Gifts Where Needed

NCE more a Christmas season, which has every prospect of being merry for the most of us, is approaching. We Canadians can look forward with happy contemplation to the joys and the pleasures of the occasion of "peace and goodwill."

We would do well to stop and think that the most of the world is not as fortunate as we. In fact, we are the small minority that shall have joys and gifts in abundance.

There are movements and organizations-yes, here in Prince Rupert, too-which may be the media for us to do even just a little to lighten the lot of people in other parts of the world who still have little to look forward to in the way of Christmas joy. Our sustained contributions thereto would be well justified.

If we would be truly Christmas-like in spirit, we would make provision in the gifts which we lavish this Christmas to see that at least some of ourblessings reach peoples whose need and appreciation would be manifoldly greater than those whom we would normally think about and reach.

TIME TO GET BUSY

CHOWING some signs of life during the customary between-election somnolence, the Prince Rupert Liberal Association, at its annual meeting last week, decided that it should bestir itself by at least launching a publicity campaign. It remains to be seen if it is to be just another annual meeting resolution, whether it will have the usual follow-up of such resolutions which usually seems to be just nothing.

The old line parties should by this time be aware that the political activity in season and out, the campaign which starts the day after one election and is carried on throughout the years intervening until the next, is a large factor in the successes that the Socialist party, for instance, may have. If the Liberal party were equally as active, it too could be successful. In fact, it will have to develop and sustain activity and enthusiasm now so lacking, if it is to regain lost ground.

Final respects were paid yesterday afternoon to the memory of James Hampton, well known pioneer citizen who passed away at his home on Friday after a long illness.

The chapel of the B.C. Undertakers, Fraser Street, was filled, family members and numerous old friends being present. Service was conducted by Rev. Basil S. Prockter, rector of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral. .
