PEG BRIDE LOCAL MAN

Ann Burke and A. K. Married

from Winnipeg and a Prince Rupert business leader were in a quiet but interesting wedding which took place last evening in the Church of the Holy Spirit. Rev. J. H. Black officiated at the ceremony. The bride was Miss Iris Ann Burke and the groom was Mr. A. K. Nelson. The ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Black. Refreshments were served by the bride. Mrs. Nelson is taking up residence on Third Avenue. She has operated a bar-ber shop for many years and is a member of the Prince Rupert Club.

Cooper Is President

T. Cooper was elected unanimously as president of the Parent-Teacher Association at a large and interesting meeting of this organization. This completes the officers for this year's term.

At a discussion concerning the advisability of the P.T.A. taking part in the school festival, it was decided that this organization should not take part in this activity.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. How should salespeople in department stores address their customers?

A. Customers should be addressed by name when it is known. Otherwise, as "madam" or "sir." Saleswomen should never address women customers as "dearie" or "honey;" this is exceedingly crude. Nor is it good form to refer to a woman accompanying a man as "the wife" nor "the missus."

Q. What reply should one make when being introduced to someone and he says he remembers a previous meeting?

A. Be tactful enough to say, "How nice of you to remember me," and try to recall the meeting.

Q. Is it correct to number the pages of a social letter?

A. No; in long letters the pages should be written consecutively.

Drama Festival in Spring Planned—Mrs. J. H. Black Reports on Convention

Representatives from the four local Parent-Teacher associations, composing the Prince Rupert Parent-Teacher Council, met in the Civic Centre Monday evening under the chairmanship of C. H. Insulander to elect the following officers for the coming year:
Past President—J. C. Gilker.
President—Mrs. E. W. Becker.
Vice-President—Mrs. J. H. Black.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. S. J. Anderson.

A. M. Hurst and J. S. Wilson reported on the meeting held recently to organize a local film council. C. H. Insulander was appointed to act on the local film board as the council's representative.

R. D. Cleland briefly summarized information obtained this summer regarding a Music and Drama Festival which the council may sponsor in the schools this coming spring. Representatives were asked to bring back reports of the reactions of the individual associations.

Mrs. J. H. Black spoke on some of the problems which provided topics for discussion at the national convention held in Sackville, New Brunswick, during August and which she attended as northern representative.

Present at the meeting were T. G. Bateman, A. M. Hurst, J. S. Wilson, R. D. Cleland, C. H. Insulander, Miss Eleanor Moxley, Mrs. S. J. Anderson, Mrs. G. R. S. Blackaby, Mrs. A. J. Busanich, Mrs. George Hill, Mrs. A. Gomez, Mrs. T. McKeown, Mrs. J. H. Black, Mrs. M. O. Kullander and Mrs. E. W. Becker.

Farnon Conducts Music For Movie

LONDON (AP)—Bob Farnon, who won fame as conductor of the Canadian Army concert orchestra, is scoring and conducting the music for a new British movie production of "Just William," based on Richmal Crompton's novels. Until recently he was deputy conductor and arranger to Gerardo, the London orchestra leader. His compositions include the Ottawa Symphony, a musical impression of life in the Canadian capital.

The Experts Say

CAULIFLOWER

Smoky rose or luggage tan may be smart in dress materials, but when choosing cauliflower stick to snow white variety. This is the season for cauliflower and the tightly packed heads are beautiful to see as well as delicious to eat.

A head of cauliflower cooked whole and served on a platter with a wreath of sliced carrots and an outer ring of spinach is recommended. This makes a real bouquet for any table—even though it does disappear quickly. The whole head also is attractive if served with a cheese sauce and a garnish of parsley.

Canned cream of celery or mushroom soup is a good shortcut sauce for cauliflower.

Those with gardens may find some heads which are dark in color and loosely headed, but still with a mild delicious flavor. Such heads should be used as they will not store successfully.

CAULIFLOWER SOUFFLE

And when it comes to a luncheon or supper dish try cauliflower soufflé.

Ingredients: one-quarter cup mild-flavored fat; one-third cup flour; three-quarter teaspoon salt; dash of paprika and cayenne pepper; 1 1/4 cups milk; one tablespoon finely chopped onion; one cup grated cheese; four egg yolks; four egg whites; two cups cooked cauliflower broken into flowerets.

Melt fat in top of double boiler and stir in flour, salt, paprika and cayenne. Gradually add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add the chopped onion and grated cheese, and stir until cheese is melted. Add slightly beaten egg yolks slowly, stirring constantly. Add flowerets and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a greased baking-dish, set in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in a moderate oven for 45 minutes or until a silver knife inserted in the centre comes out clean. Serves six.

COOKING ONIONS

Cook an onion well and you will help it live down its bad name.

Onions should be peeled either under running water or at least under water in a deep pan, and there will be no tears shed. The odor of onions may be removed from the fingers by rubbing them with the end of a stalk of celery or a piece of celery leaf.

Cook in boiling salted water and only until tender.

Onion Casserole—Ingredients: four cups thinly sliced onion; eight slices buttered toast; two-thirds cup grated cheese; two eggs; two cups milk; one-half teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Slice onions in thin rings and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Place toast in bottom of greased casserole. Arrange on this a layer of onions and cheese. Repeat using remaining toast, onion, and cheese. Beat eggs until light. Add milk, salt and pepper. Pour over mixture in casserole. Bake in moderate oven for 40 minutes. Six servings.
