MUSIC, MODELS MAKE COLORFUL FASHION SHOW

Job's Daughters' annual fashion show held in the Civic Centre Thursday evening was a gay affair, viewed by spectators who filled the auditorium. Part of the display, which had the joint sponsorship of Rupert Peoples Store and Brownwoods Shoe Store, was reported in Friday's Daily News. More of the report is presented below.

Eddie Ciccone was there with his accordian, swaying every listener as he played "Twilight Time," and "Sitting on Top of the World," and an encore of "Dark Eyes." A humorous touch was added in a monologue given by George McWhinney, impersonating a lady on a shopping tour—but not shopping! And an added musical feature was the piano due given on two pianos by the Misses Bernice Eastwood and Laverna Linney.

But the highlight of the whole evening was perhaps the bridal procession with Miss Marie Boulter as the bride, lovely in glistening nylon with sweetheart neckline and full veil. She entered the stage on the arm of George Dawes, Past Associate Grand Guardian of B.C.

She was attended by Mellaine Brechin and Kathleen Hills, dainty visions of loveliness sheathed in pastel shades of newest fashion. And because no wedding is complete without music, a vocal duet "Always" was soulfully rendered by Alex Mitchell and Joanne Langridge.

Throughout the whole evening there was a prevailing wholesomeness, of success, made possible by combining both fun and work. Behind the scenes there was planning and full cooperation and work by persons whose heart was in what they were about to do.

Leading in this group is Louis Felsenthal of the Prince Rupert Peoples Store, who sponsored the show—which is but one token of his awareness of public life and his desire to bring it pleasure.

Mr. George Murray, Associate Guardian of Bethel No. 3 was there leading an indeed helping hand; Mrs. Mary Strachan, organizer and commentator with Mrs. J. S. Black at the piano. And Mrs. Laura Mitchell, Past Associate Grand Guardian of B.C. and acting Bethel Guardian who is so permanently associated with the activities of Job's Daughters.

Presentations were made by Mrs. Mitchell at the close of the evening on behalf of Job's Daughters to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Felsenthal, sponsorer; Mrs. Bobby Woods and Mrs. George Brown; Mrs. Mary Strachan, commentatodr; and in recognition of special assistance, to Mesdames Verbie MacDonald, Myrtle Franklin, Betty Adoph and Hettie Murray.

An earlier presentation was made to the two younger artists, Mardell Soiland and Elsa Insulander by Alex Mitchell, master of ceremonies.

The audience was welcomed on behalf of Job's Daughters by Bernice Eastwood.

Those modelling were as follows:

Suits and Dresses — Peggy Gowan, Dorothy Becker, Mickey Murray, Agnes Collins, Marjorie Eby,Eby, Kathleen Smith, Molly Frew, Joanne Langridge, Gerd Lien, Jean Calderwood.

lingerie—Barbara Teng, Marie Boulter, Glenus Lashmar, Laura Mitchell.

Assisting Mr. Dawes at the door were Misses Jean McAfee and Carol Grey.
