Former Grain Men Government Agents

LONDON (AP)—Food Minister Strachey said in the Commons £500,000 ($2,000,000) annually, plus expenses, is paid by the government to former grain importers who act as agents in bulk purchases.

John Patton, Labor member of parliament for Norwich, asked whether the payments were made simply because the importers had been put out of business by the government's bulk-buying policy.

Strachey said the expenses he mentioned referred to firms who were active as food ministry agents within the bulk purchase scheme.

John McKay, formerly of this city and now of Stewart, was a passenger aboard the Coquitlam yesterday returning to Stewart after spending a week at Alice Arm where he had been called to carry out mechanical work on bulldozers and tractors being used on the work of converting the Dolly Varden railway into a highway for the Torbrit mine.
