but this has all been done and an up-to-date record is now on hand. During the war years the great turn-over of borrowers and their not-too-careful return of books constituted a major problem. However, the recent work of the librarians has now cleared up the situation and the board knows exactly what books and borrowers are active.

The last monthly report for October shows that there are 1446 borrowers and that there are 7908 books in the library. In the last six months 131 new borrowers have been registered and 335 new books have been added. Of the new books, 211 have been purchased and 124 have been donated.

The financial statement showed that regular repayment instalments have been made to the Civic Centre towards reimbursing the centre for the installation of fluorescent lighting.

A matter that aroused much interested and varied discussion was correspondence regarding the display provided by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. This display will be available during the two weeks November 28 to December 12, and will be featured at the library. The Institute is a non-political and unofficial organization aiming to keep Canadians informed on the complexities of foreign relations. It has now 2,300 members in 26 branches from Halifax to Victoria. The members of the library board are unanimous in their realization of the worth of the organization and look forward to a wide interest by citizens when the display will be featured in the city.

In reply to a verbal request from the Prince Rupert Film Council that library facilities be provided for their film library, the board agreed to have the necessary accommodation made available.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. M. M. Roper (chairman), Mrs. A. Flaten, Miss Olive Van Cooten (librarian), Alderman C. G. Ham, Bruce Stevens and J. S. Wilson.

Lieut. Eric M. Jones, who has been executive officer at H.M.C.S. Chatham here for the last year, leaves Tuesday by air for Vancouver enroute for Winnipeg where he will spend leave prior to sailing for England to serve with the Royal Navy. Mrs. Jones already is in Winnipeg.

NORWAY SONS ANNIVERSARY

Lodge Birthday Party Follows
Initiation Session

After initiation of a large group of candidates at the Civic Centre, about 160 members of the Sons of Norway and their friends sat down to a banquet at the Oddfellows' Hall on Friday night. The occasion marked the seventeenth anniversary of the local lodge.

Rudolph Olsen acted as master of ceremonies. President Gunnar Selvig officially welcomed the guests and new members. Out-of-town visitors were M. E. Nelson, O. M. Lien, R. Hammar and O. Henrikson of Ketchikan, and G. Rognlie of Bremerton, Washington. Mr. Nelson brought greetings from the Ketchikan lodge and Mr. Lien from the district lodge. Mr. Hendrikson is the captain of the fish packer Sydney. Many congratulatory telegrams were received from a number of southern lodges.

Musical entertainment was provided by Mrs. Roy Wicks who gave two vocal solos accompanied at the piano by Peter Lien. Joe Frank rendered two very fine piano selections. Members also took part in community singing.

During the evening a presentation was made to Miss Ruth Jerstad, this year's Carnival candidate, for her good work.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Barney Roald and her committee for their splendid preparation of the banquet.

Tables were cleared and everyone enjoyed dancing to the music of Chris Fossum, Rusty Cameron and Ray Fossum.

The residence of Roderick McRae, 732 Alfred Street, has been sold to Harold Erickson, well-known fisherman, who has been residing in Vancouver after leaving the city several years ago. The sale was made through Armstrong Agencies.

Brigadier Joseph Gillingham of the Salvation Army, who is now at Kitselas, is leaving on tonight's train for Toronto on business with national headquarters of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Gillingham will accompany him as far as Dauphin, Manitoba, where she will visit a son.
