Auspicious Opening Of The Fair.

The fair opened last night and all who attended were profuse in expressing appreciation of the arrangements this year and of the quality of the exhibits staged in exhibition hall. The tables and stalls are full and the only complaint has been the lack of space accorded exhibitors. There are a number of new features in industrial booths and the district exhibits show a healthy competition that is most encouraging. In the school exhibit, ladies' work, and in fact in almost every department expensive enough and now comes there is renewed interest as illustrated by the exhibits shown.

Many Compliments On Work Of Band.

The Kitimaat band which is playing this week at the exhibition is the recipient of many compliments. Its music last night wrong and simply detest a man at the opening of the fair was much appreciated and the opinion who is always right .. was freely expressed that it was superior to any music ever heard here. The band will play throughout the week and will be one of the enjoyable features that will appeal to the numerous visitors.

Prince Rupert People Hosts To Visitors.

While the day is past when Prince Rupert people can make any attempt to entertain all visitors coming to the city, yet this week they are the hosts and doubtless will do everything possible to make the numerous visitors feel that they are welcome. It is a great thing to preserve this attitude toward the people come here and to be ready to do whatever possible to make the week a success, especially from the point of view of those who are here from outside points.

A welcome will be extended to the Ketchikan visitors tomorrow but there are numerous people here from all over the coast and interior and they should be included in the welcome that is being accorded to those who are here for the annual oc- crowded to the doors last night Columbia." casion.
