MORE THAN A MILLION CANADIANS SAVE AT THE B of M

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Making a charter cruise off Northern British Columbia and southeastern Alaska, the steam yacht Aquila, owned by Edward White of Seattle, and with a party of nine, is putting in a week or so. The Aquila may possibly go as far as Skagway and touch at Sitka. Her skipper is Capt. Olaf Hanson. The yacht has quite a respectable age for she was built in Boston in 1901, has been around Cape Horn twice, through the Panama many a time, and been rebuilt with new bottom and boilers.

The body of James Green, a fisherman of Wrangell, missing since July 25, was recently found in the small boat harbor in Wrangell. Identification was made possible by his watch, a wallet and certain surgical operation scars.

Shrimp fishing in Alaskan waters is permitted between August 1 and 15 but this does not include Duncan Canal. Normally in the north, shrimp fishing is barred between July 15 and the end of September.

The halibut craft Cygnit II is about to leave Alaska to turn to tuna fishing off the coasts of southern B. C., Washington and Oregon.

Six British Columbia trollers last week sold tuna in Vancouver, the whole of it having a valuation of $16,000, the best figure for that fish seen in years. There was a total of 71,500 pounds and it went at $4.25 a ton to the United Fishermen's Co-operative.

The purse seiner Sunde is reported to have recently become stranded at Mole Harbor, in Seymour Canal. The Alaskan coast-guard vessel Wachusett went to her rescue.

For the first time in history, so it is said, cutthroat trout eggs are being introduced in the Yukon. A shipment of 50,000 left Euphrata, Wash., for White Horse not long ago.

What is known as a "red tide" has been killing fish by the million off the coast of Florida and scientists are trying to discover the cause. Some think millions of red-hued bacteria adhere to the fish gills and cause death in time, while others are of the

Timely Recipe

STUFFED TOMATOES

Because we like to pick up our food and retreat to somewhere in the shade to enjoy it during these hot sweltering days, meal-on-a-plate menus are great favorites. Plan a luncheon around stuffed garden-ripe tomatoes. Add a bit of tasty homemade potato salad and a few slices of cold meat and you're set for a delicious meal. Tomatoes lend themselves to so many varieties of stuffings. A combination of fresh vegetables and chewy ripe olives makes a good tasting filling. Try diced cucumber, thin strips of green pepper, sliced celery and bite-size pieces of cauliflower with chopped ripe olives. The ripe olives add a delightful mellow note. Toss the chilled ingredients gently with the very best French dressing, adding extra salt and pepper if necessary. Fill hollowed-out tomatoes with olive-vegetable mixture. Serve the salad with or without extra dressing.

WAS REALLY AMBERGRIS
Discovery Made on Islands Found to be Real Article
From fishing authorities come word that a substance recently found off the shores of the Queen Charlotte Islands proved to be genuine ambergris. Before this, many a find thought to be ambergris was, on examination, found to be something else, but this is said to be the real article. The Vancouver experimental station will continue to test, free of charge, samples submitted. Commercial firms in the United States quote the best grade of ambergris (air dried) from $5 to $13 per ounce.

BEAR WOULD BOARD FERRY

A black bear trying to board the ferry at Copper River on the Skeena was an interesting sight not long ago. The bear swimming down the Skeena, came to within handy reach of the ferry and undertook to crawl aboard. Several times the ferryman had to use his paddle to push Bruin's paws away. More than once an attempt was made to get into the rowboat which was being towed.

THIS LAND OF OURS...

Europe today is crowded with people whose hope it is to get passage somewhere — many of them have Canada in mind, others, the United States, Australia, South Africa.

For the most part, they are frightened, bewildered and, in many cases, mistreated.

In all cases they are seeking an opportunity to make something better of their lives.

They know that opportunity exists in America to a greater degree than in any other part of the world.

Why?

The answer is simple. Here on this continent the opportunities are limited only by our own courage, ability to plan, and determination to work.

The fruits of our labours are ours to enjoy when we have won them, and in winning them, we Canadians are building a finer nation in which to work and live happily.

Regardless of what anyone says, we enjoy a happier state of life, and a higher living standard on this continent than in any other part of the world. We can keep it that way by keeping the Opportunity System.
