QUIETEST SPOT ON EARTH?—According to engineers, this ultra-soundproof room at a telephone laboratory at Murray Hill, N.J., may be the quietest place on earth. Even the beat of your heart breaks the silence in the completely sealed, but air-conditioned chamber. It will be used in acoustical research. All surface that would reflect sound—the walls, ceiling and sub-floor—are lined with saw-tooth wedges of fibreglass to a depth of five feet to eliminate sound. The unique working floor resembles the stringing of a tennis racket and consists of high-strength steel cables only one-hundredth of an inch thick, strung in two-inch mesh from the walls. It can safely support tons of equipment and feels like a heavy rubber mat when walked on.

SEES NEED FOR HOTEL

Olier Besner Suggests Government-Owned Site Across From Post Office

Olier Besner, who is spending a few days in the city, says he is satisfied the establishment of a cellanese plant at Port Edward will mark a real turning point in industrial and general business affairs here. That there can be no doubt of it is aready noticeable.

The coming changes, remarked Mr. Besner, cannot but strengthen the impression of the growing need for another hotel. In a reference to sites he spoke of the location on Third Avenue, across from the post office, which, he thought, could serve with advantage.

WED QUIETLY AT CATHEDRAL

At a quiet ceremony solemnized recently by Rev. Basil S. Prockter in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Miss Anna Sunberg, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sunberg, 314 Sixth Avenue West, became the bride of Bunnie Karesosky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Karesosky, of Nordeg, Alberta.

Wearing a gown of white satin with shoulder veil, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses. Her attendant was Miss Hope Laidlaw, gowned in floor-length blue sheer, carrying a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Attending the groom was his brother, Mike Karesosky.

A reception followed in Valhalla Hall, the guests being received by the parents of the bride and groom. The former wore an afternoon dress of mauve, with matching hat and corsage of yellow carnations. The groom's mother wore an afternoon dress of pale green with corsage of pink carnations. About 150 attended the function.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Prockter with response by the groom. Refreshments were served by Miss Mary Murray, Mrs. William Geddes, Mrs. O. Martin and Mrs. T. Yule.

Dancing was enjoyed with music by Roberts' orchestra.

CARD OF THANKS

Allan Gillis and family desire to express their heartfelt appreciation of the many acts of kindness and assistance which were proffered during their recent bereavement. Especially to be thanked are Dr. Alfred W. Large and the nurses of the Prince Rupert General Hospital for their ministrations to Mrs. Gillis during her final illness.
