COLIDITY OF THE GOVERNMENT in a sound) and steady-going Maritime seat was indicated by the result of the federal by-election yesterday in York-Sunbury, New Brunswick. The seat had been made vacant by the death of Hon. H. F. Bridges, minister of fisheries. The Liberal party had as its candidate the new minister, Hon. Milton Gregg. There was no particular point for the seat to change political color at this time. It was not expected that it would do so so there was no surprise in the result and no particular significance can be read into the outcome.

division, are observing a dual anniversary today - Trafalgar Day, the one hundred and fortysecond anniversary of Nelson's greatest victory fought off the Spanish coast on October 21, 1805, and the first anniversary of the founding of the post-war local naval division.

H.M.C.S. Chatham was commissioned as a reserve establishment on October 21, 1946, resuming the activities of the pre-war Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, which sent many of its members on active service during the war.

No celebrations will mark the dual anniversary today, although the division plans a Trafalgar Day dance in the naval drill hall Saturday night.

The Progressive-Conservatives had a distinguished soldier as their candidate and Lt.-General 'E. W. Sansom received a very substantial vote, higher probably than the party would have got had there been an ordinary candidate.

York-Sunbury has a large percentage of industrial vote but the showing of the C.C.F. candidate was almost negligible.

RAILWAY STRIKE

T IS TO BE hopefully prayed that the railwaymen's strike, now called for November 3, will not come to the point of materialization. We have been close to general railway strikes in Canada before but, it is to be recalled, they were generally averted along toward the fast minute.

The railway strike in itself, involving idleness for 125,000 workers, would be bad enough. But more serious would be the reaction on other services and industries which would very soon, if not almost immediately, throw as many if not many more people out of work due to the paralysis in transportation. Every business in the country would be affected to some degree of seriousness. There would be no compensation whatever for many of the workers during their enforced idleness.

One does not need to have much imagination or think very long to picture just how serious a thing a general railway strike would be for the whole country.

THE SASKATCHEWAN GOVERNMENT took 1 19 forthright action to deal with the meat packers' strike when Premier T. C. Douglas announced that, if the strike was not settled by November 1, 'his government would take over the plants and operate them.

companies or unions or both could not be allowed indefinitely to prevent people from getting food and the farmers from disposing of their product which means their bread and butter-and at a particularly critical season right now.

The companies, as usual, might not stand to lose a great deal except inconvenience and disorganization. The workers, in the long run, would, of course, be severe sufferers but that was a situation to which they would be consenting parties. The really intolerable thing was that the consumers and the producers, who were no party to the dispute which was no fault of theirs should also have to suffer.

So it is interesting that at least one government-even if it was a C.C.F.-was resolved to take decisive action to break the strike-caused tie-up, whether or not the labor people liked it.

HINKY DINKY PARLEZ VOUS?

I OST OF US have heard of "Mademoiselle From Armentieres." The renowned lady became introduced in the midst of blood and tears and poison gas and trench warfare in Northern France, during the earlier stages of Great War Number I.

Well, the young lieutenant, Gitz Rice, who wrote that deathless ditty is dead, in New York City. He, himself, has joined the countless comrades of Flanders Fields at the age of 56.

What memories, today, as age comes on and grev hairs multiply, the rollicking air of "Mademoiselle" can awaken! What experiences. anecdotes and yarns that devil-may-care melody and limitless wordage can conjure up, and be lived over again. Doubtless, many old sweats, plugging along through the blessings of peace, might feel a touch of nostalgia could they glimpse again those far-off days of their youth, their strength and their glory.
