TRAM STRIKE PUTS VANCOUVER ON ITS FEET-The first pickets detailed to enforce the Street Railwaymen's strike in Vancouver were at their posts as strike started. They did four hours picket-duty, then walked nome. This photo, taken at Main and Sixteenth barns, shows, left to right: C. A. Lary Ross, onetime Pacific Northwest middleweight wrestling champion, who was just waiting word of a blessed event; Donald MacDonald,

Teddy Martin, A. C. Kyle (picket captain), and Charles Jackson. In background can be seen the last car to come in to the barns. The strike, including 2,800 workers in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, went "on" when a last-chance meeting between Labor Minister Gordon Wismer, the union and the B.C. Electric Railway Co., held to avert the tie-up, ended in disagreement. Hopes are rising for a settlement.
