

Making Rupert Better

TVERY TIME a new business block or dwelling L of modern and substantial type stands completed, every time permanent street improvements are extended, every time more docks, public the north to Smithers on the buildings and institutions become established, every time a home owner demonstrates pride in the appearance of where he lives and neatness of the grounds around it, every time anyone thinks of fresh paint or believes spotless plate glass is a good thing—Prince Rupert moves a bit nearer to an objective. And that objective is making the city one of the most handsome of the newer communities of the west.

Nature has done much. The scenic setting is frankly envied. All the people need do is go on from there.

ELIZABETH'S REQUEST

DRINCESS ELIZABETH has made the request that for the rest of the honeymoon she and her husband be left absolutely to themselves. Her Royal Highness may well ask that. Their days to come will be spent in or near the white light that beats upon a throne. Duties will be innumerable. Nothing can be shirked, neglected or forgotten. Royalty cannot afford to be other than what is expected. But even regal life, perhaps, can be sometimes burdensome. That part of the public known as "the man on the street" thinks of the splendor of an exalted state. Yet it is certain that there must come moments when wearers of purple do feel impatient, and would welcome a little blessed obscurity.

WHO HAS BEEN THERE?

OF THOSE WHO like nothing better than to Vargue in favor of Soviet Russia, how many have ever been in that country? Or how many have been outside of Canada or British Columbia? How many have been very far from home?

It does not follow that the fact of having travelled qualifies one to speak with authority on the economic system governing any land. Much depends on study, capacity to interpret and judge, extent of general knowledge and experience.

To have been in other countries is, of course, always an advantage. But there are occasions when the more restricted one's range of roaming has been, the more discursive his conversation and the more positive his conclusions.

ASKS SUPPORT OF T.B. SEALS

The part which Prince Rupert people can play in the continuing campaign to wipe out tuberculosis was stressed to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club Thursday afternoon by R. E. Montador, past-president of the local Kinsmen Club, which is sponsoring the 1947 sale of T.B. seals.

Speaking at the weekly Rotary luncheon meeting, Mr. Montador explained the methods used in listing the names of all families in the district from Stewart on east, and south to Butedale. Sale of seals last year grossed $2,174, Collection costs in Prince Rupert in the T.B. Seal Campaigns which the Kinsmen Club has sponsored have been extremely low, Mr. Montador declared. Last year, they were 61/2 per cent of the gross. Cost of handling the $1,500,000 annual receipts throughout Canada normally are less than 10 per cent, which also is very reasonable.

Idea of Christmas seals originated with a Danish postal clerk named Tinar Holboell at the turn of the century. In 1907 Mrs. Emily Bissell of Wilmington, Delaware, used the idea to Republic docked here from the raise $3,000 for a sanitarium The American Red Cross adopted the scheme later. The Canadian Tuberculosis Society first used it in 1927.

Money raised through the sale of seals in British Columbia has purchased two mobile x-ray vans and a portable x-ray unit and a large amount is spent annually in improving sanitaria Mr. Montador said.

The death rate from tuberculosis in Canada, which had dropped continuously for many years, increased last year. Reason for the increase, Mr. Montador said, was believed to be that many soldiers who had contacted the disease during the war had succumbed last year

This year's campaign, he said is ahead of last year's at the same period. So far, $535 has been turned in from the sal of seals, as compared with $376 at the same period of 1946.
