been the discovery that the people of the country could carry on eating a pretty fair quantity of meat even though the
"Big Three"—Swift's, Packers and Burns—had shut down completely for meat supply.

WEDDING JOINS POPULAR YOUNG LOCAL COUPLE

Miss Eileen Foster Becomes Bride of Roi Norman Judge

Popular young members of two well known local families were joined in marriage by Rev.
R. A. Wilson in First United Church Thursday evening when Eileen Viola, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Foster, 432 Eighth Avenue West, became the bride of Roi Norman Judge, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Judge, 740 Taylor Street.

A triple strand of pearls, her gift from the bridegroom, was worn by the bride as she was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was of white satin with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and full skirt with peplum. Her veil was of fingertip length and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaids were Joy and Gladys Foster, sisters of the bride. The former wore a gown of flower blue organza while the latter's costume was of pink organza. Both carried bouquets of chrysanthemums.

Don Eby was groomsmen.
Ushers were Jack Leeming and William Long.

During the interval, while the register was being signed, the church choir sang "O Perfect Love" and Mrs. Roy Wicks, soprano, sang "Because." Miss Rose Marie Hartwig was organ accompanist.

Between 150 and 200 guests attended the reception which followed at the Oddfellows' Hall.
They were received by the mothers of the bride and groom, the former wearing a dress of rose crepe with brown accessories and the latter gowned in an evening length dress of maroon velvet with gold and black accessories.

The three - tiered wedding cake, which was cut by the bride, had been made by herself and decorated by Mrs. Andrew Thompson. Toast to the bride was proposed by John McLeod with acknowledgement by the bridegroom. The toast to the bridesmaids was offered by Wilbur Faught, with response by the groomsmen.

The wedding luncheon was served informally with the following acting as serviteurs: Miss Betty Payne, Miss Audrey Grim-ble, Miss Peggy Clee, Mrs. A.
Ross, Mrs. Rupert Goodlad, Mrs.
Arne Stegavig and Mrs. Ted Parkhouse.

The latter part of the evening was spent in dancing to music by Andy McNaughton at the piano.

Congratulatory telegrams were read from friends in Vancouver, Victoria and Kamloops and there was also a long distance phone call from friends at Smil-thers.

Among the gifts to the couple was a dinner set presented by the Prince Rupert Civic Band of which the bridegroom is a member.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs.
Henry March, of McBride, aunt of the bride, H. H. Wanamaker of Kamloops, Mr. and Mrs. F.
Shaw, of Los Angeles, grandparents of the bridegroom, Mrs.
N. C. Robinson, of Burnaby, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clay, of Wark Canal.

Mr. and Mrs. Judge sailed on the Prince Rupert last night on a honeymoon trip to California, after which they tentatively plan to take up residence in Vancouver. The bridegroom, born in Prince Rupert, is employed in his fathers' barber shop here while the bride was stenographer in the local provincial Game office.
