HIS MEMORY WAS HONORED

Assemblage Attending Service For Late Harry Fletcher One of the Largest on Record

One of the largest assemblages of mourners that ever gathered in the city paid tribute to the memory of the late Harry Fletcher on Saturday afternoon. There was an attendance of more than 300 persons at the Elks' Home at the service which was held preparatory to sending the remains East by train for interment at Portland, Maine, the home city of deceased. The obsequies were under the joint auspices of the Elks, Moose and St. Andrew's Societies of which organizations the late Mr. Fletcher had been an active member.

Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant, who officiated, delivered a feeling address in the course of which he referred to the valuable part deceased had played in the life of the city. He would be sadly missed and his place would be difficult to fill. A. Clapperton and J. E. Davey sang as a duet, "One Sweetly Sotemnn Thought," and the congregation sang three hymns. Charles Balagno was accompanist.

Pall Bearers

After the service, the remains were borne to the Canadian National Railway station and sent out on the evening train. Pall bearers were Ben Self and E. J. Cobb, representing Prince Rupert Lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks; D. C. Stuart and M. M. MacLachlan, St. Andrew's Society; Roi Barnes and Gillis Royer, Loyal Order of Moose; M. L. Stepp and C. W. Kirkendale, American Elks.

Floral tributes included a pillow from the Benevolent & Protective Order of Elks, and wreaths from Ladies of the Royal Purple, A. C. Little, Mr. and Mrs. Phil McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Parry, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rance, Mr. and Mrs. H. Howard, James McAlenan, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Self.

FOUR SEAPLANES PLANNED TO ARRIVE HERE APRIL 1 EN ROUTE ROUND WORLD

they weigh about four tons and carry a load of a ton of fuel besides oil.

Major Martin of the U.S. Army air service will be in charge of the expedition and he will fly one of the planes. The other machines will be piloted by Lieutenants Wade, Nelson and Smith respectively. The four men are now taking a special course in navigation and meteorology at Langley Field, Virginia, where they have been since the first of the year. They are in strict training and go to bed every evening at 9. Each plane will carry a mechanic as well as a pilot. The mechanics are being carefully chosen. They will do all their own work throughout the trip and no one but the men in charge will touch the machines from the time they leave Seattle until their arrival back there. No help of any kind will be sought.

The primary object of the fliers will be to reach their objective and for that reason they will be unable to take part in any social events or do anything which will cause delay, if the weather is good. Should the weather prove impossible for flying they will then be able to relax and will be glad to meet the people and enjoy themselves.

In addition to Prince Rupert, stops will be made at Sitka, Cordova, Seward, Chignik, Dutch Harbor, Nazan and Attu on Chagof Island. In the course of the flight they will pass through 28 foreign countries and it is hoped that the arrival of the aviators will be looked upon as a visit of courtesy and will tend to further a better understanding with the nations. The purpose of the flight is to gain experience in long distance flying and in handling problems of supply.

The longest single flight will be from Attu on the Aleutian Islands to Shimusu in Japan. The average flight will be 450 miles. By flying together, the planes will be in a position to render assistance to each other in case of accident. It will be an imposing sight to witness and one that will be watched for eagerly here.
