PLAYGROUND ACTIVITIES ARE PROVING VARIED AND CREATIVE

Civic Centre Recreational Program Is Very Comprehensive—Interesting and Profitable
(By M. E. ANDERER)

There would seem to be at least three groups of our citizens as far as their attitudes to the playground activities, directed by the Civic Centre Recreational Association, are concerned. There is a group, fortunately very small, who just know about it. This knows that there is a program. There is another group, much more numerous, who know that there are programs carried on at the various playgrounds. Then there is a third group, and this one is not nearly as large as it should be, who know what the activities are and who realize the values of these activities.

First of all the whole set-up is organized from the Civic Centre with Neil Ross, recreational director, in charge. He is ably assisted by Miss Margaret Slinn, assistant recreational director. These two have the responsibility for planning and carrying out the whole program. Then there are two playground supervisors, Miss Peggy Large at Alder Park, and Miss Lovernia Linney at Seal Cove. Miss Slinn is at McClymont Park.

There is a fair amount of equipment at each park. For the providing and original installation of this the Prince Rupert Gyro Club was chiefly responsible. At McClymont Park there is also the very popular swimming pool. Those are the material assets. But to get the most value out of them there must be a directing agency. That is where the playground staff steps in. And this observer is happy to be able to tell something of the grand job that all of them are doing.

DIPLOMATIC DIRECTION
First of all there is a minimum of direction. That is a tribute to the quality of supervision. The children are encouraged to develop their own ideas. Always there has to be a consideration of the rights and comforts of other children. The parents with two or three children know what a problem this can present at times. The playground directors have the same problems multiplied many times. But they solve them. Where the children cannot organize their own games the supervisor suggests some. Where the children are playing their own games the supervisors keep an observing eye open to see that all's well.

In playing a game at McClymont Park some of the children found time, while hiding, to pick a few berries. Later on when talking to Miss Slinn a boy suggested a berry-picking expedition. Miss Slinn was quick to see the value of the suggestion so there is a berry-picking trip under way. And under way, under supervision.
Then Miss Slinn had planned a paperchase and Weiner roast. "Well, I guess that all right," said a lad. "We can pick up the papers and tidy the grounds and then have the roast." Miss Slinn, while not wishing to dampen the boy's enthusiasm, explained that a paper chase was a game where some runners lay a trail with paper scraps and that the rest of the players have to find and follow the trail. This was much more attractive for the children. So today, Wednesday, the children from all three grounds will meet at the Civic Centre and then will "follow the trail" to an unrevealed destination. There they will enjoy the Weiner roast. Will they have a good time? There is no question about that.

Another item on the program is a sand-box contest. In this each playground will have entries and there will be a fine problem for some judges to inspect the projects and adjudge the winners. This observer hopes to be able to accompany the judges on their tour of inspection. It should be interesting and revealing.
Beginning next Saturday plans will be made for the classes in swimming. Plans are also under way for junior softball games. These will be played between teams of girls and boys from different localities.
A visit to any playground is well worth while. Children have lots of energy to work off. In unorganized centres this working off may get youngsters into trouble. In organized centres, such as are blessed within Prince Rupert, there is no need for "Satan finding some evil for idle hands to do." There is something to be done, something healthful, something worthwhile. The playground activities provide a program that helps to build healthful minds in healthy bodies. Such a program pays tremendous dividends.

Gordon & Anderson Stages Last Inning Rally to Defeat High School
In a well-fought Ladies League Fastball fixture last evening, Gordon & Anderson staged a ninth inning rally to take a 14-12 win over the young High School team.

Each side scored three runs in each of the first two innings. In the third Gordon & Anderson scored one while High School sent four runners across the plate and took the lead. Gordon & Anderson added one in the fourth and one in the fifth while holding the students scoreless. At this stage both teams were playing better ball. The students put the hardware ladies out in quick order in the sixth and themselves added two to go into the seventh leading 12-9. Then some good hitting by the store ladies, hard base running, with costly errors in the outfield by High School, resulted in Gordon & Anderson scoring five runs. In the last inning Farrington got on base for High School, Husov struck out, Beth Sedgewick's lone fly to the outfield was well caught by Hart and, with Mostad being caught by the catcher, the students were retired scoreless and Gordon & Anderson's had registered their first win of the season in the field.
Gordon & Anderson outthit the younger High School team 13 to 11. Hart with three in four official times at bat was the best hitter with I. Ramsay two hits in three times at bat and Flynn with two in four times at bat doing well.
For the students Skoro had three hits in four times at bat, Farrington had three in five times at bat and Budnich two in three official times at bat.
Windle was the winning pitcher allowing eleven hits, walking five and striking out four. Sedgewick allowed thirteen hits, walked seven and struck out eight. Fielding lapses by her teammates were costly. She herself caught a very hot drive of I. Ramsay's in the fifth that was really travelling.
It was Gordon & Anderson's first win in the field and they fought hard for it. As they had already won one game by default from Khatadas on May 29, they are now credited with two wins.
It was High School's third defeat. In as much as this is the first year in the league for these players, this young group does well. Most of the senior High School players are on the Moose team so that every credit is due these girls and their coach Ternevoy.
